Cobb Shatters His Own Land Speed Record

Briton Drives Car At 394.196 M. P. H.

BONNEVILLE SPEEDWAY, Utah, Sept. 16—(INS)—John Cobb streaked to a new world land speed record of 394.196 miles per hour at the wheel of his roaring 2,600 horsepower racer on the Bonneville salt flats.

The tall British speed king, traveling faster than any human has ever traveled on land, twice flashed his Railton Mobile Special through the measured mile at astronomical speeds.

He bulleted through the north-south run at 385.645 miles per hour and rocketed back on the south-north run at 403.135 miles per hour.

Cobb thus bettered his own former record of 368.9 miles per hour, established in 1939, by more than 25 miles per hour. His average speed for the kilometer — about five-eighths of a mile—was 393.825, another record, compared with his old mark of 369.7.

A strong wind, which delayed the start of the record attempt, blew across the pre-historic salt flats a l may have hampered the London fur broker, whose heart had been set on a new record of more than 400 miles per hour.

Nevertheless, Cobb did exceed 400 on his sensational return run through the measured mile when, as he passed the timer's stand, the sound of his roaring motors seemed to lag far behind the streaking machine and a cloud of salt and smoke rode in his wake.

Spectators lined the barrier one half mile opposite the measured mile in the center of the 13½ mile track an hour before the start at 4:35 p. m. Pacific time.

Earlier in the day it was feared the attempt would have to be postponed on account of the brisk wind, but as the sun dropped below the mountains to the west, the wind slackened perciptibly and the Englishman signified his determination to make the run.

Aid Accounting Is Sought By Byrd

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP) — Sen. Byrd (D-Va) spoke out today against "crisis legislation" when Congress considers United States aid for Europe and declared that American dollar alone are not "the panacea for all of the ills of the world."

"For nearly 14 years we have legislated in an atmosphere of emergencies and crisis, making proper consideration of vital matters impossible," Byrd said in a statement.

"In the past two years, this country has extended nearly $20,000,000,000 in foreign aid. Our citizens have a right to know what has been done with this money x x x to what extent world security has been strengthened.

"If, after spending such vast amounts abroad, world conditions are not improved—and they do not appear to be—the American people should be informed of the reasons for the failure."

Byrd called on the administration for a "completely frank and accurate apprisal of the foreign situation," and said "there has been none since the end of the war."

O'Conor Asks Baltimore Food Price Hearings

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP) — Sen. O'Conor (D-Md) today requested a congressional inquiry into food prices in Baltimore.

O'Conor telephoned Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) at Boston to ask that the subcommittee of the Joint Congressional Committee on the President's Economic Report investigate the situation in Baltimore. The subgroup which Flanders heads is holding hearings now.

Flanders, O'Conor said, "indicated that an effort would be made to hold hearings in Baltimore as a part of the subcommittee's current investigation."

Aranha Elected U. N. Assembly President

LAGUARDIA STRICKEN AT HOME; CONDITION REPORTED CRITICAL

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—Former New York Mayor F. H. LaGuardia collapsed at his home tonight and his physician, Dr. George Baehr, reported him to be in critical condition.

"The former Mayor has been failing gradually for the past week," Dr. Baehr said, "and tonight he suddenly collapsed and sank into a deep stupor."

Baehr said LaGuardia, who was Mayor for 12 years, was too critically ill to be removed to a hospital. LaGuardia has been ill for some time.

Two Ballots Taken; Opening Is Simple

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—(AP)—The United Nations Assembly elected Dr. Oswald Aranha, of Brazil, as its President today and began a search for measures to stop the discord between the United States and Russia.

Statesmen of 55 nations gathered from all parts of the world realized that the answer to most of the issues before the United Nations lay in settling the Soviet-Western quarrels. Those overshadowed every move here.

Two ballots were taken to name the President.

Aranha got 26 votes on the first ballot to 23 for Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australia's Foreign Minister, and six for Dr. Jan Masaryk, Foreign Minister of Czechoslovakia.

On the second ballot—between the two top contenders—Aranha had 29, Evatt 22, and four were invalid. A majority of those present and voting was required.

Aranha Sets Keynote

The large, ornate Assembly hall was filled when Aranha, as temporary President holding over from the special Palestine session of the Assembly here last spring, banged down the opening gavel at 11:09 a. m. (EDT).

In contrast to the formality of last year's opening here, when President Truman himself welcomed the United Nations with a United States policy statement, the start this year was simple.

The morning session was confined to speeches by Aranha and Mayor William O'Dwyer. O'Dwyer told the delegates that "deep in our hearts we know that the United Nations is the best hope of mankind in a distraught world and that on your success hinges the future of every one of us."

Marshall Leads U. S. Delegation

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, sat with his delegation at the same table with the British group, led by Minister of State Hector McNeil.

Vishinsky and McNeil arrived only this morning on the liner Queen Elizabeth and rushed to the Flushing Meadows Assembly grounds in good time for the first meeting.

This is the second regular session of the Assembly but actually it is the start of the fourth series of plenary meetings. The first seesion, split into two sections, opened in January, 1946, in London and closed last December 16 in New York. The Assembly met for an extraordinary session on Palestine in April and May.

U. N. Slated To Air Truman Doctrine, Marshall's Plan

U. S. Delegation May Introduce Subjects

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—Both of the major Truman administration measures for checking Communism and rebuilding Europe—the Truman Doctrine and the Marshall Plan—are due for an airing in the new session of the United Nations General Assembly which opened today.

High-placed American delegation authorities say that if Russia does not force debate on the Truman-Marshall measures by challenging them — as expected — the United States itself may well have to introduce the subjects. The American delegation is considering taking the initiative anyway.

Would Boost Assembly Prestige

The idea as developed in delegation meetings, it was learned, is that the United States would add to the prestige of the General Assembly and build up United States support for that body by submitting the two policies to discussion.

This is considered important because the overall objective of American policy in the current Assembly meeting is defined authoritatively as being to strengthen the Assembly in every way possible.

This American government view will be reflected by Secretary Marshall tomorrow when he lays before the Assembly in a full dress speech a statment of what the United States conceives to be the most urgent problems before the Assembly and what it believes the Assembly should do about them.

A draft of the speech has been submitted to President Truman, aboard the battleship Missouri, for his approval.

Three Dangerous Problems

The three most urgent and dangerous problems on which the United Nations might act, according to the American view, are Greece, Palestine and Korea. Marshall is demanding positive solutions for the Greek and Palestine crisis, with strong and direct Assembly intervention.

Meantime, the delegation had all but decided today to throw the Korean issue into the hopper also, as soon as possible. The United States and Russia have been deadlocked for months on ways to restore Korean unity and independence. American officials describe the situation as a clear example of Soviet refusal to reach "reasonable agreement" with the west on critical problems.

Actress To Remarry

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16 (AP)—Actress Marie McDonald, 23, who five months ago divorced Theatrical Agent Vic Orsatti in Nevada, and wealthy Shoe Merchant Harry Karl, 33, today obtained a marriage license and said they planned to wed next Friday.

Britain, Austria End State Of War

LONDON, Sept. 16—(AP)—Britain ended today a formal state of war with Austria in order to permit "commercial and financial dealings," and cited four-power failure to agree on an Austrian peace treaty as one reason for the action.

A three-line statement appeared in today's issue of the London Gazette announcing the surprise move, together with the text of a note handed to the Austrian government in Vienna. A Foreign Office spokesman said the act was not to be regarded as a "separate peace" because Britain still hoped the Big Four would agree on a peace treaty.

The note said that one reason for ending the state of war was that "through circumstances beyond Austrian control it has as yet proved impossible to conclude a treaty which could dispose of questions relating to Austria arising out of the state of war with the German Reich."

The note emphasized that normal British-Austrian relations were being restored without prejudice to these three previous commitments; terms of the German unconditional surrender; the June, 1946, agreement on Allied control machinery for Austria which provided four-power occupation; resolution of issues awaiting settlement through conclusion of a peace pact.

Mrs. Durant Is Freed From Prison On Bond

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 16 (INS) — The former WAC captain who was court-martialed for the theft of the $1,500,000 Hesse crown jewels in Germany, was freed today from the Women's Federal Prison at Alderson under $5,000 bond.

Mrs. Kathleen Nash Durant, 44, Hudson, Wis., who had served four months of her five-year sentence, said her immediate plan was to visit her husband, Col. Jack Durant, now serving a 15-year prison term on Governor's Island, N. Y., for the same offense.

Mrs. Durant was ordered freed two weeks ago by Federal Judge Ben Moore who ruled that her conviction was illegal and violated the 70th Article of War.

COST OF LIVING HEARING—Sen. Francis J. Myers (D-Pa.) (left), and Sen. Raymond E. Baldwin (R-Conn), members of a congressional subcommittee investigating the high cost of living, meeting in Boston yesterday, heard these women with babies in their arms plead for the revival of OPA and the return of rent controls. Today's was the second of a series of hearings to be held in New England cities.

Heiress Denies Any Implication In Yacht Deaths

Gollum Admits He Bought Dynamite

SANTA ANA, Calif., Sept. 16 (AP)—Heiress Louise Overell denied from the witness stand today that she killed her parents or knew who did. Her fiance and co-defendant George (Bud) Gollum, followed her to the stand but the end of the day's trial session interrupted his story.

Gollum and Miss Overell are on trial on charges of murdering her wealthy parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Overell, who died aboard their explosion-wrecked pleasure cruiser, the Mary E, last March 15.

When court adjourned today Louise sat talking with her lawyer, Bert West, then burst into tears, presumably in an emotional letdown after the tension of the day of testifying. Her cousin, Marjorie Jungquist, came to her quickly from a spectator's seat to comfort her before she was taken across the street from the courthouse to the jail.

Noticed Gasoline Fumes

Gollum, taking the stand late in the day, was led through a detailed account of the day's activities preceding the tragedy. He said that shortly before the explosion, Overell, in the engine room of the yacht, had complained of strong gasoline fumes below deck and had instructed Gollum not to place the canvas awning on the port side of the cruiser so that it could be aired out. Gollum said he himself noticed the gasoline odor.

The explosion occurred, he testified, shortly after he and Louise had gone ashore to purchase food at Overell's request. When they returned to the dock, he said, he saw a police car and several officers there and asked them what the trouble was.

The police told him, he testified, that a boat had blown up, "and Louise noticed it was the Mary E."

He said they rowed out to the Mary E's mooring with the officers and that Louise was crying and saying, "Oh, I hope they're all right; I hope they got off; I hope someone has gotten them off."

Bought Dynamite For Overell

Gollum testified that the morning of the tragedy, before the Overells had arrived at the beach, he removed a switch from the dashboard of his automobile, spliced the ends of two wires, then replaced the switch. He said he had intended to put a doorbell on his car.

The husky, 21-year-old Gollum, Boy Scout master and member of the Audobon Society, admitted he purchased a large quantity of dynamite last March 14, the day before the Overell yacht exploded in Newport harbor, but said he did so at the direction of Overell.

Gollum admitted he signed a fictitious name on the sales slip for the dynamite and said he did so because Overell insisted he did not want anyone to know he was buying the explosive.

Prices Of Grain Futures Drop Following U.S. Move

Meatless Day Plan Wins Endorsement

[By The Associated Press]

A government move against a possible "boom and bust" danger in the grain markets was followed by a sharp drop in Chicago grain futures prices Tuesday, as proposals for meatless days to combat soaring costs spread from New York to Washington to Chicago.

As several cities reported new hikes in the cost of milk, eggs or meat, these were the major developments in the cost of living picture:

Grain Prices Slump

1—Wheat, corn and oats prices slumped on an early selling wave which trade sources said was caused, at least in part, by a government request that the Chicago Board of Trade virtually double margin requirements on speculative grain transactions. J. M. Mehl, administrator of the Commodity Exchange Authority, requested Board of Trade officials to boost margin requirements to 33⅓ per cent to "lessen the danger of a boom and bust" situation in the markets. Action on the request was postponed until later in the week.

2—The Hotel Association of New York City approved a municipal committee's recommendation for two meatless days a week in hotels and restaurants, but said action would await appointment by Mayor O'Dwyer of a special committee of hotel restaurant and club men to discuss the subject. In Washington, commissioners of the District of Columbia issued a proclamation urging housewives to observe voluntarily two meatless days a week. Mayor Martin H. Kennelly, of Chicago, announced he would discuss with business representatives later in the week the question of one or two meatless days a week in hotels and restaurants and possibly in homes.

Gasoline Price Slashed

3—Contrary to the trend of other commodities, the price of gasoline, kerosene, and fuel oil was reduced one cent a gallon in North and South Carolina and Virginia by the Atlantic Refining Company. The Gulf Oil Corporation made a similar reduction in the Carolinas.

The Associated Press weighted wholesale price index of 35 commodities set a new record high of 195.31, compared with the previous high of 194.99 last Thursday. The average prices of 1926 were 100 in the index.

Truman Aides Prepare Data

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—President Truman's aides tonight were preparing data to help him cope with the two most momentous postwar issues—soaring prices at home and cries for more aid for foreign nations.

The President will return from his South American trip late this week to find that domestic price inflation—which already has brought suggestions for meatless days and other weasures reminiscent of war-

2,384 Dead Or Missing In Typhoon

Thousands Of Japs Are Made Homeless

TOKYO, Wednesday, Sept. 17 (AP)—Floods caused by a typhoon's violent rains left an estimated 2,384 Japanese dead or missing today, millions of dollars in property damage and menaced Tokyo with new inundations.

Thousands were homeless in the typhoon area embracing two-thirds of Honshu, main island of Japan. Communications were so badly battered that checks and revision of casualty figures were impossible.

With at least 15,000 homes flooded or damaged in Tokyo alone, armies of Japanese workers toiled throughout the night to strengthen dikes of the angry Tone and Arakawa Rivers north of the capital.

The crests of the floods from these two streams were expected here at noon, and unless the battle of the dikes was won wide sections of Eastern Tokyo probably will be inundated.

Jap Government Acts

In an incomplete report, the Japanese Home Ministry listed 449 dead and 1,785 missing. This figure did not include 100 dead and five missing in Tokyo and 45 dead or missing in Saitama prefecture, previously reported by Kyodo News Agency.

The Japanese government created a special relief headquarters to cope with the growing disaster. Stockpiles of food were available in the stricken areas, but clothing was urgently needed.

Kyodo News Agency estimated 2,300 homes were swept away, and 166,729 flooded or damaged in the area, which stretches from Honsnu's southern shores to the northwest coast of the home island.

No Allied Casualties Reported

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters had no reports of American or Allied casualties. However, some families were moved to safer locations and in isolated unit of several hundred United States cavalrymen at Camp McNair, near Fujiyama, was supplied by air.

The typhoon, named Kathleen by the United States Army Weather Eureau, passed 30 miles south of Tokyo and only 10 miles south of United States Eighth Army headquarters at Yokohama Monday night.

It destroyed homes, crops, bridges, railroads, highways, communications, and—possibly most damaging —many dikes, releasing river waters to flood a large area north of Tokyo and to threaten this capital city.

Warning Burst Of U. S. Gunfire Stymies Yugos

Action Keeps Tito's Men Out Of Trieste

TRIESTE, Sept. 16 (AP) — A warning burst of American machine-gune fire at a tense moment today in the birth of the Free Territory of Trieste kept Yugoslav troops from crossing into the area.

Maj. Gen. T. S. Airey, British commander in Trieste, said cool-headed action by a dozen Americans at a border outpost prevented an incident with 36 Yugoslavs which "might have led to bloodshed."

Gen. Airey declared that Yugoslav entry into Trieste would have been "a breach of the peace treaty which I would have resisted to the last."

He added that to permit Yugoslav troops to enter would certainly have resulted in bloodshed, due to bitter feeling among the pre-dominantly Italian population.

Rioting Toll Reaches Three

The toll from Italian-Slav rioting in Trieste mounted to three with the death of a 17-year-old Italian student wounded yesterday by a hand grenade. Another man and an 11-year-old girl were killed previously.

Under the terms of the treaty the Free State of Trieste will be administered by a governor to be appointed by the United Nations Security Council. Pending that appointment —Russia has objected to 18 nominees — the British-American military governments will rule in the north and the City of Trieste and the Yugoslavs in the south.

Gen. Airey said the Yugoslav troops would have to go around the free state border area to enter the teritory under their control.

Officers and troops along the southern sector of the free territory told newsmen that Yugoslav units in three instances issued "ultimatums" to the Americans to withdraw or they would advance within a stated time. In each case therew as no attempt by the Yugoslavs to advance at the time limit.

Gen. Airey said he received a letter last night from a Yugoslav staff officer saying the troops would enter on the main road into Trieste at midnight and station themselves in the city.

Yanks Stand Their Ground

Gen. Airey said he previously had talked with the detachment commander and he agreed the troops should go around the free territory to enter the Yugoslav section.

The British commander immediately issued orders that the Yugoslavs would not enter.

At 3:30 a. m., a detachment of 34 Yugoslav soldiers and two officers appeared at post No. 5, on the main

160 MPH Gale Bearing Down On East Coast

Palm Beach In Path; Thousands Evacuated

PALM BEACH, Fla., Sept. 17 (Wednesday) (INS) — A severe tropical hurricane swirled inexorably toward the Florida east coast early today as all the Gold Coast area between Palm Beach and Miami braced itself for the full force of the Carribbean storm.

At 11:45 p. m. (EST) Tuesday night the raging storm was placed 145 miles east of Palm Beach in an advisory issued by the United States Weather Bureau at Miami.

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 16—(AP)—A raging and expanding tropical storm moved toward the rich and populous Palm Beach resort area tonight carrying a threat to life and property.

Destructive winds of an almost unprecedented velocity of 160 miles an hour were slowly but relentlessly bearing down on the winter playground area along Florida's swank lower east coast.

Latest Weather Bureau advices said the center of the storm which blew up in the Atlantic several days ago was expected to cross the cost near or slightly south of Palm Beach.

Miami, the fabulous metropolis south of Palm Beach, also was menaced. The hurricane warnings were ordered displayed southward to include the greater Miami area.

Likewise included was the Lake Okeechobee region where a disastrous storm blew lake waters over farming communities 19 years ago today and drowned nearly 1,500 persons.

The Florida East Coast and Seaboard Airline Railroads sent cars to Lake Harbor and South Bay, in the western section of Palm Beach County, to evacuate 5,000 residents. They will be taken to Sebring in Central Florida.

As the storm hovered 160 miles east of Palm Beach at 8:45 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time), adjoining West Palm Beach was virtually "boarded up." The residents remained calm as they battened down and waited for the big blow.

Moving At Eight M.P.H.

The hurricane was moving westward at about eight miles an hour and the Weather Bureau told of its expansion in a terse statement that "winds are now increasing slowly and will reach hurricane force in the area of hurricane display late tonight or early Wednesday."

The dreaded hurricane warnings were on display from Titusville to Miami and in the Lake Okeechobee region. Storm warnings were displayed elsewhere along the Florida coast from Key Largo to Jacksonville.

Emergency shelters were opened at West Palm Beach with soldiers from Morrison Field handling registrations. Plans were being mapped to evacuate islands in Lake Okeechobee. Schools in Palm Beach County were ordered closed tomorrow.

Scheduled airline flights from northern points were being grounded at Jacksonville, only a few

ESTONIAN REFUGEES, UNAWARE OF MIGHTY HURRICANE, REACH U. S.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 16 (INS)—A band of Estonian refugees sailed into Savannah today in a tiny single-masted sloop, unaware of the nearness of the worst hurricane in the recent history of the South Atlantic.

The nine women and 14 men —and one two-and-a-half-year-old boy—said they had been 58 days at sea in their crossing from Madeira Island to seek refuge in the United States.

They said the boat's radio broke down several days ago, and that they had had no word of hurricane warnings out in the Bahama areas.

Taft Asserts Democrats Attempting To Build "Totalitarian Government"

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16—(AP)—The Democratic Party is attempting to fashion a "totalitarian government," Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) charged tonight in a speech, and he said totalitarianism versus freedom is the fundamental issue before the American people now.

"The ultimate Democratic policy," Taft declared, "is dominated by the philosophy of solving every problem by giving more power and money, without specification, to some federal bureau.

"The President has followed the demands and the principles originated by the CIO Political Action Committee."

Taft spoke before an audience of several thousand at the Elks Club in Los Angeles. He is travelling through the Far West on a journey designed to gauge his potentialities for the presidency ne..t year.

He keynoted his speech with the assertion: "There is one fundamental issue before our people today That is the issue of a free self-governing people against totalitarian government."

Taft recalled that the trend toward "unlimited power" in Washington was accelerated by the war, when, he said, individual liberties had to be surrendered and placed at the disposition of government.

The Democratic administration, he continued, has been loath to return liberty to the individual.

Last year's election, he said, showed that "the people were sick and tired of federal agents attempting to run the farms of the farmer, businessman and housewife. They demanded a reduction in federal regulation and federal control. They put upon the Republican Party the responsibility for carrying out the policies which had been denied them by the Democratic President and the Democratic Congress."

Diver Locates Wreckage Of Plane, Three Bodies

ABERDEEN, Md., Sept. 16 (AP) — A large section of the fuselage and three bodies of the nine men who went down yesterday with a B-17 bomber from the Army Aberdeen Proving Ground were recovered today from Bush River by a diver.

Authorities said the section recovered was about 20 feet long and probably was the tail section, "from the wings back." The diver reported having stepped on what he thought was the front section, but it still lay in mud 18 feet below the surface.

Jackson Believes War Not Imminent; Urges Revision Of Laws Of Warfare

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16—(INS)—Associate Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson said tonight he believed that another war was not imminent but called for unquestioned air superiority as an effective preventive.

Jackson spoke at the first annual Air Force Association convention at Columbus, O. He declared:

"To be specific, I am satisfied that the Soviet Union is not in a position, economically, militarily or political to commence a war with us at the present time and that her leaders well know it."

Speaking from observations made while acting United States prosecutor at the Nuernberg war crimes trial, Jackson said that the Soviet is keenly aware of the Nuernberg law and her statesmen "follow a studied policy not to allow themselves to be put in the wrong by its tests." He added:

"To me, Russia appears to play her every card with care to put on the United States the onus of aggression."

However, the Supreme Court Justice warned:

"Considering the condition of the world we live in, it would be suicidal to let down our defenses."

Jackson urged revision of the rules of warfare to cover conditions in the future. He blamed the outmoded law for the mistreatment by the Germans of our captured airmen and stated:

"The law lags far behind the facts of air warfare as practiced in the last war, not to mention the atomic age."

On the other hand, the Supreme Court Justice cautioned:

"But even if the nations adopt clear and modern laws of war to guide the use of force, we must not, in the present state of the world, neglect ample strength to back up and enforce the law.'

Cobb Shatters His Own Land Speed Record

Briton Drives Car At 394.196 M. P. H.

BONNEVILLE SPEEDWAY, Utah, Sept. 16—(INS)—John Cobb streaked to a new world land speed record of 394.196 miles per hour at the wheel of his roaring 2,600 horsepower racer on the Bonneville salt flats.

The tall British speed king, traveling faster than any human has ever traveled on land, twice flashed his Railton Mobile Special through the measured mile at astronomical speeds.

He bulleted through the north-south run at 385.645 miles per hour and rocketed back on the south-north run at 403.135 miles per hour.

Cobb thus bettered his own former record of 368.9 miles per hour, established in 1939, by more than 25 miles per hour. His average speed for the kilometer — about five-eighths of a mile—was 393.825, another record, compared with his old mark of 369.7.

A strong wind, which delayed the start of the record attempt, blew across the pre-historic salt flats a l may have hampered the London fur broker, whose heart had been set on a new record of more than 400 miles per hour.

Nevertheless, Cobb did exceed 400 on his sensational return run through the measured mile when, as he passed the timer's stand, the sound of his roaring motors seemed to lag far behind the streaking machine and a cloud of salt and smoke rode in his wake.

Spectators lined the barrier one half mile opposite the measured mile in the center of the 13½ mile track an hour before the start at 4:35 p. m. Pacific time.

Earlier in the day it was feared the attempt would have to be postponed on account of the brisk wind, but as the sun dropped below the mountains to the west, the wind slackened perciptibly and the Englishman signified his determination to make the run.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP) — Sen. Byrd (D-Va) spoke out today against "crisis legislation" when Congress considers United States aid for Europe and declared that American dollar alone are not "the panacea for all of the ills of the world."

"For nearly 14 years we have legislated in an atmosphere of emergencies and crisis, making proper consideration of vital matters impossible," Byrd said in a statement.

"In the past two years, this country has extended nearly $20,000,000,000 in foreign aid. Our citizens have a right to know what has been done with this money x x x to what extent world security has been strengthened.

"If, after spending such vast amounts abroad, world conditions are not improved—and they do not appear to be—the American people should be informed of the reasons for the failure."

Byrd called on the administration for a "completely frank and accurate apprisal of the foreign situation," and said "there has been none since the end of the war."

Statesmen of 55 nations gathered from all parts of the world realized that the answer to most of the issues before the United Nations lay in settling the Soviet-Western quarrels. Those overshadowed every move here.

Two ballots were taken to name the President.

Aranha got 26 votes on the first ballot to 23 for Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australia's Foreign Minister, and six for Dr. Jan Masaryk, Foreign Minister of Czechoslovakia.

On the second ballot—between the two top contenders—Aranha had 29, Evatt 22, and four were invalid. A majority of those present and voting was required.

Aranha Sets Keynote

The large, ornate Assembly hall was filled when Aranha, as temporary President holding over from the special Palestine session of the Assembly here last spring, banged down the opening gavel at 11:09 a. m. (EDT).

In contrast to the formality of last year's opening here, when President Truman himself welcomed the United Nations with a United States policy statement, the start this year was simple.

The morning session was confined to speeches by Aranha and Mayor William O'Dwyer. O'Dwyer told the delegates that "deep in our hearts we know that the United Nations is the best hope of mankind in a distraught world and that on your success hinges the future of every one of us."

Marshall Leads U. S. Delegation

Andrei Y. Vishinsky, Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister, sat with his delegation at the same table with the British group, led by Minister of State Hector McNeil.

Vishinsky and McNeil arrived only this morning on the liner Queen Elizabeth and rushed to the Flushing Meadows Assembly grounds in good time for the first meeting.

This is the second regular session of the Assembly but actually it is the start of the fourth series of plenary meetings. The first session, split into two sections, opened in January, 1946, in London and closed last December 16 in New York. The Assembly met for an extraordinary session on Palestine in April and May.

U. N. Slated To Air Truman Doctrine, Marshall's Plan

U. S. Delegation May Introduce Subjects

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP) — Both of the major Truman administration measures for checking Communism and rebuilding Europe—the Truman Doctrine and the Marshall Plan—are due for an airing in the new session of the United Nations General Assembly which opened today.

High-placed American delegation authorities say that if Russia does not force debate on the Truman-Marshall measures by challenging them — as expected — the United States itself may well have to introduce the subjects. The American delegation is considering taking the initiative anyway.

Would Boost Assembly Prestige

The idea as developed in delegation meetings, it was learned, is that the United States would add to the prestige of the General Assembly and build up United States support for that body by submitting the two policies to discussion.

This is considered important because the overall objective of American policy in the current Assembly meeting is defined authoritatively as being to strengthen the Assembly in every way possible.

This American government view will be reflected by Secretary Marshall tomorrow when he lays before the Assembly in a full dress speech a statment of what the United States conceives to be the most urgent problems before the Assembly and what it believes the Assembly should do about them.

A draft of the speech has been submitted to President Truman, aboard the battleship Missouri, for his approval.

Three Dangerous Problems

The three most urgent and dangerous problems on which the United Nations might act, according to the American view, are Greece, Palestine and Korea. Marshall is demanding positive solutions for the Greek and Palestine crisis, with strong and direct Assembly intervention.

Meantime, the delegation had all but decided today to throw the Korean issue into the hopper also, as soon as possible. The United States and Russia have been deadlocked for months on ways to restore Korean unity and independence. American officials describe the situation as a clear example of Soviet refusal to reach "reasonable agreement" with the west on critical problems.

Actress To Remarry

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16 (AP)—Actress Marie McDonald, 23, who five months ago divorced Theatrical Agent Vic Orsatti in Nevada, and wealthy Shoe Merchant Harry Karl, 33, today obtained a marriage license and said they planned to wed next Friday.

Britain, Austria End State Of War

LONDON, Sept. 16—(AP)—Britain ended today a formal state of war with Austria in order to permit "commercial and financial dealings," and cited four-power failure to agree on an Austrian peace treaty as one reason for the action.

A three-line statement appeared in today's issue of the London Gazette announcing the surprise move, together with the text of a note handed to the Austrian government in Vienna. A Foreign Office spokesman said the act was not to be regarded as a "separate peace" because Britain still hoped the Big Four would agree on a peace treaty.

The note said that one reason for ending the state of war was that "through circumstances beyond Austrian control it has as yet proved impossible to conclude a treaty which could dispose of questions relating to Austria arising out of the state of war with the German Reich."

The note emphasized that normal British-Austrian relations were being restored without prejudice to these three previous commitments; terms of the German unconditional surrender; the June, 1946, agreement on Allied control machinery for Austria which provided four-power occupation; resolution of issues awaiting settlement through conclusion of a peace pact.

Mrs. Durant Is Freed From Prison On Bond

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 16 (INS) — The former WAC captain who was court-martialed for the theft of the $1,500,000 Hesse crown jewels in Germany, was freed today from the Women's Federal Prison at Alderson under $5,000 bond.

Mrs. Kathleen Nash Durant, 44, Hudson, Wis., who had served four months of her five-year sentence, said her immediate plan was to visit her husband, Col. Jack Durant, now serving a 15-year prison term on Governor's Island, N. Y., for the same offense.

Mrs. Durant was ordered freed two weeks ago by Federal Judge Ben Moore who ruled that her conviction was illegal and violated the 70th Article of War.

COST OF LIVING HEARING—Sen. Francis J. Myers (D-Pa.) (left), and Sen. Raymond E. Baldwin (R-Conn), members of a congressional subcommittee investigating the high cost of living, meeting in Boston yesterday, heard these women with babies in their arms plead for the revival of OPA and the return of rent controls. Today's was the second of a series of hearings to be held in New England cities.

Heiress Denies Any Implication In Yacht Deaths

Gollum Admits He Bought Dynamite

SANTA ANA, Calif., Sept. 16 (AP)—Heiress Louise Overell denied from the witness stand today that she killed her parents or knew who did. Her fiance and co-defendant George (Bud) Gollum, followed her to the stand but the end of the day's trial session interrupted his story.

Gollum and Miss Overell are on trial on charges of murdering her wealthy parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Overell, who died aboard their explosion-wrecked pleasure cruiser, the Mary E, last March 15.

When court adjourned today Louise sat talking with her lawyer, Bert West, then burst into tears, presumably in an emotional letdown after the tension of the day of testifying. Her cousin, Marjorie Jungquist, came to her quickly from a spectator's seat to comfort her before she was taken across the street from the courthouse to the jail.

Noticed Gasoline Fumes

Gollum, taking the stand late in the day, was led through a detailed account of the day's activities preceding the tragedy. He said that shortly before the explosion, Overell, in the engine room of the yacht, had complained of strong gasoline fumes below deck and had instructed Gollum not to place the canvas awning on the port side of the cruiser so that it could be aired out. Gollum said he himself noticed the gasoline odor.

The explosion occurred, he testified, shortly after he and Louise had gone ashore to purchase food at Overell's request. When they returned to the dock, he said, he saw a police car and several officers there and asked them what the trouble was.

The police told him, he testified, that a boat had blown up, "and Louise noticed it was the Mary E."

He said they rowed out to the Mary E's mooring with the officers and that Louise was crying and saying, "Oh, I hope they're all right; I hope they got off; I hope someone has gotten them off."

Bought Dynamite For Overell

Gollum testified that the morning of the tragedy, before the Overells had arrived at the beach, he removed a switch from the dashboard of his automobile, spliced the ends of two wires, then replaced the switch. He said he had intended to put a doorbell on his car.

The husky, 21-year-old Gollum, Boy Scout master and member of the Audobon Society, admitted he purchased a large quantity of dynamite last March 14, the day before the Overell yacht exploded in Newport harbor, but said he did so at the direction of Overell.

Gollum admitted he signed a fictitious name on the sales slip for the dynamite and said he did so because Overell insisted he did not want anyone to know he was buying the explosive.

2,384 Dead Or Missing In Typhoon

Thousands Of Japs Are Made Homeless

TOKYO, Wednesday, Sept. 17 (AP)—Floods caused by a typhoon's violent rains left an estimated 2,384 Japanese dead or missing today, millions of dollars in property damage and menaced Tokyo with new inundations.

Thousands were homeless in the typhoon area embracing two-thirds of Honshu, main island of Japan. Communications were so badly battered that checks and revision of casualty figures were impossible.

With at least 15,000 homes flooded or damaged in Tokyo alone, armies of Japanese workers toiled throughout the night to strengthen dikes of the angry Tone and Arakawa Rivers north of the capital.

The crests of the floods from these two streams were expected here at noon, and unless the battle of the dikes was won wide sections of Eastern Tokyo probably will be inundated.

Jap Government Acts

In an incomplete report, the Japanese Home Ministry listed 449 dead and 1,785 missing. This figure did not include 100 dead and five missing in Tokyo and 45 dead or missing in Saitama prefecture, previously reported by Kyodo News Agency.

The Japanese government created a special relief headquarters to cope with the growing disaster. Stockpiles of food were available in the stricken areas, but clothing was urgently needed.

Kyodo News Agency estimated 2,300 homes were swept away, and 166,729 flooded or damaged in the area, which stretches from Honsnu's southern shores to the northwest coast of the home island.

No Allied Casualties Reported

Gen. MacArthur's headquarters had no reports of American or Allied casualties. However, some families were moved to safer locations and in isolated unit of several hundred United States cavalrymen at Camp McNair, near Fujiyama, was supplied by air.

The typhoon, named Kathleen by the United States Army Weather Eureau, passed 30 miles south of Tokyo and only 10 miles south of United States Eighth Army headquarters at Yokohama Monday night.

It destroyed homes, crops, bridges, railroads, highways, communications, and—possibly most damaging —many dikes, releasing river waters to flood a large area north of Tokyo and to threaten this capital city.

Meatless Day Plan Wins Endorsement

[By The Associated Press]

A government move against a possible "boom and bust" danger in the grain markets was followed by a sharp drop in Chicago grain futures prices Tuesday, as proposals for meatless days to combat soaring costs spread from New York to Washington to Chicago.

As several cities reported new hikes in the cost of milk, eggs or meat, these were the major developments in the cost of living picture:

Grain Prices Slump

1—Wheat, corn and oats prices slumped on an early selling wave which trade sources said was caused, at least in part, by a government request that the Chicago Board of Trade virtually double margin requirements on speculative grain transactions. J. M. Mehl, administrator of the Commodity Exchange Authority, requested Board of Trade officials to boost margin requirements to 33⅓ per cent to "lessen the danger of a boom and bust" situation in the markets. Action on the request was postponed until later in the week.

2—The Hotel Association of New York City approved a municipal committee's recommendation for two meatless days a week in hotels and restaurants, but said action would await appointment by Mayor O'Dwyer of a special committee of hotel restaurant and club men to discuss the subject. In Washington, commissioners of the District of Columbia issued a proclamation urging housewives to observe voluntarily two meatless days a week. Mayor Martin H. Kennelly, of Chicago, announced he would discuss with business representatives later in the week the question of one or two meatless days a week in hotels and restaurants and possibly in homes.

Gasoline Price Slashed

3—Contrary to the trend of other commodities, the price of gasoline, kerosene, and fuel oil was reduced one cent a gallon in North and South Carolina and Virginia by the Atlantic Refining Company. The Gulf Oil Corporation made a similar reduction in the Carolinas.

The Associated Press weighted wholesale price index of 35 commodities set a new record high of 195.31, compared with the previous high of 194.99 last Thursday. The average prices of 1926 were 100 in the index.

Truman Aides Prepare Data

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—President Truman's aides tonight were preparing data to help him cope with the two most momentous postwar issues—soaring prices at home and cries for more aid for foreign nations.

The President will return from his South American trip late this week to find that domestic price inflation—which already has brought suggestions for meatless days and other weasures reminiscent of war-

Diver Locates Wreckage Of Plane, Three Bodies

ABERDEEN, Md., Sept. 16 (AP) — A large section of the fuselage and three bodies of the nine men who went down yesterday with a B-17 bomber from the Army Aberdeen Proving Ground were recovered today from Bush River by a diver.

Authorities said the section recovered was about 20 feet long and probably was the tail section, "from the wings back." The diver reported having stepped on what he thought was the front section, but it still lay in mud 18 feet below the surface.

Warning Burst Of U. S. Gunfire Stymies Yugos

Action Keeps Tito's Men Out Of Trieste

TRIESTE, Sept. 16 (AP) — A warning burst of American machine-gune fire at a tense moment today in the birth of the Free Territory of Trieste kept Yugoslav troops from crossing into the area.

Maj. Gen. T. S. Airey, British commander in Trieste, said cool-headed action by a dozen Americans at a border outpost prevented an incident with 36 Yugoslavs which "might have led to bloodshed."

Gen. Airey declared that Yugoslav entry into Trieste would have been "a breach of the peace treaty which I would have resisted to the last."

He added that to permit Yugoslav troops to enter would certainly have resulted in bloodshed, due to bitter feeling among the pre-dominantly Italian population.

Rioting Toll Reaches Three

The toll from Italian-Slav rioting in Trieste mounted to three with the death of a 17-year-old Italian student wounded yesterday by a hand grenade. Another man and an 11-year-old girl were killed previously.

Under the terms of the treaty the Free State of Trieste will be administered by a governor to be appointed by the United Nations Security Council. Pending that appointment —Russia has objected to 18 nominees — the British-American military governments will rule in the north and the City of Trieste and the Yugoslavs in the south.

Gen. Airey said the Yugoslav troops would have to go around the free state border area to enter the teritory under their control.

Officers and troops along the southern sector of the free territory told newsmen that Yugoslav units in three instances issued "ultimatums" to the Americans to withdraw or they would advance within a stated time. In each case therew as no attempt by the Yugoslavs to advance at the time limit.

Gen. Airey said he received a letter last night from a Yugoslav staff officer saying the troops would enter on the main road into Trieste at midnight and station themselves in the city.

Yanks Stand Their Ground

Gen. Airey said he previously had talked with the detachment commander and he agreed the troops should go around the free territory to enter the Yugoslav section.

The British commander immediately issued orders that the Yugoslavs would not enter.

At 3:30 a. m., a detachment of 34 Yugoslav soldiers and two officers appeared at post No. 5, on the main

Palm Beach In Path; Thousands Evacuated

PALM BEACH, Fla., Sept. 17 (Wednesday) (INS) — A severe tropical hurricane swirled inexorably toward the Florida east coast early today as all the Gold Coast area between Palm Beach and Miami braced itself for the full force of the Carribean storm.

At 11:45 p. m. (EST) Tuesday night the raging storm was placed 145 miles east of Palm Beach in an advisory issued by the United States Weather Bureau at Miami.

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 16—(AP)—A raging and expanding tropical storm moved toward the rich and populous Palm Beach resort area tonight carrying a threat to life and property.

Destructive winds of an almost unprecedented velocity of 160 miles an hour were slowly but relentlessly bearing down on the winter playground area along Florida's swank lower east coast.

Latest Weather Bureau advices said the center of the storm which blew up in the Atlantic several days ago was expected to cross the cost near or slightly south of Palm Beach.

Miami, the fabulous metropolis south of Palm Beach, also was menaced. The hurricane warnings were ordered displayed southward to include the greater Miami area.

Likewise included was the Lake Okeechobee region where a disastrous storm blew lake waters over farming communities 19 years ago today and drowned nearly 1,500 persons.

The Florida East Coast and Seaboard Airline Railroads sent cars to Lake Harbor and South Bay, in the western section of Palm Beach County, to evacuate 5,000 residents. They will be taken to Sebring in Central Florida.

As the storm hovered 160 miles east of Palm Beach at 8:45 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time), adjoining West Palm Beach was virtually "boarded up." The residents remained calm as they battened down and waited for the big blow.

Moving At Eight M.P.H.

The hurricane was moving westward at about eight miles an hour and the Weather Bureau told of its expansion in a terse statement that "winds are now increasing slowly and will reach hurricane force in the area of hurricane display late tonight or early Wednesday."

The dreaded hurricane warnings were on display from Titusville to Miami and in the Lake Okeechobee region. Storm warnings were displayed elsewhere along the Florida coast from Key Largo to Jacksonville.

Emergency shelters were opened at West Palm Beach with soldiers from Morrison Field handling registrations. Plans were being mapped to evacuate islands in Lake Okeechobee. Schools in Palm Beach County were ordered closed tomorrow.

Scheduled airline flights from northern points were being grounded at Jacksonville, only a few

ESTONIAN REFUGEES, UNAWARE OF MIGHTY HURRICANE, REACH U. S.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Sept. 16 (INS)—A band of Estonian refugees sailed into Savannah today in a tiny single-masted sloop, unaware of the nearness of the worst hurricane in the recent history of the South Atlantic.

The nine women and 14 men —and one two-and-a-half-year-old boy—said they had been 58 days at sea in their crossing from Madeira Island to seek refuge in the United States.

They said the boat's radio broke down several days ago, and that they had had no word of hurricane warnings out in the Bahama areas.

Taft Asserts Democrats Attempting To Build "Totalitarian Government"

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 16—(AP)—The Democratic Party is attempting to fashion a "totalitarian government," Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) charged tonight in a speech, and he said totalitarianism versus freedo... is the fundamental issue before the American people now.

"The ultimate Democratic policy," Taft declared, "is dominated by the philosophy of solving every problem by giving more power and money, without specification, to some federal bureau.

"The President has followed the demands and the principles originated by the CIO Political Action Committee."

Taft spoke before an audience of several thousand at the Elks Club in Los Angeles. He is travelling through the Far West on a journey designed to gauge his potentialities for the presidency ne..t year.

He keynoted his speech with the assertion: "There is one fundamental issue before our people today That is the issue of a free self-governing people against totalitarian government."

Taft recalled that the trend toward "unlimited power" in Washington was accelerated by the war, when, he said, individual liberties had to be surrendered and placed at the disposition of government.

The Democratic administration, he continued, has been loath to return liberty to the individual.

Last year's election, he said, showed that "the people were sick and tired of federal agents attempting to run the farms of the farmer, businessman and housewife. They demanded a reduction in federal regulation and federal control. They put upon the Republican Party the responsibility for carrying out the policies which had been denied them by the Democratic President and the Democratic Congress."

Jackson Believes War Not Imminent; Urges Revision Of Laws Of Warfare

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 16—(INS) —Associate Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson said tonight he believed that another war was not imminent but called for unquestioned air superiority as an effective preventive.

Jackson spoke at the first annual Air Force Association convention at Columbus, O. He declared:

"To be specific, I am satisfied that the Soviet Union is not in a position, economically, militarily or political to commence a war with us at the present time and that her leaders well know it."

Speaking from observations made while acting United States prosecutor at the Nuernberg war crimes trial, Jackson said that the Soviet is keenly aware of the Nuernberg law and her statesmen "follow a studied policy not to allow themselves to be put in the wrong by its tests." He added:

"To me, Russia appears to play her every card with care to put on the United States the onus of aggression."

However, the Supreme Court Justice warned:

"Considering the condition of the world we live in, it would be suicidal to let down our defenses."

Jackson urged revision of the rules of warfare to cover conditions in the future. He blamed the outmoded law for the mistreatment by the Germans of our captured airmen and stated:

"The law lags far behind the facts of air warfare as practiced in the last war, not to mention the atomic age."

On the other hand, the Supreme Court Justice cautioned:

"But even if the nations adopt clear and modern laws of war to guide the use of force, we must not, in the present state of the world, neglect ample strength to back up and enforce the law."

Moses Urges U. S. To Make Definite Plan For Germany

Fears War Losers Will Turn To Russia

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP) — Robert Moses tonight called upon the United States to make a definite plan for Germany lest democratic elements in that country become discouraged and turn to Russia in the hope of sharing in "some gigantic Communist triumph."

Moses, New York City Park Commissioner and noted planner, made a survey of Germany at the invitation of the United States Military Government.

In his report, he said the American people can be made to understand the German problem if the sacrifices required of them are not disguised and "the appalling alternatives are pitched in their true colors."

Robert Moses

The danger, he said, is that United States forces in Germany "will be cut so drastically, our appropriations and loans become so thin and inadequate, our aid so feeble, late and uncertain that whatever latent German influences there may be working for independence and democracy will cease to rely on us and make the best bargain they can with those who offer perhaps nothing more than the authority the Germans instinctively love and the possibility of a German share, however small at the start, in some gigantic Communist triumph which will wipe out the stigma of defeat and in the long run afford a chance for needed brains and skills in a Russia autocracy."

Moses returned from Germany July 13 and made his report immediately but it was withheld until tonight. State Department officials explained they feared it might have an upsetting influence on the British-American discussions on Ruhr coal which were concluded last week.

The report described the Ruhr coal situation as "a mess" and called strongly for centralization of authority and responsibility, in order to get the vital fuel moving in large volume.

"The mines," it said, "limp along under British control, American advice, local regional planning, administrative and housing supervision, union representation and half a dozen other ties and influences, all of them operating at cross purposes."

Last week, the United States and Britain announced a program putting a British-American board in overall charge of the mines, but giving the Germans entire responsibility for actual production. Hitherto the British have had sole control of the Ruhr mines.

miles south of the Georgia state line.

Vast numbers of planes in the South Florida area started winging for inland points in advance of the thrust of the elements. Pan-American Airways pushed up three flights to South America and sent others of its clippers to Havana and Camaguay, Cuba.

Hurricane warnings flew along a 230-mile stretch of the coast which provides a vacationland for thousands upon thousands from all sections of the nation the year around.

National Guard Alerted

Gov. Millard Caldwell gave blanket authority to Brig. Gen. Mark W. Lance, State Adjutant General, to utilize any of the state's 1,500 National Guard troops he deemed necessary. Troops in the path of the hurricane were alerted.

The great storm raged most of the day over Abaco, a small island in the Bahamas, where winds of 160 miles an hour were recorded. Nassau, capital of the Bahamas, expected winds up to 70 miles an hour.

Feverish preparations began in Florida to batten down for the expected blow. Small boats began to parade up rivers to sheltered coves. Boarding up of store fronts and homes began. A serious traffic jam developed in downtown Miami as residents dashed around laying in emergency supplies. Miami's acres of plate glass began to disappear behind storm shutters, military posts were alerted and 7,000 men at MacDill Field in Tampa were made ready for rescue work.

The Weather Bureau, in an advisory that left little doubt as to the intensity of the storm, urged emergency measures be taken immediately in the area of hurricane display. Red Cross mobile units from Miami sped to the locality under orders to stand by.

A number of Congress members and others have suggested that such aid be sharply curbed in view of the domestic price situation.

Its contents have not yet been made public, but Secretary of Agriculture Anderson gave a possible hint of its nature today in Albuquerque, N. M. He told reporters that American exports of meat are not a factor in spiralling prices at home.

When the Yugoslavs were told they could not proceed they called up reinforcements in battle formation.

The Allied Military Government said the American officer in charge brought up a tank and ordered the warning burst of machine-gun fire.

CONFESSED KILLER—Fred Walter Smigelski, 14-year-old parochial school student (left), leaves Harrison, N. Smigelski admitted the slaying of the youth who had been reported kidnaped.

Defense Protests State's Decision To Try Young Slayer In Open Court

HARRISON, N. J., Sept. 16 (AP) — The decision of the state to try Fred Walter Smigelski, 14, in open court on a murder charge was fought today by defense counsel who sought to have the boy considered a juvenile delinquent.

No sooner had Assistant Hudson County Prosecutor John Grossi announced before Police Magistrate Joseph Gallagher that the state was holding the Newark schoolboy "on charges of first-degree murder," than Defense Attorney Anthony A. Calandra protested that the action belonged in Juvenile Court.

The court upheld the state's contention that Smigelski should be tried on a charge of murder in the kidnap-strangling of the youngster's 11-year-old pal, John Preston, Jr., of Kearney, Friday night in a deserted warehouse. Smigelski was quoted by the FBI as saying in a signed statement that he killed the younger boy to prove to himself he was not a "sissy," even though his mother made him wash dishes and do household chores.

During today's arraignment proceedings, Smigelski stood silent and sullen between Grossi and Calandra while his counsel entered a plea of innocent to the murder charge. The boy defendant held a prayer book in his hand.

Both sides agreed to an adjournment of the hearing until Friday.

PRAGUE, Sept. 16—(AP)—Count Jenos Esterhazy, a minority party leader in the prewar Czech Parliament, was sentenced to death today in absentia for collaboration as unconfirmed reports spread that arrests in an alleged terrorist plot to overthrow the government had reached more than 600.

'Freedom Everybody's Job,' Truman Says As Freedom Train Begins Tour

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16 (AP) — "Freedom is everybody's job," President Truman warned tonight in a message marking the formal start of the Freedom Train's nationwide tour.

"Our world will be won or lost in our own homes, our churches, our schools, our union halls," the President said in his message, read on a nationwide broadcast by Attorney General Tom C. Clark.

"I hope that every citizen — and especially our young people — will take part in the special week of rededication of which the Freedom Train's visit will be the climax and will renew and refresh his faith in our democracy.

"I pray that each individual citizen everywhere will determine in his heart to continue to fight against bigotry and intolerance and will determine to do all in his power to assure the blessings of liberty in full measure for every American and for mankind."

John Foster Dulles, alternate United States delegate to the United Nations, noted in a speech prepared for the same broadcast that "in the coming year, Freedom Train will move throughout the length and breadth of our land, carrying for all to see evidence of the struggles and achievements of the past in aid of human freedom.

x x x x

"May there come from that fresh awareness of the blessings of liberty, vivid realization that those blessings are never had without struggle and sacrifice and new commitment by every citizen to more vigorous sharing in the task of keeping our beloved land a land of liberty."

Clark spoke as the sleek and shiny seven-car Diesel train was delivered to the American Heritage Foundation which will sponsor the tour through 300 cities in every section of the nation.

Two Officers Petition For Change Of Venue

SALISBURY, Md., Sept. 16. (AP)—Two officers charged with manslaughter after a fight at the Wicomico County Jail asked today that they be tried outside Maryland's First Judicial Circuit and pleaded they could not get a fair hearing on the Lower Eastern Shore.

The petitions were filed on behalf of Trooper J. J. Harbaugh, of the Maryland State Police, and John W. Turner, night turnkey at the jail.

The Wicomico County Grand Jury indicted them on the manslaughter charges last week in the death July 27 of Milton H. Jones, 31-year-old automobile dealer.

Harbaugh had arrested Jones outside Salisbury on a drunken driving charge and a fight developed as they were being taken to the jail atop the courthouse in an elevator operated by Turner. Jones died later at Peninsula General Hospital.

State Legislators Will Get Data On Sales Tax

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 16 (AP) — State legislators will have before them full information on how the sales tax is working when they meet this fall for their special session to deal with Baltimore's fiscal problems.

Gov. Lane said today he had ordered that data on the levy be gathered and studied by the Bureau of Revenue Estimates so that it could be presented to the Legislature.

Lane has promised Baltimore officials a special session would be called, but so far has declined to set a date.

Farmer Electrocuted

EMITSBURG, Md., Sept. 16 (AP)—Harvey E. Miller, 51, dairy farmer, was electrocuted tonight when a corn silo pipe he was raising swayed against a high tension power line, Medical Examiner Dr. R. W. Baer reported.

Ex-Educator, Wife Die

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 16 (AP)—Dr. William Eugene Olivet, 71, retired professor of modern languages at the Naval Academy, died suddenly last night and a county medical examiner said the shock caused the death of his wife a few hours later.

"Big Mo" Will Give Hurricane Wide Berth

WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN ABOARD THE U.S.S. MISSOURI, Sept. 16 (AP)—Officers of the battleship Missouri, carrying President Truman home from Brazil, were alerted tonight that they may have to swing out of the path of a great tropical hurricane whirling off the Florida coast.

Latest observations indicated that if ship and storm follow their present courses, their paths will cross late Thursday off Cape Hatteras, N. C.

If the Missouri gets too close to the storm now moving at a slower rate than the ship, it will turn westward to avoid the high winds.

Reds Delay Lend-Lease Settlement Discussion

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—Officials disclosed today that Russo-American discussions looking toward a settlement of Russia's $11,298,000,000 lend-lease account have been suspended for the past eight weeks because of Soviet failure to reply to American proposals.

But United States officials expressed hope that the Soviets will before long resume the talks which began April 30. The State Department assumes the Russian negotiators are awaiting instructions from Moscow.

Actor's Mother Buried

BALTIMORE, Sept. 16—(AP)—The mother of Movie Actor Ben Lyon, Mrs. Benjamin B. Lyon, Sr., who died Friday of a heart attack, was buried today.

Trapeze Performers Have Narrow Escape

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Sept. 16 (AP) —"Les Kimris," a French couple scheduled to put on a trapeze act at the Hagerstown Fair, escaped unhurt today when their 90-foot pole collapsed after they had climbed up only 20 feet.

Fair officials said the two anchor poles gave way, throwing Lee Wallenda and Kimris to the ground. The pole landed a few feet from Miss Wallenda. It was so badly bent, the act had to be postponed indefinitely. The pole supported a cross-piece which had a trapeze on one end and an airplane on the other.

AFL Counsel Asks NLRB To Reverse Denham's Ruling

Federation Makes Proposals To Board

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—The AFL today asked the National Labor Relations Board either to (1) soften the rules requiring non-Communist affidavits from labor leaders, or (2) wait until November 1 for a showdown over their legality.

Joseph A. Padway, AFL Chief Counsel, met with the board and NLRB General Counsel Robert N. Denham, and requested that the board reverse Denham's ruling. This ruling is that all top officers of the AFL and CIO must swear they are not Communists before unions affiliated with them may use facilities of the government agency.

In event the board decided not to throw out Denham's interpretation of the Taft-Hartley Act, Padway asked it to extend the deadline for filing such affidavits by 30 days or longer. Both AFL and CIO will have held their national convention in the meantime.

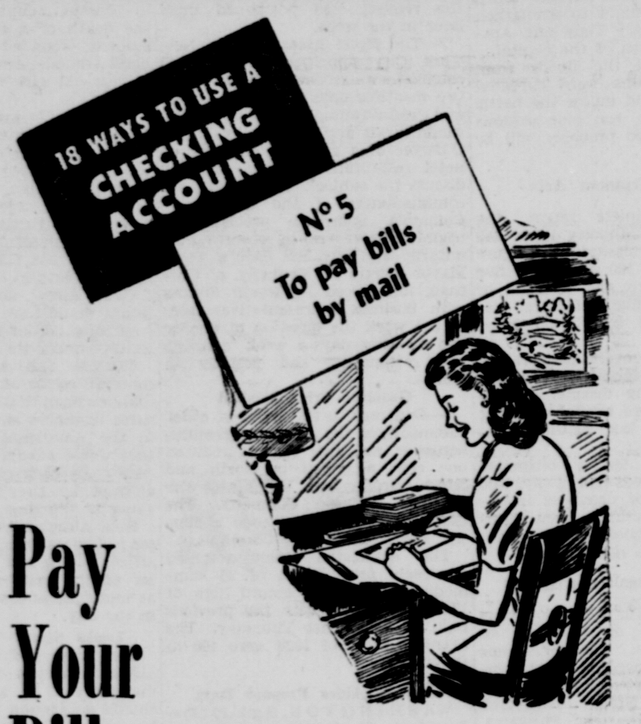

If this postponement is granted, it would assure added life to about 5,000 cases pending before the board. These cases, involving union grievances against employers, were instituted prior to August 22 when the Taft-Hartley law with its new requirements became operative.

The Denham ruling allows 20 days for unions to qualify under the law after receipt of notice of what it requires of them. First notices were mailed out by the board September 2 and the present earliest deadline is about September 23. After that the board — unless it grants the extension — will begin dismissing pending cases which involve unions whose officers have failed to file the affidavit that they are not Communists.

The question was up before the AFL Executive Council recently, John L. Lewis, and AFL vice president, refused to sign as a matter of principle. This barred NLRB machinery to the whole AFL setup under the Denham ruling.

CIO General Counsel Lee Pressman said that individual CIO unions expect to appeal to the board in a few days to reverse Denham at once.

Moses Urges U. S. To Make Definite Plan For Germany

Fears War Losers Will Turn To Russia

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP) — Robert Moses tonight called upon the United States to make a definite plan for Germany lest democratic elements in that country become discouraged and turn to Russia in the hope of sharing in "some gigantic Communist triumph."

Moses, New York City Park Commissioner and noted planner, made a survey of Germany at the invitation of the United States Military Government.

In his report, he said the American people can be made to understand the German problem if the sacrifices required of them are not disguised and "the appalling alternatives are pitched in their true colors."

Robert Moses

The danger, he said, is that United States forces in Germany "will be cut so drastically, our appropriations and loans become so thin and inadequate, our aid so feeble, late and uncertain that whatever latent German influences there may be working for independence and democracy will cease to rely on us and make the best bargain they can with those who offer perhaps nothing more than the authority the Germans instinctively love and the possibility of a German share, however small at the start, in some gigantic Communist triumph which will wipe out the stigma of defeat and in the long run afford a chance for needed brains and skills in a Russia autocracy."

Moses returned from Germany July 13 and made his report immediately but it was withheld until tonight. State Department officials explained they feared it might have an upsetting influence on the British-American discussions on Ruhr coal which were concluded last week.

The report described the Ruhr coal situation as "a mess" and called strongly for centralization of authority and responsibility, in order to get the vital fuel moving in large volume.

"The mines," it said, "limp along under British control, American advice, local regional planning, administrative and housing supervision, union representation and half a dozen other ties and influences, all of them operating at cross purposes."

Last week, the United States and Britain announced a program putting a British-American board in overall charge of the mines, but giving the Germans entire responsibility for actual production. Hitherto the British have had sole control of the Ruhr mines.

miles south of the Georgia state line.

Vast numbers of planes in the South Florida area started winging for inland points in advance of the thrust of the elements. Pan-American Airways pushed up three flights to South America and sent others of its clippers to Havana and Camaguay, Cuba.

Hurricane warnings flew along a 230-mile stretch of the coast which provides a vacationland for thousands upon thousands from all sections of the nation the year around.

National Guard Alerted

Gov. Millard Caldwell gave blanket authority to Brig. Gen. Mark W. Lance, State Adjutant General, to utilize any of the state's 1,500 National Guard troops he deemed necessary. Troops in the path of the hurricane were alerted.

The great storm raged most of the day over Abaco, a small island in the Bahamas, where winds of 160 miles an hour were recorded. Nassau, capital of the Bahamas, expected winds up to 70 miles an hour.

Feverish preparations began in Florida to batten down for the expected blow. Small boats began to parade up rivers to sheltered coves. Boarding up of store fronts and homes began. A serious traffic jam developed in downtown Miami as residents dashed around laying in emergency supplies. Miami's acres of plate glass began to disappear behind storm shutters, military posts were alerted and 7,000 men at MacDill Field in Tampa were made ready for rescue work.

The Weather Bureau, in an advisory that left little doubt as to the intensity of the storm, urged emergency measures be taken immediately in the area of hurricane display. Red Cross mobile units from Miami sped to the locality under orders to stand by.

A number of Congress members and others have suggested that such aid be sharply curbed in view of the domestic price situation.

A Cabinet committee report on exports and their relation to prices will be submitted to the President Monday. Its contents have not yet been made public, but Secretary of Agriculture Anderson gave a possible hint of its nature today in Albuquerque, N. M. He told reporters that American exports of meat are not a factor in spiralling prices at home.

When the Yugoslavs were told they could not proceed they called up reinforcements in battle formation.

Gen. Airey said the 12 Yanks held their ground and a battalion of American infantry was immediately sent up from reserve position with a full complement of armor and artillery.

The Allied Military Government said the American officer in charge brought up a tank and ordered the warning burst of machine-gun fire.

CONFESSED KILLER— Fred Walter Smigelski, 14-year-old parochial school student (left), leaves Harrison, N. J., police headquarters accompanied by Assistant Hudson County Prosecutor John Grossi to visit the scene where the body of John Preston, Jr., 11, was found. Smigelski admitted the slaying of the youth who had been reported kidnaped.

Defense Protests State's Decision To Try Young Slayer In Open Court

HARRISON, N. J., Sept. 16 (AP) — The decision of the state to try Fred Walter Smigelski, 14, in open court on a murder charge was fought today by defense counsel who sought to have the boy considered a juvenile delinquent.

No sooner had Assistant Hudson County Prosecutor John Grossi announced before Police Magistrate Joseph Gallagher that the state was holding the Newark schoolboy "on charges of first-degree murder," than Defense Attorney Anthony A. Calandra protested that the action belonged in Juvenile Court.

The court upheld the state's contention that Smigelski should be tried on a charge of murder in the kidnap-strangling of the youngster's 11-year-old pal, John Preston, Jr., of Kearney, Friday night in a deserted warehouse. Smigelski was quoted by the FBI as saying in a signed statement that he killed the younger boy to prove to himself he was not a "sissy," even though his mother made him wash dishes and do household chores.

During today's arraignment proceedings, Smigelski stood silent and sullen between Grossi and Calandra while his counsel entered a plea of innocent to the murder charge. The boy defendant held a prayer book in his hand.

Both sides agreed to an adjournment of the hearing until Friday.

Sentenced To Death

PRAGUE, Sept. 16—(AP)—Count Jenos Esterhazy, a minority party leader in the prewar Czech Parliament, was sentenced to death today in absentia for collaboration as unconfirmed reports spread that arrests in an alleged terrorist plot to overthrow the government had reached more than 600.

'Freedom Everybody's Job,' Truman Says As Freedom Train Begins Tour

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16 (AP) — "Freedom is everybody's job," President Truman warned tonight in a message marking the formal start of the Freedom Train's nationwide tour.

"Our world will be won or lost in our own homes, our churches, our schools, our union halls," the President said in his message, read on a nationwide broadcast by Attorney General Tom C. Clark.

"I hope that every citizen — and especially our young people — will take part in the special week of rededication of which the Freedom Train's visit will be the climax and will renew and refresh his faith in our democracy.

"I pray that each individual citizen everywhere will determine in his heart to continue to fight against bigotry and intolerance and will determine to do all in his power to assure the blessings of liberty in full measure for every American and for mankind."

John Foster Dulles, alternate United States delegate to the United Nations, noted in a speech prepared for the same broadcast that "in the coming year, Freedom Train will move throughout the length and breadth of our land, carrying for all to see evidence of the struggles and achievements of the past in aid of human freedom.

x x x x

"May there come from that fresh awareness of the blessings of liberty, vivid realization that those blessings are never had without struggle and sacrifice and new commitment by every citizen to more vigorous sharing in the task of keeping our beloved land a land of liberty."

Clark spoke as the sleek and shiny seven-car Diesel train was delivered to the American Heritage Foundation which will sponsor the tour through 300 cities in every section of the nation.

MARINE VETERAN'S NEEDLEWORK SKILL PAYS OFF IN PRIZES

TULSA, Okla., Sept. 16—(AP)—Needlework skill acquired while he was recovering from a wound received on Iwo Jima today had earned a young Marine veteran three first places and three seconds in the household science judging at the Tulsa State Fair.

The judges rated the handiwork of Lyle Grigg, Chelsea, Okla., better than that of any of the crack women competitors, and gave him blue ribbons for a bedspread, loomed throw rugs and a sofa pillow.

Two Officers Petition For Change Of Venue

SALISBURY, Md., Sept. 16. (AP)—Two officers charged with manslaughter after a fight at the Wicomico County Jail asked today that they be tried outside Maryland's First Judicial Circuit and pleaded they could not get a fair hearing on the Lower Eastern Shore.

The petitions were filed on behalf of Trooper J. J. Harbaugh, of the Maryland State Police, and John W. Turner, night turnkey at the jail.

The Wicomico County Grand Jury indicted them on the manslaughter charges last week in the death July 27 of Milton H. Jones, 31-year-old automobile dealer.

Harbaugh had arrested Jones outside Salisbury on a drunken driving charge and a fight developed as they were being taken to the jail atop the courthouse in an elevator operated by Turner. Jones died later at Peninsula General Hospital.

State Legislators Will Get Data On Sales Tax

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 16 (AP) — State legislators will have before them full information on how the sales tax is working when they meet this fall for their special session to deal with Baltimore's fiscal problems.

Gov. Lane said today he had ordered that data on the levy be gathered and studied by the Bureau of Revenue Estimates so that it could be presented to the Legislature.

Lane has promised Baltimore officials a special session would be called, but so far has declined to set a date.

Taft-Hartley Act Just About What Worker Wanted

John T. Frey, president of the Metal Trades Division of the American Federation of Labor, made an address several days ago at a labor gathering in Ohio, in his capacity as president of the Ohio State Federation of Labor. Mr. Frey was editor of the Molders' Journal and labor expert for the American delegation at Geneva. He is looked upon as one of the clearest and fairest minds among the chiefs of organized labor.

The newspaper accounts of Mr. Frey's address mentioned just two points. (1) He said that "labor has acted only in self-defense under the compulsions of heavy pressures in fighting for wage increases that will enable them to subsist under present conditions." (2) He urged labor to consider the Taft-Hartley law dispassionately "until its effects shall have been ascertained" and then to act for "rectification as necessary."

That simple second statement has real punch. Other labor leaders, men like William Green and Philip Murray, went off at half-cock as soon as the law was passed. John Frey's maxim is "let's watch it and find out." With his vision he must have at least glimpsed the pitfall ahead of some of his colleagues. Here it is, as set forth in a poll conducted by the Opinion Research Corporation: While 54 percent of all workers and 64 percent of union workers are, for the moment, opposed to the Taft-Hartley bill as a whole, an overwhelmingly majority of them favor each provision of the bill when polled separately upon it. Let's look at the combined poll:

> For a 60-day cooling-off period before a strike is called, 70 percent of union members; for allowing companies to sue unions for breach of contract, 70 percent of members; for employer freedom of speech, 61 percent of members; for full financial reports from unions; 85 percent of members; for barring Communists as union officials, 77 percent of members; for a delay of strikes in public service industries, 70 percent of members; for requiring that union shops may be established only by a majority vote, 77 percent of members; for permitting the checkoff only with the consent of the worker, 75 percent of members.

Since "the whole is equal to the sum of all its parts," unescapable conclusion is that American labor is going to find in the Taft-Hartley Act just the things which it has wanted and which the union leaders should themselves have urged in its behalf, instead of opposing and denouncing them. It looks as if John Frey will have no important explanations to make on the day after tomorrow, but how about Green, Murray, et al.?

The report which says the dollar has now become a pygmy should make exceptions of the cases in which it is only a memory.

The Price Of Peace To The People Of America

While the cost of war is more heavily borne in upon humanity by soaring prices, shortages, high taxes and human misery all over the world, the price of peace begins to demand an increasingly large proportion of the nation's resources.

As General Vandegrift, commandant of the Marine Corps, told the Veterans of Foreign Wars the other day, this nation must have manpower, industry, and research in a constant ready status if it is to keep peace, which he said is "just as vulnerable as any hill you ever captured—unless it is vigorously and constantly defended."

To sustain such a state of preparedness will be enormously expensive. Large appropriations are necessary to maintain a sizable standing Army and Navy. And it is costly to keep scores of war plants in standby condition, create vast stockpiles of vital strategic materials, and construct underground factories.

Thus it becomes increasingly evident that America can only hope to produce guided missiles and other weapons of the future if an appreciable proportion of the national economy is allocated to research and development.

The price of peace, like the cost of war, may some day permit humanity no alternative but to create a world order free of national aggression, avarice and distrust.

America's idea of human rights doesn't go beyond a cottage, an ice box and an automobile, a Russian says. A Russian whose ideas of human rights went that far would be shot.

Rain To Order

Practitioners of the comparatively new art of rain-making seem to be crowding into the public prints more and more these days.

There's a firm of crop-dusting fliers in Kansas City which has tried to make rain four times, been successful four times, and now is ready to make rain for a price—dust-settling showers for $100, soaking rains for $500, and run-off rains for $1,000. And all by the use of the dry ice method.

In Peoria there also are people who seem able to do something about the weather. Two brothers took out into a cumulus cloud. The resultant shower left out into a cumulous cloud. The resultant shower left nothing to be desired.

Apparently, there's a catch in this business, though. There ought to be some liaison with the United States Weather Bureau. The Peoria meteorologist announced he was not a party to the artificial shower and stood by his forecast of hot and humid weather.

It would seem that the public is entitled to fair warning when the rain-makers are doing their stuff. Showers are welcome as the flowers in May when they're needed, but people still like to have reasonable foreknowledge that they are coming.

The possibilities of this new technique of making rain to order are enormous. In fact, it would not be surprising to read of suits in court against rain-makers by those who were inconvenienced by rain they didn't want.

It is not startling news that Canadians have had their most profitable season. For some U. S. resorts the season was a bonanza.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

COMMENTS ON THE LIVER

THE liver, the largest organ in the body, is so complex that intensive study of its functions and disorders still leaves many gaps in our knowledge. We realize that it has a tremendous reserve capacity and, altho beaten to a pulp, will carry on without registering displeasure. As a result, abnormalities are difficult to diagnose until they become well advanced.

The structure is made up of various kinds of cells that have individual duties to perform. Some diseases affect only one type of tissue and lead to a specific disturbance. Others are not partial and ravage everything in their path. In this way, the many varieties of liver ailments cause different manifestations.

Several general statements can be made about the hepatic organ. Since numerous blood vessels make their way thru its substance, it is only natural that damage should follow a circulatory disorder. This is true especially when the heart fails and the blood begins to back up into the liver and the lower extremities, producing a dropsical condition.

Malnutrition, resulting from starvation or lopsided menus, may affect the structure. This explains why cirrhosis is most likely to occur in those who eat haphazardly or consume meals poor in meats and dairy products as well as among alcoholics who are too busy drinking to think of food. Bacterial invasion is possible, as in infectious hepatitis, which assailed so many of our soldiers and sailors in the recent war. These men developed the disease because they drank water or were given plasma contaminated with the causative virus. Abscesses can develop from infections elsewhere, a situation noted occasionally in amebic dysentery.

Poisons may injure the liver and most cases of this type are encountered among individuals who work with chemicals or take an overdose of certain medicines. These include chloroform, carbon tetrachloride, phosphorus, alcohol, arsenic, gold, bismuth, cinchophen, and the sulfonamides.

There are no definite symptoms which point specifically to liver trouble. The exception is jaundice, in which the skin turns yellow. Sometimes pain over the organ or enlargement of the structure will be observed but in the majority, the complaints are vague. Now and then weight loss, fatigue, indigestion, poor appetite, fever, nausea, or vomiting are present.

Modern treatment is highly scientific and no longer based on fancy. Diet is of the utmost importance and is usually high in proteins and carbohydrates with lesser amounts of fats. Meats, fish, eggs, milk, fruit, and vegetables should be consumed in liberal quantities. In addition, powdered yeast, vitamin B, liver extract, amino acids like methionine, and choline are efficacious. Alcohol is absolutely taboo. If the condition has resulted from poisoning, it is only logical to refrain from further contact with the irritant.

TOO COLD

G. T writes: What precautions can a traveler take when he feels that the train air conditioning is too frigid or drafty?

REPLY

The same as in winter — wear more clothes. It is difficult to adjust the temperature to every one's taste. If a person feels the cold, he should prepare for the trip by carrying a coat and a cover for the head.

HARSH ELBOWS

Mrs. B. writes: Do you have a solution for rough elbows?

REPLY

In the majority of cases this condition results from rubbing elbows. In some, the disorder arises from ichthyosis — dry, harsh, and scaly skin which is usually congenital in origin. Other possibilities include psoriasis. Keeping the parts well lubricated with creams and lotions will help but the source of friction should be removed.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Horror of horrors.

Gene Autry has gone and done it. Yes, sir, in his new picture he throws tradition to the wind and actually kisses a gal!

I guess that from now on all the little cowboy fans will be referring to his pictures as "Easterns."

They're civilizing our rugged hero. I guess the next thing they'll do is replace his good ol' guitar with a harpsichord.

Of course, they may go too far. I'll never forgive them if Gene runs into the bank just after the robbery and, instead of taking off after the crooks in good western style, he stops to admire the chintz curtains and finger the taffeta drapes approvingly.

And what about his pore hoss? He won't be able to show his head around the stable. They'll make him get his tail bobbed and his hooves manicured, and instead of wearing the usual horse blanket and blinders, they'll dress him up in a two-tone quilt with dark glasses.

I can just see our hero in the third reel. It's sundown and the western moon is coming up over those deserted plains. But does he reach up and pull down his bedroll and make camp under the western stars? No, sir. He keeps on riding and he'll keep on going 'til he finds that hotel that was recommended by Atwater Kent.

I may be old-fashioned, ol' pore hoss. But I'm not too keen on this new idea. When I see a western, I want my cowboy to reach down for a branding iron . . not a curling iron.

THE GRASS FIRE SEASON

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Statesmen Would Like To Forget What They Once Said About Price Control; Supreme Court Inner Sactum Invaded; Henry Kaiser Lectures Congressmen

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—Words certain statesmen would like to forget (made during the OPA debates one year ago):

Sen. Kenneth Wherry, Nebraska Republican — "Taft! Taft! Everybody's always talking about what Taft has done to OPA. I'm the fellow that knocked out meat control, and I've done more to that bill than anybody else."

Rep. John Taber, New York Republican—"OPA is at the present time the chief promoter of inflation."

Sen. Robert Taft, Ohio Republican — "Prices somewhat higher than normal tend to increase production. We certainly should not force such a reduction of prices as to interfere with more production."

Rep. Reid F. Murray, Wisconsin Republican—"I do not care to vote for any more money for the OPA and thus increase the dangers of starvation . . . Chester Bowles and the other agencies are there to keep businessmen from making a profit."

Rep. Henry D. Larcade, Jr., Louisiana Democrat—"(OPA) was run in a high-handed, dictatorial and discriminating manner, treating not only the members of Congress but the people of the country as a whole with disdain, disrespect and discourtesy."

Rep. Chase Woodhouse, Connecticut Democrat—"Let us have the courage to face a few more months of orderly decontrol as the price of economic stability and peace."

Rep. Jessie Sumner, Illinois Republican—"Subsidies are just OPA's black-market way of concealing the fact the cost of living is going up and up and your money is buying less and less and less."

Rep. William Lemke, North Dakota Republican—"Today the question is should the OPA be liquidated—abolished? My answer is that it should never have been created. It is an un-American, illegitimate child. It was born of foreign parentage."

Rep. Carl T. Curtis, Nebraska Republican—"(OPA) is a sham and a fraud. It is one of the prime causes of inflation."

Rep. Edward O. McCowen, Ohio Republican—"Let us make the break now, and then let the price-control act die its natural death. There will be confusion for a few months. . . . Then confusion will end, prices will be stabilized and production will be normal and sufficient."

Supreme Court Sanctity

Most sacred spot in all Washington is the inner sanctum of the Supreme Court. This is where the Justices work out their opinions, and no one except the black-robed nine and a few court functionaries enter. Almost equally exclusive is the room just outside the Supreme Court conference chamber. Fewer people enter here than the office of the President of the United States.

One person who never worries about Supreme Court sanctity, however, is vivacious Miss "Jojo" Black, 15-year-old daughter of Justice Hugo Black. Like her father, Jojo believes in getting things done.

Once, during a highly exclusive Supreme Court conference, Justice Black got a telephone call from his home. Ordinarily calls are not put through to Supreme Court members while they are in conference. But this was important. Delightful daughter Jojo wanted to tell her daddy that she needed a carpenter to fix her closet door. And later, the Justice found Jojo sitting just outside the conference room, where nobody else sits, waiting for him to tend to her much more important problems.

In the Lion's Mouth

Industrialist Henry Kaiser put his head in a lion's mouth the other day, wound up having the lion thank him for the experience.

The lion in this case was Pennsylvania's crusty G.O.P. Congressman Robert Rich who rises during almost every House appropriations debate to chant, "where are we going to get the money?"

Last week Rich publicly warned he would demand a complete investigation of the RFC if it scaled down some $35,000,000 worth of wartime costs owed it by Kaiser for building the Fontana Steel plant in California.

Burned up at Rich's charge, Kaiser appeared, uninvited, next day at a meeting of the investigating committee of which Rich is a member. Storming into the meeting, Kaiser demanded an immediate probe of himself and the RFC.

Not many people ask for congressional investigations, but Kaiser did—and got it—thanks to fair-minded Chairman Bender of Ohio.

The White-Haired Steel Co.

When it opened, Kaiser asked chief critic Rich if he knew how much the government had lost on war plants built for U. S. Steel.

"No," replied the gentleman from Pennsylvania.

"Well," said Kaiser, "the government lost more than $300,000,000 in surplus deals with U. S. Steel and I don't hear a lot of congressmen threatening to investigate that."

"On the Geneva, Utah, plant," he continued, "the government took a loss of more than $151,000,000. They sold it to U. S. Steel for exactly 20 cents on the dollar. Then you say we at Fontana have to pay up 100 cents on the dollar. That means the extra debt burden Fontana pays adds 16 dollars a ton to the price of steel we charge our customers. We don't want to gouge our customers to pay back the RFC. The government wants lower prices, yet the government forces us to charge high prices."

"But Mr. Kaiser," interrupted Virginia's Democratic congressman Porter Hardy, "if the government forgives you these excessive wartime construction costs, won't that mean they'll have to do the same for every other firm that has a war-built plant?"

"No, it doesn't," Kaiser replied, "the only other possible company in the same position is Reynolds Metals."

Kaiser also pointed out that the government took a loss of more than $60,000,000 on three surplus plants sold to U. S. Steel in Homestead, Duquesne and Braddock, Pa.

As the hearing closed, Doubting-Thomas Rich finally seemed satisfied.

"Shipping Coals To Newcastle" Is No Longer A Sales Fable

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Well, folks, we have another crisis to attend to. British coal miners are on a wildcat strike. Consequently, we've got to ship coal to Britain. Also, dollars to buy the coal.

The United Mine Workers Journal, of June 1st, said: "Shipping coal to Newcastle . . . has now become a reality. It is no longer a sales fable. England, where miners now enjoy a five-day week, has asked for an allocation of 1,200,000 tons for the third quarter." This request went to the European Coal Organization, a back-door route to the American pocketbook. We must now ship additional millions of tons.

Newcastle-Upon-Tyne used to be the center of Britain's huge business of exporting coal to Canada, Italy, Spain, South America, Scandinavia, etc. England used to pay for her wheat imports by her coal exports. "Shipping coal to Newcastle" has been a way of characterizing supreme foolishness for hundreds of years. It is like shipping oranges to Florida.

Shipping Coals To Newcastle

Uncle Sam will now ship coal to Newcastle! The Socialists now own the coal mines, and the miners are striking agin' the Socialists. The government has increased the miners' pay, reduced the work week, and given them extra rations (out of the American loan). But still they strike.

However, as Lord Beaverbrook points out, you can't pin all the blame on the miners. The planners have left the miners little incentive to earn more than so much. After they have bought what food and clothing their rations call for, there is nothing more they can do with extra money, except to gamble—a profession that now absorbs several hundred thousand "spivs" who ought to be manning England's farms and factories.

Last year we produced 532,000,000 tons of soft coal with 400,000 men; Britain produced 212,000,000 tons with 650,000 men. So our 400,000 miners now have to dig coal for England's 650,000 miners.

Now, with the $3,750,600 loan exhausted, the Socialist Government of Britain has told Washington that it wants us to loan them $1,000,000,000 more; loan Canada $750,000,000 (so Canada can loan Britain); take over Britain's policing and relief job in Germany (as we have done in Greece), and let Britain discriminate against our exports!

And Foreign Secretary Bevin says a very nice way for us to do our duty in this crisis of socialism is to give Britain several billions of our gold stored in Fort Knox so she can ship us back the gold to "buy" our goods. That will work dandy. Then we will give her the gold again so she can "buy" more goods again. And so on, again and again and again! It's system, folks.

Our Washington experts say Congress should be called back in special session to do its duty in this grave crisis!

Time For People To Have Say

Isn't it time for the hard common sense of our people to have a say in this costly business which the world savers and do-gooders have bungled? We are a generous people, and want to help folks in distress But hand-outs at the kitchen door do not cure the beggar of what ails him. He needs callouses more than cash.

Every socialist government gets votes by promising the soft way out of life's troubles. More pay for less work. Then it taxes the pay envelope. Then it inflates the currency which takes the purchasing power out of whatever pay is left. It pours out money and destroys its value.

In addition, the planners entangle the workers in a Chinese maze of directives, licenses, priorities, quotas, taxes, price-fixing, rationing, etc., until enterprising men throw up their hands in despair. The world suffers from an overdose of planning by bureaucratic fatheads. If government would get off men's backs, they would work their way out as our pioneer forefathers did. We should send this note to England and Europe: "For God's sake, stop calling me Papa; I'm only your Uncle Sam!"

People In Community-Property Law States Get Tax Reduction

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—Anyone who is fortunate enough to live in Pennsylvania gets a substantial cut in federal taxes this year whereas someone living just a few feet across the boundary in New Jersey or New York or Maryland is in the same fix as the many millions of other taxpayers who were refused a tax reduction by President Truman's veto.

The same good fortune came this year to residents of Michigan, Oregon and Nebraska, which states have just passed what are known as community-property laws. In previous years nine other states instituted the practice—Arizona, California, Idaho, Louisiana, Nevada, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas and the state of Washington.

The addition this year of two such populous and wealthy states as Pennsylvania and Michigan merely emphasizes the controversy over the splitting of family incomes.

The Supreme Court ruled many years ago that states have the right to say what constitutes community in their borders. Hence the federal government is obliged to follow along and decide what income arises from joint ownership.

Republicans Promise Legislation

For a long time the treasury tried to get legislation passed by Congress to deal with the matter but the opposition of the community-property states was sufficent to block passage. Now the treasury has reversed its tactics and recommends that the tax laws be changed so that everyone who is married may split the income between husband and wife on a 50-50 basis. The Republicans have promised to recommend such legislation, too, but there is a chance the whole thing will become entangled in the controversy over whether or not there shall be tax reduction for everybody—married or single—in 1948.

Meanwhile, the taxpayers in such states as Pennsylvania and Michigan are in luck, because the tax reduction applies to a portion of 1947 incomes and will apply to 1948 even if Congress fails to pass new legislation.

What it means can be judged by taking the case of two married couples, one living in Philadelphia, for example, and having a net income together of $30,000, all of it being earned by the husband. Across the river in Camden, N. J., is another married couple with the husband earning a net income of $30,000 a year. The couple in Pennsylvania pays a federal income tax of $8,540, whereas the New Jersey couple pays $11,970.

There is a discrimination here of $3,430 in favor of the Pennsylvania couple—really a tax reduction without benefit of Congress or the President.

In the upper-income brackets the saving is correspondingly larger. If there are any millionaires in the 13 community-property states they certainly are getting a "break."

The political history of the proposal to split incomes doesn't reflect credit on the Republicans. It was a group of Democrats in the Senate who, after going along for a while with the wish of President Truman against all forms of tax reduction, finally proposed that family incomes be split for tax purposes. The measure was defeated in the Senate last spring after the Republicans openly pledged that they would include the idea in their general tax revision bill for 1948.

Could Have Gotten Some Cut

But the Republicans might have gotten some tax revision instead of no tax revision had they made an issue of the community-property idea. It would have been difficult for President Truman to have vetoed this proposal as a separate proposition.

Next year the issue will arise in much the same way. For it is quite possible that the administration will oppose any tax reduction and it will become necessary for Congress to choose between piecemeal proposals that could be passed over a presidential veto or a measure which cannot get the necessary two-thirds vote in both houses to override a veto.

Unless Congress acts on the split-income proposal, there are many other states which will pass the plan. It has been agitated already in several state legislatures. The plan has caught on particularly with individuals with earned incomes because, at present, investment income can often be divided where earned income cannot. Some disadvantages to state laws dividing personal property are to be noted as, for instance, the right of husband and wife to an equal voice in the sale of property and other restrictions. So, adoption of the federal plan, it is believed, will stop further legislation by the states.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

THE TAFT TOUR

SENATOR Robert A. Taft has embarked on a tour of the United States to test his popularity. He is the second Republican openly and frankly to be a candidate for the nomination. The other is former Governor Harold Stassen of Wisconsin, who has spent at least four years organizing for a super-blitz in imitation of Wendell Willkie. Governor Dewey of New York is not yet an avowed candidate although no one doubts his intentions. General Eisenhower is an embarrassed candidate, for as Chief of Staff he is subordinate to President Truman and as an Army officer, he can have no politics. When he becomes President of Columbia University, he will be strictly on his own, without uniform, brass, or inhibitions.

President Truman has, with political acumen, accepted Senator Taft as his opponent and has taken the unusual step of attacking him personally from the White House. In each debate between them, Taft did a masterly job on Truman, although the President, because of his office, got the headlines. It has been difficult to appraise this situation, for it could be assumed that Truman wanted to kill Taft off as a prospective candidate or that he accepted Taft's nomination as inevitable and went on from there.

Taft's position of leadership is not unique. Webster, Clay, Calhoun, Henry Cabot Lodge, Borah and many other Senators led their party and the country. Most such leaders were never nominated for the Presidency because their very competence and leadership created too vehement an opposition to themselves both personally and politically.

Taft has courted opposition. He assumed the Chairmanship of the Labor Committee of the Senate, when he might have dodged it, and he produced the Taft-Hartley Bill, which will be the principal issue in the campaign. He opposes universal military service, which is favored by those who must support him if he is to be elected. He fought the appointment of David Lilienthal to the Atomic Energy Commission because he regarded Lilienthal as unsuitable; he might have passed that buck to Senator Hickenlooper, who was chairman of the committee in charge of this matter and who did an inadequate job. He has supported a housing bill, a health bill and a federal aid to education bill which many conservative Republicans and Democrats oppose.

His career in the Senate, as leader, has therefore been unusual in that he pursued a philosophy of action which ignored popularity or unpopularity. I doubt whether he has ever looked at Gallup or Roper or any other poll—and if perchance he has looked at them, he ignored their prognostications, as any public official of honor and dignity will.

For ours is a representative government in which the chosen officials of the people are expected to serve their terms in accordance with their consciences and the Constitution of the United States. The poll-reading official buries his conscience beneath a mound of percentages and subordinates the Constitution to the whims and fashions of momentary public opinion.

Taft would say that while he would like to be President of the United States, he would not stultify his honor, dignity and faith to gain it.

It is precisely in this mood that he goes before the country now to speak his mind and to explain his philosophy. No orator, he will deliver his speeches without the advantage of voice culture or the apt phrases of hired ghosters. He will hurl statistical data at anyone who asks a question. He will argue at the drop of a phrase. I once saw him stand before an audience of publishers, editors, writers and such folk, answering questions propounded by Nat Howard of the "Cleveland News" and many sent up from the floor—extemporaneously, without knowledge in advance as to what the questions would be. It was an amazing exhibition of information, wisdom, and sureness of position.

Taft may come out of this the Republican candidate or without a chance of nomination. Come what may, he will remain a leader of this nation, for he has a philosophy of action for the American people that runs true to the traditional American belief in the freedom of the individual man.

Uncharted Experiences

If we knew in advance just what was to be expected at certain times, a large part of the interest that we have in events would be annulled. What we are we owe largely to experience—but we are toughened and strengthened in character most by those experiences that are uncharted—that we didn't think we would have to face, but did!

It's the unexpected times "that try men's souls," as well as those in which so much of human freedom is at stake, which once inspired Tom Paine to use the quoted expression. We are put on our mettle. We are tried in the fire. We are tempered to life's cruelest thrusts. That's what facing bravely the uncharted experiences does.

During the recent world wars, deeds of heroism by young boys, that no one ever suspected as possible with them, were performed almost automatically. There was something of deep worth hidden there—uncharted to them, or to those who bore them. It's just as well to have it this way for us all. Then we will do no worrying in advance over what we will do in a special emergency. We will simply take each emergency in its stride—and like a champion—meet all events, whether good or unpleasant—in the same manner as the champion meets all comers.

It's the unexpected, the uncharted, that drives and inspires the inventor, the discoverer, and in fact all pioneers, onward and ever onward.

I recently read in my newspaper about how a 32 year old chap, by the name of George Bogardus, flew solo from Troutdale, Oregon, to Roosevelt Field, Long Island, in a small plane that he built himself—the first time such a thing had been done. It took him a year to build his plane and it cost him $500. The trip in oil and gas cost him but $28. That was an uncharted experience, as was Col. Lindbergh's from New York to Paris.

The best thing, however, about these uncharted experiences of ours, is the thrill that results from learning that we can do something, and accomplish something, that we never even dreamed before that we could. Thus is our imagination stirred to keep surpassing—ourselves!

Taft-Hartley Act Just About What Worker Wanted

John T. Frey, president of the Metal Trades Division of the American Federation of Labor, made an address several days ago at a labor gathering in Ohio, in his capacity as president of the Ohio State Federation of Labor. Mr. Frey was editor of the Molders' Journal and labor expert for the American delegation at Geneva. He is looked upon as one of the clearest and fairest minds among the chiefs of organized labor.

The newspaper accounts of Mr. Frey's address mentioned just two points. (1) He said that "labor has acted only in self-defense under the compulsions of heavy pressures in fighting for wage increases that will enable them to subsist under present conditions." (2) He urged labor to consider the Taft-Hartley law dispassionately "until its effects shall have been ascertained" and then to act for "rectification as necessary."

That simple second statement has real punch. Other labor leaders, men like William Green and Philip Murray, went off at half-cock as soon as the law was passed. John Frey's maxim is "let's watch it and find out." With his vision he must have at least glimpsed the pitfall ahead of some of his colleagues. Here it is, as set forth in a poll conducted by the Opinion Research Corporation: While 54 percent of all workers and 64 percent of union workers are, for the moment, opposed to the Taft-Hartley bill as a whole, an overwhelmingly majority of them favor each provision of the bill when polled separately upon it. Let's look at the combined poll:

> For a 60-day cooling-off period before a strike is called, 70 percent of union members; for allowing companies to sue unions for breach of contract, 70 percent of members; for employer freedom of speech, 61 percent of members; for full financial reports from unions; 85 percent of members; for barring Communists as union officials, 77 percent of members; for a delay of strikes in public service industries, 70 percent of members; for requiring that union shops may be established only by a majority vote, 77 percent of members; for permitting the checkoff only with the consent of the worker, 75 percent of members.

Since "the whole is equal to the sum of all its parts," unescapable conclusion is that American labor is going to find in the Taft-Hartley Act just the things which it has wanted and which the union leaders should themselves have urged in its behalf, instead of opposing and denouncing them. It looks as if John Frey will have no important explanations to make on the day after tomorrow, but how about Green, Murray, et al.?

The report which says the dollar has now become a pygmy should make exceptions of the cases in which it is only a memory.

The Price Of Peace To The People Of America

While the cost of war is more heavily borne in upon humanity by soaring prices, shortages, high taxes and human misery all over the world, the price of peace begins to demand an increasingly large proportion of the nation's resources.

As General Vandegrift, commandant of the Marine Corps, told the Veterans of Foreign Wars the other day, this nation must have manpower, industry, and research in a constant ready status if it is to keep peace, which he said is "just as vulnerable as any hill you ever captured—unless it is vigorously and constantly defended."

To sustain such a state of preparedness will be enormously expensive. Large appropriations are necessary to maintain a sizable standing Army and Navy. And it is costly to keep scores of war plants in standby condition, create vast stockpiles of vital strategic materials, and construct underground factories.

Thus it becomes increasingly evident that America can only hope to produce guided missiles and other weapons of the future if an appreciable proportion of the national economy is allocated to research and development.

The price of peace, like the cost of war, may some day permit humanity no alternative but to create a world order free of national aggression, avarice and distrust.

America's idea of human rights doesn't go beyond a cottage, an ice box and an automobile, a Russian says. A Russian whose ideas of human rights went that far would be shot.

Rain To Order

Practitioners of the comparatively new art of rain-making seem to be crowding into the public prints more and more these days.

There's a firm of crop-dusting fliers in Kansas City which has tried to make rain four times, been successful four times, and now is ready to make rain for a price—dust-settling showers for $100, soaking rains for $500, and run-off rains for $1,000. And all by the use of the dry ice method.

In Peoria there also are people who seem able to do something about the weather. Two brothers took out into a cumulus cloud. The resultant shower left out into a cumulous cloud. The resultant shower left nothing to be desired.

Apparently, there's a catch in this business, though. There ought to be some liaison with the United States Weather Bureau. The Peoria meteorologist announced he was not a party to the artificial shower and stood by his forecast of hot and humid weather.

It would seem that the public is entitled to fair warning when the rain-makers are doing their stuff. Showers are welcome as the flowers in May when they're needed, but people still like to have reasonable foreknowledge that they are coming.

The possibilities of this new technique of making rain to order are enormous. In fact, it would not be surprising to read of suits in court against rain-makers by those who were inconvenienced by rain they didn't want.

It is not startling news that Canadians have had their most profitable season. For some U. S. resorts the season was a bonanza.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

COMMENTS ON THE LIVER

THE liver, the largest organ in the body, is so complex that intensive study of its functions and disorders still leaves many gaps in our knowledge. We realize that it has a tremendous reserve capacity and, altho beaten to a pulp, will carry on without registering displeasure. As a result, abnormalities are difficult to diagnose until they become well advanced.

The structure is made up of various kinds of cells that have individual duties to perform. Some diseases affect only one type of tissue and lead to a specific disturbance. Others are not partial and ravage everything in their path. In this way, the many varieties of liver ailments cause different manifestations.

Several general statements can be made about the hepatic organ. Since numerous blood vessels make their way thru its substance, it is only natural that damage should follow a circulatory disorder. This is true especially when the heart fails and the blood begins to back up into the liver and the lower extremities, producing a dropsical condition.

Malnutrition, resulting from starvation or lopsided menus, may affect the structure. This explains why cirrhosis is most likely to occur in those who eat haphazardly or consume meals poor in meats and dairy products as well as among alcoholics who are too busy drinking to think of food. Bacterial invasion is possible, as in infectious hepatitis, which assailed so many of our soldiers and sailors in the recent war. These men developed the disease because they drank water or were given plasma contaminated with the causative virus. Abscesses can develop from infections elsewhere, a situation noted occasionally in amebic dysentery.

Poisons may injure the liver and most cases of this type are encountered among individuals who work with chemicals or take an overdose of certain medicines. These include chloroform, carbon tetrachloride, phosphorus, alcohol, arsenic, gold, bismuth, cinchophen, and the sulfonamides.

There are no definite symptoms which point specifically to liver trouble. The exception is jaundice, in which the skin turns yellow. Sometimes pain over the organ or enlargement of the structure will be observed but in the majority, the complaints are vague. Now and then weight loss, fatigue, indigestion, poor appetite, fever, nausea, or vomiting are present.

Modern treatment is highly scientific and no longer based on fancy. Diet is of the utmost importance and is usually high in proteins and carbohydrates with lesser amounts of fats. Meats, fish, eggs, milk, fruit, and vegetables should be consumed in liberal quantities. In addition, powdered yeast, vitamin B, liver extract, amino acids like methionine, and choline are efficacious. Alcohol is absolutely taboo. If the condition has resulted from poisoning, it is only logical to refrain from further contact with the irritant.

TOO COLD

G. T. writes: What precautions can a traveler take when he feels that the train air conditioning is too frigid or drafty?

REPLY

The same as in winter — wear more clothes. It is difficult to adjust the temperature to every one's taste. If a person feels the cold, he should prepare for the trip by carrying a coat and a cover for the head.

HARSH ELBOWS

Mrs. B. writes: Do you have a solution for rough elbows?

REPLY

In the majority of cases this condition results from rubbing elbows. In some, the disorder arises from ichthyosis — dry, harsh, and scaly skin which is usually congenital in origin. Other possibilities include psoriasis. Keeping the parts well lubricated with creams and lotions will help but the source of friction should be removed.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

Horror of horrors.

Gene Autry has gone and done it. Yes, sir, in his new picture he throws tradition to the wind and actually kisses a gal!

I guess that from now on all the little cowboy fans will be referring to his pictures as "Easterns."

They're civilizing our rugged hero. I guess the next thing they'll do is replace his good ol' guitar with a harpsichord.

Of course, they may go too far. I'll never forgive them if Gene runs into the bank just after the robbery and, instead of taking off after the crooks in good western style, he stops to admire the chintz curtains and finger the taffeta drapes approvingly.

And what about his pore hoss? He won't be able to show his head around the stable. They'll make him get his tail bobbed and his hooves manicured, and instead of wearing the usual horse blanket and blinders, they'll dress him up in a two-tone quilt with dark glasses.

I can just see our hero in the third reel. It's sundown and the western moon is coming up over those deserted plains. But does he reach up and pull down his bedroll and make camp under the western stars? No, sir. He keeps on riding and he'll keep on going 'til he finds that hotel that was recommended by Atwater Kent.

I may be old-fashioned, ol' pore hoss. But I'm not too keen on this new idea. When I see a western, I want my cowboy to reach down for a branding iron . . not a curling iron.

Statesmen Would Like To Forget What They Once Said About Price Control; Supreme Court Inner Sactum Invaded; Henry Kaiser Lectures Congressmen

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—Words certain statesmen would like to forget (made during the OPA debates one year ago):

Sen. Kenneth Wherry, Nebraska Republican — "Taft! Taft! Everybody's always talking about what Taft has done to OPA. I'm the fellow that knocked out meat control, and I've done more to that bill than anybody else."

Rep. John Taber, New York Republican—"OPA is at the present time the chief promoter of inflation."

Sen. Robert Taft, Ohio Republican — "Prices somewhat higher than normal tend to increase production. We certainly should not force such a reduction of prices as to interfere with more production."

Rep. Reid F. Murray, Wisconsin Republican—"I do not care to vote for any more money for the OPA and thus increase the dangers of starvation . . . Chester Bowles and the other agencies are there to keep businessmen from making a profit."

Rep. Henry D. Larcade, Jr., Louisiana Democrat—"(OPA) was run in a high-handed, dictatorial and discriminating manner, treating not only the members of Congress but the people of the country as a whole with disdain, disrespect and discourtesy."

Rep. Chase Woodhouse, Connecticut Democrat—"Let us have the courage to face a few more months of orderly decontrol as the price of economic stability and peace."

Rep. Jessie Sumner, Illinois Republican—"Subsidies are just OPA's black-market way of concealing the fact the cost of living is going up and up and your money is buying less and less and less."

Rep. William Lemke, North Dakota Republican—"Today the question is should the OPA be liquidated—abolished? My answer is that it should never have been created. It is an un-American, illegitimate child. It was born of foreign parentage."

Rep. Carl T. Curtis, Nebraska Republican—"(OPA) is a sham and a fraud. It is one of the prime causes of inflation."

Rep. Edward O. McCowen, Ohio Republican—"Let us make the break now, and then let the price-control act die its natural death. There will be confusion for a few months. . . . Then confusion will end, prices will be stabilized and production will be normal and sufficient."

Supreme Court Sanctity

Most sacred spot in all Washington is the inner sanctum of the Supreme Court. This is where the Justices work out their opinions, and no one except the black-robed nine and a few court functionaries enter. Almost equally exclusive is the room just outside the Supreme Court conference chamber. Fewer people enter here than the office of the President of the United States.

One person who never worries about Supreme Court sanctity, however, is vivacious Miss "Jojo" Black, 15-year-old daughter of Justice Hugo Black. Like her father, Jojo believes in getting things done.

Once, during a highly exclusive Supreme Court conference, Justice Black got a telephone call from his home. Ordinarily calls are not put through to Supreme Court members while they are in conference. But this was important. Delightful daughter Jojo wanted to tell her daddy that she needed a carpenter to fix her closet door. And later, the Justice found Jojo sitting just outside the conference room, where nobody else sits, waiting for him to tend to her much more important problems.

In the Lion's Mouth

Industrialist Henry Kaiser put his head in a lion's mouth the other day, wound up having the lion thank him for the experience.

The lion in this case was Pennsylvania's crusty G.O.P. Congressman Robert Rich who rises during almost every House appropriations debate to chant, "where are we going to get the money?"

Last week Rich publicly warned he would demand a complete investigation of the RFC if it scaled down some $35,000,000 worth of wartime costs owed it by Kaiser for building the Fontana Steel plant in California.

Burned up at Rich's charge, Kaiser appeared, uninvited, next day at a meeting of the investigating committee of which Rich is a member. Storming into the meeting, Kaiser demanded an immediate probe of himself and the RFC.

Not many people ask for congressional investigations, but Kaiser did—and got it—thanks to fair-minded Chairman Bender of Ohio.

The White-Haired Steel Co.

When it opened, Kaiser asked chief critic Rich if he knew how much the government had lost on war plants built for U. S. Steel.

"No," replied the gentleman from Pennsylvania.

"Well," said Kaiser, "the government lost more than $300,000,000 in surplus deals with U. S. Steel and I don't hear a lot of congressmen threatening to investigate that."

"On the Geneva, Utah, plant," he continued, "the government took a loss of more than $151,000,000. They sold it to U. S. Steel for exactly 20 cents on the dollar. Then you say we at Fontana have to pay up 100 cents on the dollar. That means the extra debt burden Fontana pays adds 16 dollars a ton to the price of steel we charge our customers. We don't want to gouge our customers to pay back the RFC. The government wants lower prices, yet the government forces us to charge high prices."

"But Mr. Kaiser," interrupted Virginia's Democratic congressman Porter Hardy, "if the government forgives you these excessive wartime construction costs, won't that mean they'll have to do the same for every other firm that has a war-built plant?"

"No, it doesn't," Kaiser replied, "the only other possible company in the same position is Reynolds Metals."

Kaiser also pointed out that the government took a loss of more than $60,000,000 on three surplus plants sold to U. S. Steel in Homestead, Duquesne and Braddock, Pa.

As the hearing closed, Doubting-Thomas Rich finally seemed satisfied.

"Shipping Coals To Newcastle" Is No Longer A Sales Fable

By SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

Well, folks, we have another crisis to attend to. British coal miners are on a wildcat strike. Consequently, we've got to ship coal to Britain. Also, dollars to buy the coal.

The United Mine Workers Journal, of June 1st, said: "Shipping coal to Newcastle . . . has now become a reality. It is no longer a sales fable. England, where miners now enjoy a five-day week, has asked for an allocation of 1,200,000 tons for the third quarter." This request went to the European Coal Organization, a back-door route to the American pocketbook. We must now ship additional millions of tons.

Newcastle-Upon-Tyne used to be the center of Britain's huge business of exporting coal to Canada, Italy, Spain, South America, Scandinavia, etc. England used to pay for her wheat imports by her coal exports. "Shipping coal to Newcastle" has been a way of characterizing supreme foolishness for hundreds of years. It is like shipping oranges to Florida.

Shipping Coals To Newcastle

Uncle Sam will now ship coal to Newcastle! The Socialists now own the coal mines, and the miners are striking agin' the Socialists. The government has increased the miners' pay, reduced the work week, and given them extra rations (out of the American loan). But still they strike.

However, as Lord Beaverbrook points out, you can't pin all the blame on the miners. The planners have left the miners little incentive to earn more than so much. After they have bought what food and clothing their rations call for, there is nothing more they can do with extra money, except to gamble—a profession that now absorbs several hundred thousand "spivs" who ought to be manning England's farms and factories.

Last year we produced 532,000,000 tons of soft coal with 400,000 men; Britain produced 212,000,000 tons with 650,000 men. So our 400,000 miners now have to dig coal for England's 650,000 miners.

Now, with the $3,750,600 loan exhausted, the Socialist Government of Britain has told Washington that it wants us to loan them $1,000,000,000 more; loan Canada $750,000,000 (so Canada can loan Britain); take over Britain's policing and relief job in Germany (as we have done in Greece), and let Britain discriminate against our exports!

And Foreign Secretary Bevin says a very nice way for us to do our duty in this crisis of socialism is to give Britain several billions of our gold stored in Fort Knox so she can ship us back the gold to "buy" our goods. That will work dandy. Then we will give her the gold again so she can "buy" more goods again. And so on, again and again and again! It's system, folks.

Our Washington experts say Congress should be called back in special session to do its duty in this grave crisis!

Time For People To Have Say

Isn't it time for the hard common sense of our people to have a say in this costly business which the world savers and do-gooders have bungled? We are a generous people, and want to help folks in distress But hand-outs at the kitchen door do not cure the beggar of what ails him. He needs callouses more than cash.

Every socialist government gets votes by promising the soft way out of life's troubles. More pay for less work. Then it taxes the pay envelope. Then it inflates the currency which takes the purchasing power out of whatever pay is left. It pours out money and destroys its value.

In addition, the planners entangle the workers in a Chinese maze of directives, licenses, priorities, quotas, taxes, price-fixing, rationing, etc., until enterprising men throw up their hands in despair. The world suffers from an overdose of planning by bureaucratic fatheads. If government would get off men's backs, they would work their way out as our pioneer forefathers did. We should send this note to England and Europe: "For God's sake, stop calling me Papa; I'm only your Uncle Sam!"

People In Community-Property Law States Get Tax Reduction

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16—Anyone who is fortunate enough to live in Pennsylvania gets a substantial cut in federal taxes this year whereas someone living just a few feet across the boundary in New Jersey or New York or Maryland is in the same fix as the many millions of other taxpayers who were refused a tax reduction by President Truman's veto.

The same good fortune came this year to residents of Michigan, Oregon and Nebraska, which states have just passed what are known as community-property laws. In previous years nine other states instituted the practice—Arizona, California, Idaho, Louisiana, Nevada, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Texas and the state of Washington.

The addition this year of two such populous and wealthy states as Pennsylvania and Michigan merely emphasizes the controversy over the splitting of family incomes.

The Supreme Court ruled many years ago that states have the right to say what constitutes community in their borders. Hence the federal government is obliged to follow along and decide what income arises from joint ownership.

Republicans Promise Legislation

For a long time the treasury tried to get legislation passed by Congress to deal with the matter but the opposition of the community-property states was sufficent to block passage. Now the treasury has reversed its tactics and recommends that the tax laws be changed so that everyone who is married may split the income between husband and wife on a 50-50 basis. The Republicans have promised to recommend such legislation, too, but there is a chance the whole thing will become entangled in the controversy over whether or not there shall be tax reduction for everybody—married or single—in 1948.

Meanwhile, the taxpayers in such states as Pennsylvania and Michigan are in luck, because the tax reduction applies to a portion of 1947 incomes and will apply to 1948 even if Congress fails to pass new legislation.

What it means can be judged by taking the case of two married couples, one living in Philadelphia, for example, and having a net income together of $30,000, all of it being earned by the husband. Across the river in Camden, N. J., is another married couple with the husband earning a net income of $30,000 a year. The couple in Pennsylvania pays a federal income tax of $3,540, whereas the New Jersey couple pays $11,970.

There is a discrimination here of $3,430 in favor of the Pennsylvania couple—really a tax reduction without benefit of Congress or the President.

In the upper-income brackets the saving is correspondingly larger. If there are any millionaires in the 13 community-property states, they certainly are getting a "break."

The political history of the proposal to split incomes doesn't reflect credit on the Republicans. It was a group of Democrats in the Senate who, after going along for a while with the wish of President Truman against all forms of tax reduction, finally proposed that family incomes be split for tax purposes. The measure was defeated in the Senate last spring after the Republicans openly pledged that they would include the idea in their general tax revision bill for 1948.

Could Have Gotten Some Cut

But the Republicans might have gotten some tax revision instead of no tax revision had they made an issue of the community-property idea. It would have been difficult for President Truman to have vetoed this proposal as a separate proposition.

Next year the issue will arise in much the same way. For it is quite possible that the administration will oppose any tax reduction and it will become necessary for Congress to choose between piecemeal proposals that could be passed over a presidential veto or a measure which cannot get the necessary two-thirds vote in both houses to override a veto.

Unless Congress acts on the split-income proposal, there are many other states which will pass the plan. It has been agitated already in several state legislatures. The plan has caught on particularly with individuals with earned incomes because, at present, investment income can often be divided where earned income cannot. Some disadvantages to state laws dividing personal property are to be noted as, for instance, the right of husband and wife to an equal voice in the sale of property and other restrictions. So, adoption of the federal plan, it is believed, will stop further legislation by the states.

THESE DAYS By George E. Sokolsky

THE TAFT TOUR

SENATOR Robert A. Taft has embarked on a tour of the United States to test his popularity. He is the second Republican openly and frankly to be a candidate for the nomination. The other is former Governor Harold Stassen of Wisconsin, who has spent at least four years organizing for a super-blitz in imitation of Wendell Willkie. Governor Dewey of New York is not yet an avowed candidate although no one doubts his intentions. General Eisenhower is an embarrassed candidate, for as Chief of Staff he is subordinate to President Truman and as an Army officer, he can have no politics. When he becomes President of Columbia University, he will be strictly on his own, without uniform, brass, or inhibitions.

President Truman has, with political acumen, accepted Senator Taft as his opponent and has taken the unusual step of attacking him personally from the White House. In each debate between them, Taft did a masterly job on Truman, although the President, because of his office, got the headlines. It has been difficult to appraise this situation, for it could be assumed that Truman wanted to kill Taft off as a prospective candidate or that he accepted Taft's nomination as inevitable and went on from there.

Taft's position of leadership is not unique. Webster, Clay, Calhoun, Henry Cabot Lodge, Borah and many other Senators led their party and the country. Most such leaders were never nominated for the Presidency because their very competence and leadership created too vehement an opposition to themselves both personally and politically.

Taft has courted opposition. He assumed the Chairmanship of the Labor Committee of the Senate, when he might have dodged it, and he produced the Taft-Hartley Bill, which will be the principal issue in the campaign. He opposes universal military service, which is favored by those who must support him if he is to be elected. He fought the appointment of David Lilienthal to the Atomic Energy Commission because he regarded Lilienthal as unsuitable; he might have passed that buck to Senator Hickenlooper, who was chairman of the committee in charge of this matter and who did an inadequate job. He has supported a housing bill, a health bill and a federal aid to education bill which many conservative Republicans and Democrats oppose.

His career in the Senate, as leader, has therefore been unusual in that he pursued a philosophy of action which ignored popularity or unpopularity. I doubt whether he has ever looked at Gallup or Roper or any other poll—and if perchance he has looked at them, he ignored their prognostications, as any public official of honor and dignity will.

For ours is a representative government in which the chosen officials of the people are expected to serve their terms in accordance with their consciences and the Constitution of the United States. The poll-reading official buries his conscience beneath a mound of percentages and subordinates the Constitution to the whims and fashions of momentary public opinion.

Taft would say that while he would like to be President of the United States, he would not stultify his honor, dignity and faith to gain it.

It is precisely in this mood that he goes before the country now to speak his mind and to explain his philosophy. No orator, he will deliver his speeches without the advantage of voice culture or the apt phrases of hired ghosters. He will hurl statistical data at anyone who asks a question. He will argue at the drop of a phrase. I once saw him stand before an audience of publishers, editors, writers and such folk, answering questions propounded by Nat Howard of the "Cleveland News" and many sent up from the floor—extemporaneously, without knowledge in advance as to what the questions would be. It was an amazing exhibition of information, wisdom, and sureness of position.

Taft may come out of this the Republican candidate or without a chance of nomination. Come what may, he will remain a leader of this nation, for he has a philosophy of action for the American people that runs true to the traditional American belief in the freedom of the individual man.

Uncharted Experiences

If we knew in advance just what was to be expected at certain times, a large part of the interest that we have in events would be annulled. What we are we owe largely to experience—but we are toughened and strengthened in character most by those experiences that are uncharted—that we didn't think we would have to face, but did!

It's the unexpected times "that try men's souls," as well as those in which so much of human freedom is at stake, which once inspired Tom Paine to use the quoted expression. We are put on our mettle. We are tried in the fire. We are tempered to life's cruelest thrusts. That's what facing bravely the uncharted experiences does.

During the recent world wars, deeds of heroism by young boys, that no one ever suspected as possible with them, were performed almost automatically. There was something of deep worth hidden there—uncharted to them, or to those who bore them. It's just as well to have it this way for us all. Then we will do no worrying in advance over what we will do in a special emergency. We will simply take each emergency in its stride—and like a champion—meet all events, whether good or unpleasant—in the same manner as the champion meets all comers.

It's the unexpected, the uncharted, that drives and inspires the inventor, the discoverer, and in fact all pioneers, onward and ever onward.

I recently read in my newspaper about how a 32 year old chap, by the name of George Bogardus, flew solo from Troutdale, Oregon, to Roosevelt Field, Long Island, in a small plane that he built himself—the first time such a thing had been done. It took him a year to build his plane and it cost him $500. The trip in oil and gas cost him but $28. That was an uncharted experience, as was Col. Lindbergh's from New York to Paris.

The best thing, however, about these uncharted experiences of ours, is the thrill that results from learning that we can do something, and accomplish something, that we never even dreamed before that we could. Thus is our imagination stirred to keep surpassing—ourselves!

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

Unannounced, a young man burst into my office a few minutes ago. His hair rumpled and there was a fleck of foam on his lips.

"You've got to help me," he yelled. "You've got to help me or I'll bite you."

Billy Rose

Rose: Take it easy, young fellow. What's this all about?"

Young Man: I'm a songwriter. I have a portfolio full of great songs—How do I go about getting them published?

Rose: I don't know.

Y. M.: Remember what I said about biting you? I wasn't kidding. Answer up, now.

Rose: I'm not kidding when I say I don't know. I'm a songwriter, too.

I have what I think is a pretty good song in my desk. It's been there for six years. No one wants to publish it.

Y. M.: You mean with all your connections you can't get a song published?

Rose: Oh, I suppose I could get some friendly music publisher to print up some copies. But printing a song doesn't make it a hit. Unless the publisher orders his plugging organization to concentrate on getting a song played and sung, no one gets to hear it.

Y. M.: Well, if the publisher is your friend, why doesn't he tell his men to plug your song?

Rose: Because he doesn't own his firm. Somebody else gives the orders.

Y. M.: Who?

Rose: A movie company. Soon after Hollywood started making musical pictures, it discovered that a hit song was excellent promotion for a film. Every time it was played it would bring a picture to mind. So the movie boys sent a few box cars of money to Tin Pan Alley and bought out most of the big firms—copyrights, office furniture plugging staffs, and memo pads.

Y. M.: You mean if I submit a better song than the one in the movie, the publisher will exploit the bum song and let mine die?

Rose: Exactly. If your ditty is a success it may make the firm fifty grand—a hundred at the outside. The movie company figures if it can put over the bum song, it will help put over the picture that might make three or four million.

Y. M.: All right, let them promote their movie songs. But why can't they plug my songs at the same time?

Rose: It takes a lot of muscle to get a song on the Hit Parade. No organization can concentrate on more than one or two songs at a time.

Y. M.: Where does that leave me?

Rose: In the same boat with a lot of other top-notch writers who have quit writing because without a Hollywood connection they can't get their songs exploited. They live on their ASCAP money and royalties from their old songs.

Y. M.: (desperately) There must be some way to break through!

Rose: In the old days, I might have told you to marry the publisher's daughter. Today you have to marry Darryl Zanuck.

Y. M.: (hysterical now) You can't discourage me. I've got to see my stuff in print. What do you think of the outfits that advertise they will publish my song if I send them a hundred dollars?

Rose: Most of them are out-and-out clip joints. They print a few copies of the song and pocket the rest of your money.

Y. M.: Doesn't this business of favoring a handful of Hollywood writers and freezing out thousands of others keep the public from hearing a lot of good music?

Rose: You're darn right it does. Maybe that's why so many of the old songs are becoming hits all over again. Nothing out of Hollywood in years compares with "Peg O' My Heart," "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now," or "When You Were Sweet Sixteen." The Jolson albums of old-time favorites are selling faster than they can be pressed. Of course, Al is good—but that's a fine set of horses he's riding.

Y. M.: Well, doesn't any new writer ever get a song published and see it become a hit?

Rose: Once in a June moon. But I think statistics would prove it's easier to get elected to the United States Senate. Take my advice and go home, son, go home.

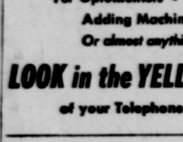

Y. M.: (transfixed) What a title! "Go Home, Son, Go Home." It's a natural! It'll paralyze them! Where's a piano?

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

Unannounced, a young man burst into my office a few minutes ago. His hair rumpled and there was a fleck of foam on his lips.

"You've got to help me," he yelled. "You've got to help me or I'll bite you."

Rose: Take it easy, young fellow. What's this all about?"

Billy Rose

Young Man: I'm a songwriter. I have a portfolio full of great songs—How do I go about getting them published?

Rose: I don't know.

Y. M.: Remember what I said about biting you? I wasn't kidding. Answer up, now.

Rose: I'm not kidding when I say I don't know. I'm a songwriter, too.

I have what I think is a pretty good song in my desk. It's been there for six years. No one wants to publish it.

Y. M.: You mean with all your connections you can't get a song published?

Rose: Oh, I suppose I could get some friendly music publisher to print up some copies. But printing a song doesn't make it a hit. Unless the publisher orders his plugging organization to concentrate on getting a song played and sung, no one gets to hear it.

Y. M.: Well, if the publisher is your friend, why doesn't he tell his men to plug your song?

Rose: Because he doesn't own his firm. Somebody else gives the orders.

Y. M.: Who?

Rose: A movie company. Soon after Hollywood started making musical pictures, it discovered that a hit song was excellent promotion for a film. Every time it was played it would bring a picture to mind. So the movie boys sent a few box cars of money to Tin Pan Alley and bought out most of the big firms—copyrights, office furniture plugging staffs, and memo pads.

Y. M.: You mean if I submit a better song than the one in the movie, the publisher will exploit the bum song and let mine die?

Rose: Exactly. If your ditty is a success it may make the firm fifty grand—a hundred at the outside. The movie company figures if it can put over the bum song, it will help put over the picture that might make three or four million.

Y. M.: All right, let them promote their movie songs. But why can't they plug my songs at the same time?

Rose: It takes a lot of muscle to get a song on the Hit Parade. No organization can concentrate on more than one or two songs at a time.

Y. M.: Where does that leave me?

Rose: In the same boat with a lot of other top-notch writers who have quit writing because without a Hollywood connection they can't get their songs exploited. They live on their ASCAP money and royalties from their old songs.

Y. M.: (desperately) There must be some way to break through!

Rose: In the old days, I might have told you to marry the publisher's daughter. Today you have to marry Darryl Zanuck.

Y. M.: (hysterical now) You can't discourage me. I've got to see my stuff in print. What do you think of the outfits that advertise they will publish my song if I send them a hundred dollars?

Rose: Most of them are out-and-out clip joints. They print a few copies of the song and pocket the rest of your money.

Y. M.: Doesn't this business of favoring a handful of Hollywood writers and freezing out thousands of others keep the public from hearing a lot of good music?

Rose: You're darn right it does. Maybe that's why so many of the old songs are becoming hits all over again. Nothing out of Hollywood in years compares with "Peg O' My Heart," "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now," or "When You Were Sweet Sixteen." The Jolson albums of old-time favorites are selling faster than they can be pressed. Of course, Al is good—but that's a fine set of horses he's riding.

Y. M.: Well, doesn't any new writer ever get a song published and see it become a hit?

Rose: Once in a June moon. But I think statistics would prove it's easier to get elected to the United States Senate. Take my advice and go home, son, go home.

Y. M.: (transfixed) What a title! "Go Home, Son, Go Home." It's a natural! It'll paralyze them! Where's a piano?

Woman's Civic Club Outlines Year's Program

Madame Angela Ramos, wife of the minister-counsellor of the Philippine Embassy, will be the guest speaker at the general meeting and luncheon of the Woman's Civic Club, which will open its fall and winter season, next Thursday at the Cumberland Country Club at 1 o'clock, with Mrs. Arthur C. Bright, presiding and Mrs. Miles G. Thompson hostess.

Prior to coming to Washington in September 1946, Madame Ramos was a teacher of English in a public high school for 13 years and an instructor in English in the Far Eastern University, Manila. She was a board member of the National Federation of Women's Clubs, president of the Ladies Association Manila and a member of the Philippine Association of University Women. She has been made an honorary member of the Girl Scouts in Washington.

An innovation of the club this year is the "Year Book," in which is listed the object of the club, "to promote civic pride and to develop its members in intellectual endeavor, social fellowship and community service." Besides the club's collect, list of officers, directors and chairmen, club roster, American creed and pledge, items, "club members should know", by-laws and legislative information, the club's philanthropies are listed, the Community Chest, Crippled Children's League and American Cancer Society, as well as the visits to the county home and infirmary, Sylvan Retreat and shut-ins by the Welfare Group. There also is an In Memoriam page for Mrs. Hixon T. Bowersox.

The "Year Book" to be used at each meeting lists the various meetings and programs. Reviewers for the Literature Group are to be Miss Mary Walsh, Prof. David G. Nuzum, Potomac State School, Mrs. William C. Walsh, Mrs. Karl G. Perry, Mrs. Thomas LeClear, Mrs. Harry B. Simpson, Miss Nellie G. Willison, Fort Hill High School, and Dr. Dorothy G. Howard, Frostburg, State Teachers.

Other speakers will be Jack Platt, for the October meeting of the Music Group and Mrs. John L. Whitehurst at the general meeting. In October there will be a meeting of the executive board, on the ninth and the Community Service Group in the afternoon and a benefit card party, October 23 under the sponsorship of the American Home Group.

Also to appear on the programs during the season are Wilton Sykes, Miss Stella Scurlock, Mrs. William H. Longwell, Mrs. Theodora Athanassov, Mrs. Elsie H. Pabst, John King, Thurman "Dusty" Miller, Mrs. Ralph R. Webster, Dr. Cynthia Westcott, Mrs. William J. Edwards, and Mrs. Morris Rosenbaum.

Social activities include a Christmas luncheon with the American Home Group in charge; Welfare Group Christmas trip with the Girl Scouts in charge of the program; a pageant, "Noted Women of Maryland" by the American Home Group; annual men'sX dinner meeting; the annual men's dinner meeting; the ture Group; Welfare Group's Mother's Day treat; and spring luncheon meeting. There are two tours planned one to Washington county Museum of Fine Arts, Hagerstown; and the other to Garrett county.

Series Plan Bloom

A night blooming cereus plant belonging to Mrs. Margaret Love, 217 Beall Street, attracted wide attention when it's bud opened last night. The plant had two other buds which were knocked off by the children before they matured.

Cresaptown Homemakers will meet tomorrow night instead of next week as originally planned.

LOCAL WEDDING PARTY—Leaving St. Mary's Catholic Church, Saturday morning, following their wedding are Mr. and Mrs. James B. Doyle and their attendants. They are Janet and Jean Andrews, flower girls; Miss Frances Trinite, Miss Jeanette Wolzyk, Baltimore, bridesmaids; Miss Mary Andrews, maid of honor; the bride, the former Miss Helen Andrews, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Andrews, 125 New Hampshire Avenue; the bridegroom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Doyle, Westminster; Louis Forte, usher; Carroll Doyle, best man and Frank Bartlett, usher.

Local Women Will Take Part In State Pythian Convention

The 40th annual convention of the Grand Temple of Maryland Pythian Sisters will be held in Baltimore tomorrow, Friday and Saturday, with Mrs. Genevieve M. Wagner, grand chief, city, as presiding officer. Mrs. Olive M. Britt, Baldwin Park, Calif., royal princess of the Pythian Sunshine Girls will be honor guest at all sessions.

Convention headquarters will be at the Emerson Hotel and all business sessions are to be held at the Pythian Castle, Charles and Preston Street.

Registrations of representatives with the credentials committee will be held Thursday from 5:30 until 8 p. m. The public opening exercises with an address by Mrs. Wagner and official greetings by Mayor D'Alesandro at Baltimore, will be held at 8, followed by a joint Memorial Service of the Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias and the Grand Temple of Pythian Sisters.

Representatives from the 18 subordinate temples of Maryland will attend the business sessions of the Grand Temple, Friday morning and afternoon with Mrs. Wagner presiding. The banquet, reception and dance is to be held at 6:30 in the rainbow room of the Pythian Castle, with Mrs. Wagner, grand chief; Clinton Easton, Baltimore, grand chancellor and representatives of the supreme council speaking.

Business will be resumed Saturday and officers will be elected and installed, with Mrs. Alma Ross, Smithburg, incoming grand chief. Installing officers appointed by Mrs. Wagner are Mrs. Edna Engle, Frostburg, acting supreme chief; Mrs. Nellie Miller, Lonaconing, acting supreme senior; and Mrs. Josephine Biggs, Ridgeley, acting supreme manager.

Attending from here besides Mrs. Wagner will be Mrs. Anna M. Jenkins, Mrs. Biggs, Mrs. Catherine Cheuvront, past supreme representatives; Mrs. Emma Alstetter, past grand chief; Mrs. Agnes Love, grand trustee; Mrs. Margaret Hixson, district deputy grand chief; Mrs. Marie Franklin, representative of Manhattan Temple, No. 8; Mrs. Thelma Poland and Mrs. Fae Lee Burner. Harry D. Wagner will accompany Mrs. Wagner to the convention.

The Weldermain Class of Centre Street Methodist Church will hold a covered dish supper at the home of Mrs. Harry Simpson, LaVale at 5:30 Friday.

YOU WOMEN WHO SUFFER HOT FLASHES then FEEL CHILLY-

Here's Good News!

Are you between the ages of 38 and 52 and going through that trying functional 'middle-age' period peculiar to women? Does this make you suffer from hot flashes, feel clammy, so nervous, irritable, weak? Then do try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms! It's famous for this!

Many wise 'middle-age' women take Pinkham's Compound regularly to help build up resistance against this distress.

Pinkham's Compound contains no opiates—no habit-forming drugs. It helps nature (you know what we mean!). This great medicine also has what Doctors call a stomachic tonic effect.

NOTE: Or you may prefer LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S TABLETS with added iron.

A marriage license application has been issued in Washington, D. C., to Richard Arrington, 22, Ridgeley, W. Va., and Mary Hart, 23, 4557 MacArthur Boulevard, N. W., Washington.

Don't forget the tops of closets and doors, tops of window frames, moldings, pictures and mirrors when you clean house. A monthly cleaning with soap and water will prevent embarrassment and eliminate the old-fashioned strenuous kind of semi-annual housecleaning.

Card Party Planned

A card party for the benefit of Boy Scout Troop 6, will be held tonight in SS. Peter and Paul hall, under the auspices of the Ursuline Alumnae. Play will begin at 8 o'clock and prizes will be awarded for bridge, 500 and setback. Refreshments will be served and a bake sale will be held. Players are asked to bring their own cards.

Mrs. Richard Shireman is chairman of the Refreshment committee, assisted by Mrs. J. Homer Wilson, Mrs. Samuel Drubeck, Mrs. Joseph Becker, Mrs. Eugene F. Close, Mrs. Louis Knight and Miss Ursula Lindner. Mrs. W. L. Keller will be in charge of bridge; Mrs. Frank Weisenmiller, 500 and Mrs. Vincent Lindner, set back.

Honored At Party

Mrs. Edwin W. Saylor was honor guest of members of the Amoma Bible Class of First Baptist Church at a farewell party and handkerchief shower, Monday night, at the church. Mrs. Saylor, who is an honorary member of the society and superintendent of the Junior department for the past 12 years, is leaving October 1 to reside in Baltimore, where Rev. Mr. Saylor has accepted the pastorate of Herford Baptist Church.

Mrs. J. E. Tritt, Miss Mary Moxley and Mrs. Jessie Deatalhauser were in charge of serving refreshments.

Others present were Mrs. Thomas Reynolds, Mrs. Elroy Fox, Mrs. W. A. Hannekamp, Harry Weaver, J. E. Tritt, Mrs. Arnold Turner, Mrs. M. Zonzalez, Mrs. Barbara Rexrode, Mrs. Earl Gross, Mrs. Carl Herpich, Mrs. Walter Alexander, Mrs. Leona Pullin and Mrs. Harper White.

"Lamia" is a poem by Keats of a young man who married a lamia (serpent) which had assumed the form of a beautiful woman.

"UNBLOCK" your DIGESTIVE TRACT

And Stop Dosing Your Stomach With Soda and Alkalizers

Don't expect to get real relief from headache, sour stomach, gas and bad breath by taking soda and other alkalizers if the true cause of your trouble is constipation.

In this case, your real trouble is not in the stomach at all. But in the intestinal tract where 80% of your food is digested. And when the lower part gets blocked food may fail to digest properly.

What you want for real relief is something to "unblock" your lower intestinal tract. Something to clean it out effectively—help Nature get back on her feet.

Get mild, gentle Carter's Pills right now. Take as directed. They gently and effectively "unblock" your digestive tract. This permits all 5 of Nature's own digestive juices to mix better with your food. You get genuine relief from indigestion so you can feel really good again.

Here's Good News!

Are you between the ages of 38 and 52 and going through that trying functional 'middle-age' period peculiar to women? Does this make you suffer from hot flashes, feel clammy, so nervous, irritable, weak? Then try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms! It's famous for this!

Many wise 'middle-age' women take Pinkham's Compound regularly to help build up resistance against this distress.

Pinkham's Compound contains no dynamite—no habit-forming drugs. It helps nature (you know what we mean!). This great medicine also has what Doctors call a stomachic tonic effect.

NOTE: Or you may prefer LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S TABLETS with added iron.

New CAA Rules To Be Effective Soon

Stringent new regulations for aircraft operation, particularly over congested areas, will become effective October 8, according to the Civil Aeronautics Administration.

The rules require pilots to fly higher over cities and towns than heretofore, and flight within 500 feet of an "person, vessel, vehicle or structure" is expressly forbidden.

Acrobatic flying is prohibited not only over settled areas, but also within any civil airway or control zone. Acrobatics are forbidden in any place when visibility is less than three miles or at an altitude lower than 1,500 feet.

Over cities, towns and settlements planes must be flown at an altitude of at least 1,000 feet above the highest obstacle within a horizontal radius of 2,000 feet from the aircraft. Old regulations specified merely a minimum of 1,000 feet above the ground in such areas.

Explanatory notes to the new rules point out that the practice of "buzzing" a farm, home, vehicle or vessel is "careless and reckless operation" of an aircraft.

Passing other aircraft too closely, carelessness in watching other traffic and flying too low are other examples of violations under the new code.

Regulations for the operation of aircraft on water are also included, conforming in general to the "Rules of the Road" for ships.

Some rules formerly confined to instrument flying now will become part of visual cross-country flight rules. Planes crossing control zones and control areas at altitudes of more than 3,000 feet above the surface, for example, must fly at specified odd or even-thousand-foot levels.

4-H Pig Show To Be October 7

Plans are being made for the annual 4-H Club pig show and sale, to be held October 7, at Cumberland Stockyards, Inc., Triple Lakes, McMullen Highway, according to Joseph M. Steger, assistant county farm agent.

About 75 pigs are entered in this year's 4-H Club hog raising project, Steger said, in an effort to interest young farmers in improving hog stock in the county.

Ural Bee, animal husbandry specialist of the University of Maryland, will come here to judge the animals. Judging will begin at 9 a. m., with prizes three classes, and premiums for first and second places. A grand champion and reserve champion will be selected among the pigs. In the afternoon, the hogs will be sold at auction and it is expected the sale will attract a large number of bidders, due to the current meat situation.

Each boy has been asked to keep a 4-H project book on the feeding and care of his pigs, and a prize will also be awarded, Steger said, for the best books.

Assault Case Moved To Juvenile Court

A hearing on an assault charge against Clyde Wilson, Oldtown, scheduled yesterday in Trial Magistrate's Court was ordered transferred to Juvenile Court. Vernon Wilson, also of Oldtown, preferred the charge as a result of an incident which occurred Sunday.

ORDNANCE COMPANY ORDERED ACTIVATED

Major Chauncy M. Sanner has been designated as commanding officer of Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 398th Ordnance Battalion, a sub-unit of the 208th Composite Group, Lt. Col. J. Leo Delaney announced yesterday.

Orders have been received from Second Army headquarters, Baltimore, concerning the activation of the ordnance group.

The same order which was published yesterday, states that Company G, 319th Infantry (Parachute) Company has been moved from Class C status to Class B status. The notice means that sufficient volunteer ERC has been signed to fill the cadre of the company and that 80 percent of the commissioned strength has been assigned to it.

The order was signed by Capt. Charles S. Catherman, adjutant of the 208th Composite Group.

Anti-Trust Trial Set

ATLANTA, Sept. 16—(AP)—Anti-trust charges against the Columbia Broadcasting System and Radio-Chain Owner George G. Storer, Detroit, have been set for trial October 27, after disputing counsel stalled hearings in federal court on a preliminary injunction to bar transfer of CBS affiliation from radio station WGST to an Atlanta competitor WAGA.

4-H Pig Show To Be October 7

Plans are being made for the annual 4-H Club pig show and sale, to be held October 7, at Cumberland Stockyards, Inc., Triple Lakes, McMullen Highway, according to Joseph M. Steger, assistant county farm agent.

About 75 pigs are entered in this year's 4-H Club hog raising project, Steger said, in an effort to interest young farmers in improving hog stock in the county.

Ural Bee, animal husbandry specialist of the University of Maryland, will come here to judge the animals. Judging will begin at 9 a. m., with prizes three classes, and premiums for first and second places. A grand champion and reserve champion will be selected among the pigs. In the afternoon, the hogs will be sold at auction and it is expected the sale will attract a large number of bidders, due to the current meat situation.

Each boy has been asked to keep a 4-H project book on the feeding and care of his pigs, and a prize will also be awarded, Steger said, for the best books.

Assault Case Moved To Juvenile Court

A hearing on an assault charge against Clyde Wilson, Oldtown, scheduled yesterday in Trial Magistrate's Court was ordered transferred to Juvenile Court. Vernon Wilson, also of Oldtown, preferred the charge as a result of an incident which occurred Sunday.

ORDNANCE COMPANY ORDERED ACTIVATED

Major Chauncy M. Sanner has been designated as commanding officer of Headquarters and Headquarters Detachment, 398th Ordnance Battalion, a sub-unit of the 208th Composite Group, Lt. Col. J. Leo Delaney announced yesterday.

Orders have been received from Second Army headquarters, Baltimore, concerning the activation of the ordnance group.

The same order which was published yesterday, states that Company G, 319th Infantry (Parachute) Company has been moved from Class C status to Class B status. The notice means that sufficient volunteer ERC has been signed to fill the cadre of the company and that 80 percent of the commissioned strength has been assigned to it.

The order was signed by Capt. Charles S. Catherman, adjutant of the 208th Composite Group.

Anti-Trust Trial Set

ATLANTA, Sept. 16—(AP)—Anti-trust charges against the Columbia Broadcasting System and Radio-Chain Owner George G. Storer, Detroit, have been set for trial October 27, after disputing counsel stalled hearings in federal court on a preliminary injunction to bar transfer of CBS affiliation from radio station WGST to an Atlanta competitor, WAGA.

PCA Will Launch Drive To Reduce Cost Of Living

A drive against the rising cost of living in Western Maryland was launched last night at the organizational meeting of the Cumberland chapter of the Progressive Citizens of America.

Officers of the group will be Dr. Robert T. Kerlin, chairman; Rev Richard H. Bready, vice chairman; Mrs. Diana Fisk, secretary, and Raymond H. Wills, treasurer.

Named to the executive board were Jean N. Bourckel, Railway Trainmen; John F. Chisholm, Rubber Workers Union. The third member of the board was left open.

Dr. Kerlin said the group regards the rising cost of living, particularly in regard to food costs, today's major problem. The average family in Cumberland, he added, is existing on a subsistence diet and in many homes meat is a luxury served only once a week.

We are launching, he said, a program to involve every wage earner and housewife in Cumberland in the fight against high prices and in a drive for a special session of Congress to re-establish price controls. He added the group favors smoke control.

The PCA chapter hailed the action of the Western Maryland Labor Unity Conference in its campaign to bring Henry Wallace to Cumberland.

The program committee includes Mrs. Evelyn Coleman, Retail Clerks Union; Mrs. Madah Topson, NAACP, Mrs. Eva Williams and Mrs. Fiske.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Girl Disagrees With Miss Fairfax On Subject Of Kissing

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

One of my younger readers—she is 21 and about to graduate from college—disagrees vehemently with me on the subject of kisses. She says that she knows from reading my column that I consider kissing cheap. She definitely does not, and I must say her letter makes out quite a good case for her point of view.

This is what she says.

"I was always a shy youngster and had never even kidded around with boys until I was 17. I had my first date at the late age of 19, so you can see that I really missed that adolescent stage of necking and dating.

"Lately, however, the last three fellows I have met at dances have all tried to kiss me after our very first meeting. Being a very romantic type of person, A allowed them to do this merely because I love being kissed and being held in someone's arms. I never take their kisses seriously or mean anything by mine.

"To me, a kiss is an enjoyable and harmless gesture, if not overdone. I see no reason for turning away a kiss merely because it is considered good technique to do so I think it very foolish advice to keep your kisses for the man you love and intend to marry. I thought that once, but saw all the fun one can miss by taking kisses so seriously. I think my war-cry is 'You're only young once!' and I am quite certain I shall find being any old maid school teacher not quite so distasteful if I have a stock of beautiful youthful dreams to remember. That, I think, is the main reason I'm such an easy target for a kiss. Do you think me foolish or wrong, Miss Fairfax?

"Since I have no steady boy friend, should I deny myself the opportunity of feeling the satisfaction that comes when you're being kissed and made to feel like a human being? Shouldn't I make the most of what youth has to offer and take advantage of all the opportunities of storing up memories? What advantages are there in turning down kisses and necking just because they are not 'good technique' and finding yourself left with nothing but regrets and a depressed personality?

"I have often wondered whether it was natural and normal for me to enjoy being kissed and hugged by fellows I am not at all afraid or shy about it, even with strangers.

Now let's take up that last paragraph first and assure the writer of this letter that it is perfectly natural and perfectly normal for her to enjoy this type of attention. But let us say, too, that it might be wiser if she practiced a little discrimination as to whom she accepts them from. If she is, as she puts it, such an "easy target for a kiss," that she is ready at any time for kisses, even from strangers, something is very likely to happen some day that will completely wreck the easy-going philosophy expressed in her letter.

Possibly this correspondent has taken what I have said about kissing a little more rigidly than I intended. I have nothing against a casual good-night kiss between a boy and a girl. That is taken for granted these days. But I have a great deal against the type of kissing and petting in which many young people indulge today, which is a very dangerous form of playing with fire.

If all young men felt about kissing and petting as this young woman feels, it would be a different matter. Unfortunately, they rarely do, and what to her may be a pleasant and meaningless gesture, which she can make and let it go at that, may have an entirely different effect upon them.

It is perfectly true that any girl wants to feel that she is desirable, and I think this one is undoubtedly right in her contention that it would be a sad thing to grow up without having had that experience. But personally, I don't think that the boys are going to like her any better because she is willing to be 'an easy target.'

If she enjoys it, however, and if she is confident that she will always be able to handle any situation that may arise, that is up to her. I would be very interested, however, to hear from this girl, say five years from now, and have her tell me whether or not her point of view is still the same.

Man Defaults Fine For Drunk Driving

A Martinsburg, Pa., driver was committed to the County Jail in default of $112.90 in fines, after he had been found guilty of drunken and reckless driving by Magistrate Frank A. Perdew in Trial Magistrates' Court.

Edward P. Gartland was arrested Monday night at 11:30 after his car ran off the road on to a lawn of the home in the 1900 block of Bedford Street. City Officers J. C. Stouffer and J. W. Brown apprehended the man.

Magistrate Perdew fined the man $101.45 for driving an automobile under the influence of alcohol and $11.45 for reckless driving. He received a jail sentence of 50 days in default of payment of the fines.

James S. Keer, Route 1, forfeited $6.45 for exceeding 30 miles per hour in LaVale on September 12. He was arrested by State Trooper Harry S. Bosley.

Two men picked up by city officers early yesterday are being held for investigation in City Jail. They are Frank Hamilton, Grantsville, and Matthew M. Dolly, Route 2, this city.

In Police Court yesterday, Jacob Sandvic, Eckhart, booked on a disorderly conduct charge by Officers Stouffer and Brown at 12:20 a. m. yesterday, forfeited $10 bond. Two drunks were fined $5 each and another was given a suspended sentence. Five persons charged with parking violations forfeited $1.

Police also booked Edward Wisnemki, 320 Furnace Street, on a disorderly conduct charge. His trial was set for Friday morning.

Two Men Enlist In Regular Army

Capt. Laurence M. Bairstow, detachment commander of the local Army Recruiting station, announced yesterday that two Garrett County men signed for duty with the 82nd Airborne Division for three years. They were Thomas Herbert Davis, and James Robert O'Haver, both of Swanton.

More than 9,000 new books are brought out each year.

Dairies Face Prospect Of Milk Shortage

A milk shortage may face local lairies unless they meet the demands of members of the Tri-State Milk Producers Association for increased prices of milk furnished by members of the association.

About 150 dairy farmers, meeting Monday night in the LaVale Fire Hall, named a committee to contact management of local dairies to request a price increase for their milk and voted to withhold milk if the increase is not met.

O. C. Hepner, Fort Ash , W. Va., association secretary, said the group is not considering a mil stoppage but is insisting on a fair return for the milk they produce. He cited increases in the cost of feed, which now costs $100 or more per ton, stating that dairy farmers seek a reasonable profit over production c ts.

Hepner said a rumor that the group is asking for a 70 cent per hundred pounds of milk increase is not true, but that the TSMPA does want the equivalent of a living wage.

Man Defaults Fine For Drunk Driving

A Martinsburg, Pa., driver was committed to the County Jail in default of $112.90 in fines, after he had been found guilty of drunken and reckless driving by Magistrate Frank A. Perdew in Trial Magistrates' Court.

Edward P. Gartland was arrested Monday night at 11:30 after his car ran off the road on to a lawn of the home in the 1900 block of Bedford Street. City Officers J. C. Stouffer and J. W. Brown apprehended the man.

Magistrate Perdew fined the man $101.45 for driving an automobile under the influence of alcohol and $11.45 for reckless driving. He received a jail sentence of 30 days in default of payment of the fines.

James S. Keer, Route 1, forfeited $6.45 for exceeding 30 miles per hour in LaVale on September 12. He was arrested by State Trooper Harry S. Bosley.

Two men picked up by city officers early yesterday are being held for investigation in City Jail. They are Frank Hamilton, Grantsville, and Matthew M. Dolly, Route 2, this city.

In Police Court yesterday, Jacob Sandvic, Eckhart, booked on a disorderly conduct charge by Officers Stouffer and Brown at 12:20 a. m. yesterday, forfeited $10 bond. Two drunks were fined $5 each and another was given a suspended sentence. Five persons charged with parking violations forfeited $1.

Police also booked Edward Wisnemki, 320 Furnace Street, on a disorderly conduct charge. His trial was set for Friday morning.

Two Men Enlist In Regular Army

Capt. Laurence M. Bairstow, detachment commander of the local Army Recruiting station, announced yesterday that two Garrett County men signed for duty with the 82nd Airborne Division for three years. They were Thomas Herbert Davis, and James Robert O'Haver, both of Swanton.

More than 9,000 new books are brought out each year.

Baering Down On The News

Whole hog or none is jumping like a bad tooth. If corn goes any higher it looks like none.

The estimable Hank Wallace ploughed them under because he wanted to play croquet with their curly tails. Too very bad that Hank didn't mark their resting places so he could dig them up.

You cannot feed two-dollar-and-sixty-cent corn to livestock and give the nubbins to the city boarders. They are afraid wheat will go to four dollars a bushel. Well, it was always cheaper to be invited out than to eat home.

The experts say that rye is steady. It never was when I was inking it.

Dairies Face Prospect Of Milk Shortage

A milk shortage may face local lairies unless they meet the demands of members of the Tri-State Milk Producers Association for increased prices of milk furnished by members of the association.

About 150 dairy farmers, meeting Monday night in the LaVale Fire Hall, named a committee to contact management of local dairies to request a price increase for their milk and voted to withhold milk if the increase is not met.

O. C. Hepner, Fort Ash[illegible], W. Va., association secretary, said the group is not considering a mil stoppage but is insisting on a fair return for the milk they produce. He cited increases in the cost of feed, which now costs $100 or more per ton, stating that dairy farmers seek a reasonable profit over production c[illegible]s.

Hepner said a rumor that the group is asking for a 70 cent per hundred pounds of milk increase is not true, but that the TSMPA does want the equivalent of a living wage.

Ditches Boost Muskrat Crop

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Digging ditches in marshes — but not for drainage to fit the land for cultivation—may be the most profitable way of developing such wet lands, says the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The level ditches with no outlets make the water deeper in some places and shallower elsewhere. This has proved favorable for muskrats—particularly in cold climates where shallow water freezes solid. The deeper water in the ditches keeps muskrats and other marsh dwellers safe and well fed in cold weather.

A Soil Conservation Service analysis of costs and profits of several muskrat marshes in Wisconsin ditched in this way by power machinery showed that muskrat production more than doubled. The soil removed from the ditches and piled on the banks provided good sites for muskrat dens. Trapping was easier and took less time.

One thousand acres of marsh which had been making a net income averaging less than $1,200 after allowing expenses and interest on investment, increased to more than $4,000 a year after the ditches were dug. The added profit for two seasons more than paid the expense of the improvement of the marsh.

Public Curiosity Frets Dutch Royalty

SOESTIDIJK, The Netherlands—(AP)—"We just never can have a nice holiday," sighed Princess Beatrix, eldest daughter of Crown Princess Juliana and Prince Bernhard, when hundreds of inquisitive holiday makers put an abrupt end to their visit to the seaside resort of Katwijk.

At home the three little princesses had planned a nice day off to the seaside with a swim, the building of a sand fortress and a picnic. In the beginning they had great fun, but soon holiday makers noticed the little group, leaving them hardly a squire yard of beach or sea.

Princess Juliana urged the intruders to leave her children alone but to no avail and the crown princess was forced to break up the seaside visit.

Guam Navy School Trains 10,000

GUAM—(AP)—Ten thousand sailors have comleted schooling in the Navy's fleet training center here since the first of the year. In number of men trained, Guam's arm of the naval training program is second only to San Pedro, Calif., according to Capt. Roger W. Simpson, USN, commander of training groups in the Western Pacific.

Courses here have included fire fighting, gunnery, submarine warfare and phone and radio operation.

GI Flyers May Get Break In Germany

BERLIN (AP) — Private flying may be permitted for Americans in the U. S. zone of Germany, when adequate security measures have been established, Glynne M. Jones, chief of the civil aviation section of the American Military Government's Armed Forces Division, said.

Numerous Americans purchased light planes when they were declared surplus by the Army and stored them in anticipation of the day when they would be allowed to fly over Germany and Europe.

Canned Dog Food Makes Comeback

NEW YORK (AP)—Canned dog food is starting a comeback after a complete absence during the war, when cans were urgently needed for other purposes, according to a national survey made for American Can Co.

The survey, which covered 5,950 families throughout the country on farms and in cities of all sizes, indicates that there are appoximately 664,000 dogs who are now being fed balanced diets of canned dog food. In addition, the survey discloses that about 2,800,000 other dog owners say they intend to start giving their pets the canned food they enjoyed before the war. Government estimates of pre-war sales ran as high as 600,000,000 units a year.

The total number of dogs in the United States was estimated at 17,700,000. Two out of every three farm families were found to have dogs as compared with only one out of every five city dwellers.

Marriage Columns Popular In Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—Perhaps the most popular newspaper advertising columns in Berlin are the "marriage bids" in the Russian-licensed tabloid Nacht Express.

One reason for their popularity are advertisements like this one which appeared recently: "poor devil, 22 years old, seeks rich angel: purpose marriage."

In another advertisement a woman who describes herself as "young, vivacious, charming, energetic, independent" makes a bid to find a man of "noble character; no commonplace man or bureaucrat."

Copra Wasting In New Guinea

AUCKLAND, New Zealand—(AP)—Copra, for which Britain is paying $97 a ton in Fiji, has been reported rotting on the ground in New Guinea because of labor shortage.

R. T. Bruce, papuan plantation manager, says New Guineans received large sums as war damage reparations. The money, however, is beginning to run out and New Guineans are gradually resuming work, he said.

Horse Makes Hero Of Girl Who Can't Swim

HYRUM, Utah—(AP)—Jerry Nielsen, 16-year-old Hyrum girl can't swim, but she's a capable horsewoman, so she was able to save her friend, Dean Baxter, 17, from drowning.

Baxter was thrown into Hyrum dam when the bank on which he and Jerry were riding gave way. Heavy boots made it almost impossible for him to swim.

The girl rode her mount into the water and swam the animal to Baxter's side, pulling the youth into the saddle after he had gone under twice.

Airplanes Control French Locusts

BORDEAUX—(AP)—Planes spraying fields from 10 feet above the ground were used in fighting a plague of locusts ravaging maize and millet crops in the Gironde region of western France.

A small fleet of planes, lent the agricultural service by the Hourtin Military Aviation Base, killed 90 percent of locusts in areas where they were used, agricultural authorities reported.

Swamp Fever Is Expensive

By C. V. BURNS

One of the features of the 12-12 tie game between the Bedford Bisons and the Somerset Eagles last Friday night was Mike Williams' long touchdown gallop in the first period. The Bedford halfback hauled in a Somerset pass on his own 15 and scampered 85 yards to the scoring zone.

Somerset, which plays Allegany here Saturday, made its initial touchdown when Dick Ash took a reverse and scored after a 50-yard jaunt. Don Rosabaugh's 31 yard end run set the stage for the touchdown that tied the score. Don Albright's pass t Paul Shrock in the end zone knotted the count at 12-all in the final period.

Bedford plays LaSalle here October 17.

The League of Maryland Sportsmen, Inc., disapproves what it terms the "high-handed manner" in which the board of commissioners of the Department of Game and Inland Fish promulgated several new regulations regarding game without what the league charges "due consideration of the opinions of the sportsmen of the state."

The September issue of the league's rally sheet carries an editorial setting forth the protest of the league in behalf of its members.

In spite of the league's criticism we earnestly believe that the commission's actions are for the betterment of the sport.

In appreciation of his fine work on the half milers this summer, the Maryland Racing Commission named John Turner, Jr., as third steward at Marlboro which is now holding its 10-day race meeting. Turner served his first term as racing secretary at Fairgo this year.

One of Maryland's youngest pro golfers is Johnny Bruff, 18, who becomes assistant pro to Bob Barnett at the Chevy Chase Club near Washington, D. C. Bruff was graduated from Calvert Hall High School, Baltimore, several months ago.

The National Boxing Association at its convention in Montreal the other day adopted a resolution recommending the elimination of immediate return title fights in case a champion loses to a challenger.

This means that when a challenger wins the title from the champion, the new champion shall defend within six months against the next leading contender, instead of against the ex-champion as has been the custom for years.

The resolution, considered a progressive step, was aimed at abolishing series of title fights between two men—series that can "freeze" a title for two or more years.

The current series between Graziano and Zale was the immediate inspiration for the resolution.

Local amateur promoters have a penchant for re-matches. If they weren't halted last season they would have turned the sport into one of those Shaughnessy playoffs.

The horsemen are griping again. Reports from Wheeling indicate they will demand a 30 per cent increase in purses.

Mervin Trail, the youthful scorekeeper, is different than most other scorers. He goes back and forth to games on his bicycle.

He says Abe is one of the squarest shooters in the sport.

Tee Hubert, who was scheduled to fight Tommy Yarosz in Pittsburgh last night, was first mentioned as being from New York. Then Philadelphia was given as his home and finally Washington, D. C. Looks like nobody wants the guy.

Pro football teams are padding their attendance figures this season. The Cleveland-Buffalo figures were announced as 63,000 but was under 55,000 according to Cleveland papers. The Colts-Dodgers game in Baltimore was supposed to have attracted 27,000 but it was closer to 17,000. One writer says:

"Ten thousand per game seems to be the 'cushion' the All-American Conference is using to impress the sports world with its drawing power."

Swamp fever is now hitting the pocketbooks of jockeys.

Stewards at Garden State Park track in New Jersey have posted the following ruling:

"Jockeys coming from New England race tracks to Garden State Park will not be permitted to bring on the premises, riding boots, tack or other equipment used in said areas."

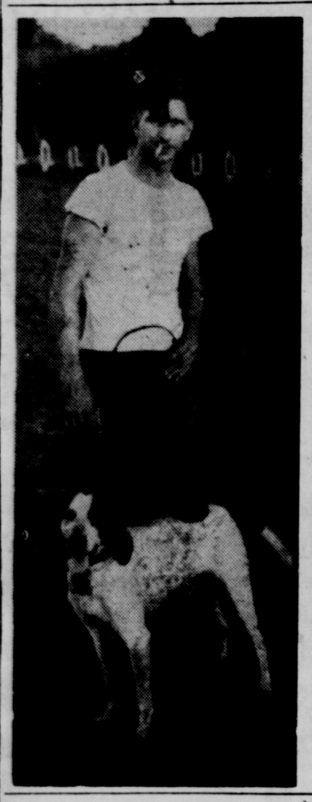

Maryland, New York and other circuits are expected to issue similar rulings.

Jockeys leaving Narragansett will run into quite a hardship as riding gear is not only expensive but there is a scarcity of saddles and other pieces of equipment.

Action of the Garden State stewards was prompted by a report that swamp fever is transmitted by instruments, unsterilized syringes, currycombs, blankets, saddles, etc.

Walter "Pete" Cook, venerable playing manager of the Hyndman Firemen, denies the report that two Spanish-American war veterans, who once played on the same team with him, congratulated him after he walloped a two-run homer over the fence at the Westernport ball park last Sunday.

And "Pete" emphasizes the fact that he hit the homer in Sunday's game and not his son, Bob, who plays on the same team and usually tees off for four sacks.

Beard, Squires, Fisher To Pitch Gobbler Passes

Burns Of Hyndman Starts At Center

By ROBERT MOORE

BLACKBURG, Va., Sept. 16 (AP) — Even before the 1947 football season actually gets under way, the Virginia Tech Gobblers have made history.

The Gobblers, who long have looked to power for their gridiron maneuvering, are taking to the air and during the coming campaign probably will depend more on their passing attack than anything else in an effort to better last year's record of three victories, three defeats and as many ties.

Hyndman Is Represented

The list of other backfield prospects is sprinkled with more lettermen, among them Ray Beasley, of Richmond, Va.; co-captain Bobby Smith, of Charlottesville, Va.; Dick Deshazo, of Roanoke, Va.; Tony Kujawa, of Monessen, Pa.; H. L. Pearce, of Hampton, Va.; Dave Thomas, of Bristol, Va., and Bobby Webb, of Ashland, Ky.

The center position undoubtedly will be assigned to Tom Burns, 191-pound junior from Hyndman, Pa. Scrapping for the job of understudying Burns are Pat Denardo, 185-pound junior from Bluefield, W. Va., and Kitts' son, Jimmy, Jr., 180-pound sophomore.

Kitts singled out these 15 reasons—all lettermen—as to why he doesn't think he has any sleepless nights coming up over his ends, tackles and guards:

ENDS—Jim Adams, of Cleveland Ohio; Oren Hopkins and Gerry Zekert, of Norfolk, Va.; John Kroehling, of Springfield, N. J.

TACKLES—Frank Ballard, of Oxford, N. C.; Bob Hess, of Charleston, W. Va.; Jack Ittner and Gus Mengulas, of Richmond, Va.; Ross Orr, of Chatham Hill, Va.; R. E. Johnson, of Kingsport, Tenn.

GUARDS—Co-captain Bill Barbour, of Wayne, W. Va.; Coy Chambers, of Kingsport, Tenn.; Jack Cooke, All-Stater last year from New Kensington, Pa.; Carl Leonard, of Big Stone Gap, Va.; Robert Taylor, of Winchester, Va.

To Play Nine Games

September 27—Furman at Blacksburg, Va.

October 4—Virginia at Roanoke, Va.; 11—William and Mary at Richmond, Va.; 18—Army at Army; 25—Maryland at Blacksburg, Va. (homecoming); 31—George Washington at Washington, D. C., (night).

November 8—Washington and Lee at Lynchburg, Va.; 15—University of Richmond at Blacksburg, Va.; 27—Virginia Military Institute at Roanoke, Va.

Kramer Beats Pails In Exhibition Match

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 (INS)—National singles champion Jack Kramer stopped Dinny Pails of Australia 9-7, 6-4 today in their feature singles match of a benefit exhibition tennis program at Chicago's Saddle and Cycle Club.

A throng of 4,000 saw Australian Colin Long gain revenge by tripping Bobby Brown of San Francisco, 6-3, 6-2 in the other singles debate.

Brown and Kramer then joined forces and defeated Long and Pails 6-3, 6-4, in a doubles exhibition.

GERDEMAN WINS TOSS, AMVETS AND HYNDMAN CLASH HERE SUNDAY

Manager Norman Gerdeman won the toss and the Cumberland Amvets will play hosts to the Hyndman (Pa.) Firemen in the opening game of the best-of three series for the championship of the Bi-State Baseball League on Sunday at 3:30 p. m. at Community Park.

The second game will be staged in Hyndman on Sunday September 28 and the site for the third and deciding game, if necessary will be decided by the flip of a coin and will be played Sunday, October 5.

The Amvets will practice today, Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 4:45 p. m. at Community Park.

Manager Gerdeman says he will have "Lefty" Lauber, "Boots" Poffenberger and Lecorcheck available to pitch in Sunday's game but is undecided which of the three will start.

Bob Feller Wins As Indians Split

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16 (AP)—A seven-run rally in the seventh inning of the nightcap gave the Philadelphia Athletics a 7-3 win over the Cleveland Indians today and a split in the doubleheader to keep alive flickering hopes of a first-division berth. Cleveland copped the first game 5-3, and at the end of the day's proceedings held a 3½ game edge on the Mackmen.

Joe Gordon hit two home runs and a single in the opener to help Bob Feller to his 19th win of the season. George Metkovich also chipped in with a circuit swat.

The split in the doubleheader gave the teams an even break at 11 games each for the season. Box:

Averages Show Dodgers, Yanks Evenly Matched

Brooklyn Conceded World Series Edge

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service
Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (INS) — The Yanks and Dodgers of 1947 are by no means the greatest teams that ever appeared in a world series.

On the other hand, no world series ever showed two teams more evenly matched — at least on paper.

The latest available batting averages show the Dodgers hitting .276 and the Yanks .273, a difference hardly worth mentioning.

The latest fielding averages give the Yanks .981 and the Dodgers .978.

The Dodgers have staged 156 double plays and the Yanks 142. The Yanks have a slight edge in scoring runs, 760 to 725.

Eight Hits Difference

And over the season's play through Sunday last the Yanks had made 1341 hits and the Dodgers 1333.

You could hardly hope to find two teams more evenly matched than those figures indicate that they are.

And taking them position by position you find them remarkably even throughout the line-up. Take note:

DODGERS		YANKS
Stanky	.252	2b. Stirnweiss	.254
Robinson	.301	1b. McQuinn	.304
Reiser	.308	cf. DiMaggio	.321
Walker	.314	rf. Henrich	.286
Hermanski	.281	lf. Lindell	.286
Jorgensen	.278	3b. Johnson	.294
Edwards	.296	c Berra	.288
		or Robinson	.270
Reese	.296	ss. Rizzuto	.275

The Dodgers seem to have an edge on speed and they have the more powerful reserve strength in Vaughn .331, Lavagetto .290 and Miskis .267.

Pitchers May Decide

The Dodgers, of course, have nobody to match Joe Page as a relief pitcher and the Yankee lefthander might very well be the deciding margin in a series which figures to give the pitchers rougher treatment than they usually get in the fall classic.

Pitching always decides these affairs. The club with two men at their peak can win. The White Sox when they were known as the nitless wonders, once trimmed a great Cub team led by Frank Chance, merely on pitching.

The Braves of 1914 took four straight from a great team of Connie Mack's on the pitching of Rudolph, Tyler and James.

In a short series anything can happen. Even one great pitcher can win for his team. As for instance, the year Christy Matthewson of the Giants scored three shutouts against the Athletics.

The Yanks have Reynolds, Newsom, Shea and Reschi to toss at the Dodgers who will counter with Branca, Lombardi, Taylor and Hatten.

Page May Be Difference

Your guess is as good as anybody's as to how well or how poorly any of those pitchers will go on any given day. If they all get their bumps, I'd be inclined to string with the Yanks because of the relief pitching of Joe Page.

On the other hand, the Dodgers are hot right now and I always like to string with a hot team. So without further ado I crawl right out on a limb and pick the Dodgers to win in a knock-down and drag-out series.

Baltimore Selects Sports Arena Site

BALTIMORE, Sept. 16 — (AP) — Mayor D'Alesandro's stadium committee today select ' the site of the present arena at 33rd St. to be the location of Baltimore's new sports arena.

The group earlier had recommended three possible locations to the major. In addition to the one chosen today, they included Clifton Park and Herring Run Park.

A loan of $2,500,000 was approved earlier this year for the construction of a municipal stadium.

The pileated woodpecker has been nominated as Minnesota's state bird.

All-Stars Of Two Loops Play For Leith Benefit

Softball Battle Set For Today At 6 P. M.

All-Star teams of the City and Rocking Chair softball leagues will clash today at 6 p. m. at Community Park in a game being played for the benefit of George Leith, well known Cumberland umpire, who is recuperating at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, following a recent brain operation.

Four umpires are donating their services and Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, is donating the use of the park.

Leith umpired in both leagues and his many friends are expected to attend the game to help swell the fund, every cent of which will go toward defraying hospital expenses for the popular arbiter.

The three top pitchers in each league are expected to perform.

Money raised at the game will be presented to Mrs. Annie Leith, wife of the stricken umpire, at the end of the fifth inning, according to John R. Kelly, Jr., secretary of the City Softball League.

The following all-stars of both circuits are eligible to participate:

TWO INDICTED FOR ATTEMPTING TO FIX CHARLES TOWN RACE

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., Sept. 16 — (AP) — The Jefferson County Grand Jury today indicted Peter Del Pozzo, of Baltimore and New York, and Jockey Patrick Connolly on charges of attempting to fix a horse race at the local track Dec. 18, 1945.

Assistant Prosecutor James F. Mason, III, said warrants for arrest of the two men have been issued. He said Connolly was reported to be racing at Narragansett.

The prosecutor said the two accused offered Jockeys Elmer Wright and Webster Snyder $100 to pull their horses in the seventh race. He reported the offer was refused and Snyder's mount copped the race.

Spencer J. Drayton of the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Association announced in New York on March 17 that Del Pozzo had been arrested on a Tampa (Fla.) warrant charging him with attempting to fix a race at Sunshine Park on Feb. 13.

Tampa authorities reported Del Pozzo was acquitted of the charges in criminal court on July 14 and he returned to Brooklyn.

Mason said representatives of the association had assisted in obtaining evidence on which the Jefferson jury based its indictments.

Conviction on the West Virginia charges carries a prison sentence of one to three years and/or $1,000 fine.

Minter To Design Ocean Downs Project

S. Russ Minter, local architect, has returned from a hearing before the Maryland Racing Commission at Baltimore, where he appeared for the Ocean Downs Racing Association, Inc., which has made application for a million-dollar half mile harness racing track, three and one-half miles from Ocean City. The track is to be known as Ocean Downs.

Minter had been engaged to design the track, barns, grandstand and all other buildings and areas in connection with the proposed project. Minter estimates the project will cost $515,950 and that plans for future development are estimated to cost another $500,000.

The project, according to Minter, is to be financed almost entirely by Western Shore capital.

The Dodgers Serve Notice

Where only a miracle, double and redoubled, can keep them away from the pennant, the Dodgers are now in the act of serving a number of notices.

Their opening notice is to be served shortly against the New York Yankees in the world series.

Their second notice will be served later against the seven other teams in the National League, who, at the moment, look to be far away from the Dodgers of 1948, by which date youth and speed and hustle will be further bolstered up by the experience drawn from a great campaign.

Almost every expert I talked with last spring picked the Dodgers to take over the pennant situation in 1948 and later years. They figured the Cardinals had too much stuff for 1947. But as it happened, the Cardinals were on their way over the hill, all summer long.

They still had courage and experience, plus fading skill, but they were an old team getting older, where the fire of the past was fading. One answer is that the Dodgers whipped them five out of the last six games played in St. Louis, and this was the knife in the heart.

What makes the Dodgers? For one thing, in addition to skill and all-around ability, they have sport's most essential quality — a thing known as youth. Youth is a mighty factor in any game where you have to run and throw—where arms and legs always play leading roles.

The Dodgers are a young team. From Ralph Branca at 21 they have very few regulars above 28. Their average age is around 25. It so happens that two of their veterans, Walker and Vaughan, are among the best hitters on the club.

A young ball club is sure to be jittery and inconsistent at times. The young Dodgers drew a big break in getting Barney Shotton who knows how to handle youth, to calm it down, to lift it up, to keep it from sinking. Ask all the young ballplayers who came up under Shotton in other years. Ask Eddie Dyer, one of his pupils.

There were times when his young team was shocked, stunned and almost on its heels, but Shotton never was. Time and again the Cardinals came surging up, only to hit the Dodger reef and fall back. They finally struck and went back at the last series against too much youth.

For all that, it took a game, good ball club to keep this Cardinal squad in check, for while fading out, over the hill, it still had more than a few able ballplayers, ably led. Into the stretch it had nothing left to meet the killing advantage of the Dodgers' younger years.

Only middle age in sport knows what youth, with its mocking memory, once meant.

The Team Above The Star

It is always true that certain outstanding individual stars get the big money in baseball. Bob Feller—Ted Williams—Hal Newhouser—Joe DiMaggio—Hank Greenberg.

But it is the team that wins. Look at Brooklyn's batting averages — most of them have been hitting from .290 to .320. Vaughan, Reiser, Walker and Furillo have been their .300 hitters, with Robinson, Edwards, Reese and Jorgenson not so far away. Stanky, their weakest hitter around .255, makes up for his poor batting in many other ways.

It was Arky Vaughan, the veteran, who told me over two months ago: "It doesn't make much difference what substitutes we throw in — the substitute is generally just as good as the regular. They are all pretty well on a level — but it's a pretty high level."

This was proved when a loud wail arose from Brooklyn homes as Pee Wee Reese was hurt. Stan Rojek took his place and was one of the stars of the league.

Reserves and replacement strength have been a big factor in Brooklyn's biggest year. The Dodgers haven't needed any outstanding stars. At home and on the road they will draw over 3,500,000 spectators this season, without a single standout as a hitter or a pitcher. Again the team stands out over the star.

Jackie Robinson has been voted the best rookie of the year — and this seems to be a sound selection. He has been an all-around performer, far above the average. For a rookie under heavy pressure, the former U.C.L.A. all-star athlete has been a big factor in Brooklyn's success. It is difficult to name any member of the Dodger team above other entries — further proof of team value.

This may make it difficult to pick and Dodger as the most valuable player of the year. We have no idea what this selection will be in the National League—Johnny Mize—Walker Cooper—Ralph Kiner—Ewell Blackwell — Larry Jansen — Harry Walker — Dutch Leonard — what difference does it make since the Dodgers have had many more valuable players than any other team.

And National League teams might think over the matter that in 1948 the Dodgers should be much stronger than they are today — which means a 12 or 15-game advantage, unless other National League teams improve close to 50 per cent. They are not going to be close enough to see Dodger dust, with the material they have on hand today.

Tommy Lynn, 105, St. Mary's A.C., won on technical knockout over Junior Payne, 104, Royale A.C., in 1:36 of the second round. Referee "Red" Bush stopped the fight after Payne had been floored for the count of eight and was in a groggy condition after arising.

Elmer Rothrock, 152, Lewistown (Pa.) A.C., won unanimous decision over Charles Burnett, colored, 155, Keystate A.C., of Central City, Pa.

George Kondas, 124, Windber, Pa., representing the Keystate A.C., of Central City, knocked out Louis Brannon, 124, Lewistown (Pa.) A.C. in 1:02 of the second round.

Roy Rawlings, 147, St. Mary's A.C., won split decision over Jack Klosterman, 147, Diamond A.C.

Brian Holsopple, 146, Windber, representing the Keystate A.C., knocked out Homer Boone, 146, Lewistown (Pa.) A.C. in 1:28 of the third round.

Eddie Marsh, 122, Windber, representing the Keystate A.C., won on technical knockout over Frankie Lisanti, 122, St. Mary's A.C., in 1:04 of second round. Lisanti was overmatched and Referee Jack Rorick stopped the bout and declared Marsh the winner.

Clarence Jenkins, 136, St. Mary's A.C., won unanimous decision over Paul Lepley, 136, Diamond A.C.

Brooklyn Beats Reds 7-3, Branca Scores 21st Win

Bruce Edwards' 3-Run Double Is Big Blow

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16—(INS)—Brooklyn's wondrous Dodgers swept to their fourth straight triumph today in nailing the Reds 7 to 3. Two more Dodger victories and two St. Louis defeats will put the "Atom Bums" into the world series.

In taking their 11th consecutive game from the Redlegs, the Dodgers counted three in the first inning and were never headed thereafter. Bruce Edwards' three-run double was the big blow of the frame.

Gene Hermanski's seventh-inning home run aided Ralph Branca as the big righthander notched his 21st win of the year. Bucky Walters was the loser. Box:

PHILS WHIP PIRATES

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 16—(AP)—The Philadelphia Phils bounced out of the National League cellar today as Blix Donnelly scattered nine Pittsburgh hits to beat the Pirates, 2-1 before 2,568 fans.

An unearned run by Charley Gilbert in the fourth, and another by Del Ennis in the eighth, with the aid of an error and two walks, gave Donnelly his victory.

Mel Queen, who retired the first 10 Phils in order, was charged with the defeat, giving up the winning run when he walked Ennis across the plate. Box:

FRANKIE SINKWICH DECIDES TO RETIRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—(AP)—Frank Sinkwich, former All-American back at Georgia, has asked the New York Football Yankees to place him on the voluntary retired list because of a knee injury, Dan Topping, president of the All-America Conference team, said tonight.

The one-time flash of the gridiron conferred with Coach Ray Flaherty after the Yanks defeated the Dons in Los Angeles Friday night and decided to retire at least for the 1947 season

Bison Gallops 85 Yards

LMS Blasts Commission

NBA Opposed To "Series"

Swamp Fever Is Expensive

By C. V. BURNS

One of the features of the 12-12 tie game between the Bedford Bisons and the Somerset Eagles last Friday night was Mike Williams' long touchdown gallop in the first period. The Bedford halfback hauled in a Somerset pass on his own 15 and scampered 85 yards to the scoring zone.

Somerset, which plays Allegany here Saturday, made its initial touchdown when Dick Ash took a reverse and scored after a 50-yard jaunt. Don Rosabaugh's 21 yard end run set the stage for the touchdown that tied the score. Don Albright's pass t Paul Shrock in the end zone knotted the count at 12-all in the final period.

Bedford plays LaSalle here October 17.

The League of Maryland Sportsmen, Inc., disapproves what it terms the "high-handed manner" in which the board of commissioners of the Department of Game and Inland Fish promulgated several new regulations regarding game without what the league charges "due consideration of the opinions of the sportsmen of the state."

The September issue of the league's rally sheet carries an editorial setting forth the protest of the league in behalf of its members.

In spite of the league's criticism we earnestly believe that the commission's actions are for the betterment of the sport.

In appreciation of his fine work on the half milers this summer, the Maryland Racing Commission named John Turner, Jr., as third steward at Marlboro which is now holding its 10-day race meeting. Turner served his first term as racing secretary at Fairgo this year.

One of Maryland's youngest pro golfers is Johnny Bruff, 18, who becomes assistant pro to Bob Barnett at the Chevy Chase Club near Washington, D. C. Bruff was graduated from Calvert Hall High School, Baltimore, several months ago.

The National Boxing Association at its convention in Montreal the other day adopted a resolution recommending the elimination of immediate return title fights in case a champion loses to a challenger.

This means that when a challenger wins the title from the champion, the new champion shall defend within six months against the next leading contender, instead of against the ex-champion as has been the custom for years.

The resolution, considered a progressive step, was aimed at abolishing series of title fights between two men—series that can "freeze" a title for two or more years.

The current series between Graziano and Zale was the immediate inspiration for the resolution.

Local amateur promoters have a penchant for re-matches. If they weren't halted last season they would have turned the sport into one of those Shaughnessy playoffs.

The horsemen are griping again. Reports from Wheeling indicate they will demand a 30 per cent increase in purses.

Mervin Trail, the youthful scorekeeper, is different than most other scorers. He goes back and forth to games on his bicycle.

He says Abe is one of the squarest shooters in the sport.

Tee Hubert, who was scheduled to fight Tommy Yarosz in Pittsburgh last night, was first mentioned as being from New York. Then Philadelphia was given as his home and finally Washington, D. C. Looks like nobody wants the guy.

Pro football teams are padding their attendance figures this season. The Cleveland-Buffalo figures were announced as 63,000 but was under 55,000 according to Cleveland papers. The Colts-Dodgers game in Baltimore was supposed to have attracted 27,000 but it was closer to 17,000. One writer says:

"Ten thousand per game seems to be the 'cushion' the All-American Conference is using to impress the sports world with its drawing power."

Swamp fever is now hitting the pocketbooks of jockeys.

Stewards at Garden State Park track in New Jersey have posted the following ruling:

"Jockeys coming from New England race tracks to Garden State Park will not be permitted to bring on the premises, riding boots, tack or other equipment used in said areas."

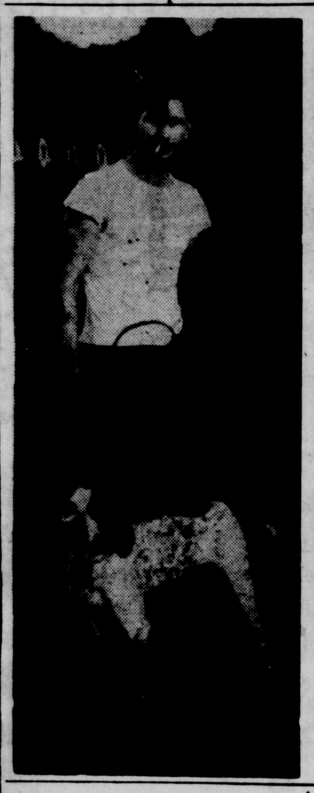

Maryland, New York and other circuits are expected to issue similar rulings.

Jockeys leaving Narragansett will run into quite a hardship as riding gear is not only expensive but there is a scarcity of saddles and other pieces of equipment.

Action of the Garden State stewards was prompted by a report that swamp fever is transmitted by instruments, unsterilized syringes, currycombs, blankets, saddles, etc.

Walter "Pete" Cook, venerable playing manager of the Hyndman Firemen, denies the report that two Spanish-American war veterans, who once played on the same team with him, congratulated him after he walloped a two-run homer over the fence at the Westernport ball park last Sunday.

And "Pete" emphasizes the fact that he hit the homer in Sunday's game and not his son, Bob, who plays on the same team and usually tees off for four sacks.

Beard, Squires, Fisher To Pitch Gobbler Passes

Burns Of Hyndman Starts At Center

By ROBERT MOORE

BLACKBURG, Va., Sept. 16 (AP) — Even before the 1947 football season actually gets under way, the Virginia Tech Gobblers have made history.

The Gobblers, who long have looked to power for their gridiron maneuvering, are taking to the air and during the coming campaign probably will depend more on their passing attack than anything else in an effort to better last year's record of three victories, three defeats and as many ties.

Hyndman Is Represented

The list of other backfield prospects is sprinkled with more lettermen, among them Ray Beasley, of Richmond, Va.; co-captain Bobby Smith, of Charlottesville, Va.; Dick Deshazo, of Roanoke, Va.; Tony Kujawa, of Monessen, Pa.; H. L. Pearce, of Hampton, Va.; Dave Thomas, of Bristol, Va., and Bobby Webb, of Ashland, Ky.

The center position undoubtedly will be assigned to Tom Burns, 191-pound junior from Hyndman, Pa. Scrapping for the job of understudying Burns are Pat Denardo, 185-pound junior from Bluefield, W. Va., and Kitts' son, Jimmy, Jr., 180-pound sophomore.

Kitts singled out these 15 reasons —all lettermen—as to why he doesn't think he has any sleepless nights coming up over his ends, tackles and guards:

ENDS—Jim Adams, of Cleveland Ohio; Oren Hopkins and Gerry Zekert, of Norfolk, Va.; John Kroehling, of Springfield, N. J.

TACKLES—Frank Ballard, of Oxford, N. C.; Bob Hess, of Charleston, W. Va.; Jack Ittner and Gus Mengulas, of Richmond, Va.; Ross Orr, of Chatham Hill, Va.; R. E. Johnson, of Kingsport, Tenn.

GUARDS—Co-captain Bill Barbour, of Wayne, W. Va.; Coy Chambers, of Kingsport, Tenn.; Jack Cooke, All-Stater last year from New Kensington, Pa.; Carl Leonard, of Big Stone Gap, Va.; Robert Taylor, of Winchester, Va.

Kramer Beats Pails In Exhibition Match

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 (INS)—National singles champion Jack Kramer stopped Dinny Pails of Australia 9-7, 6-4 today in their feature singles match of a benefit exhibition tennis program at Chicago's Saddle and Cycle Club.

A throng of 4,000 saw Australian Colin Long gain revenge by tripping Bobby Brown of San Francisco, 6-3, 6-2 in the other singles debate.

Brown and Kramer then joined forces and defeated Long and Pails 6-3, 6-4, in a doubles exhibition.

GERDEMAN WINS TOSS, AMVETS AND HYNDMAN CLASH HERE SUNDAY

Manager Norman Gerdeman won the toss and the Cumberland Amvets will play hosts to the Hyndman (Pa.) Firemen in the opening game of the best-of three series for the championship of the Bi-State Baseball League on Sunday at 3:30 p. m. at Community Park.

The second game will be staged in Hyndman on Sunday September 28 and the site for the third and deciding game, if necessary will be decided by the flip of a coin and will be played Sunday, October 5.

Hyndman eliminated Westvaco and the Amvets put out Lonaconing in the playoff semi-finals.

The Amvets will practice today, Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 4:45 p. m. at Community Park.

Manager Gerdeman says he will have "Lefty" Lauber, "Boots" Poffenberger and Lecorcheck available to pitch in Sunday's game but is undecided which of the three will start.

Bob Feller Wins As Indians Split

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 16 (AP)—A seven-run rally in the seventh inning of the nightcap gave the Philadelphia Athletics a 7-3 win over the Cleveland Indians today and a split in the doubleheader to keep alive flickering hopes of a first-division berth. Cleveland copped the first game 5-3, and at the end of the day's proceedings held a 3½ game edge on the Mackmen.

Joe Gordon hit two home runs and a single in the opener to help Bob Feller to his 19th win of the season. George Metkovich also chipped in with a circuit swat.

The split in the doubleheader gave the teams an even break at 11 games each for the season. Box:

Averages Show Dodgers, Yanks Evenly Matched

Brooklyn Conceded World Series Edge

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (INS) — The Yanks and Dodgers of 1947 are by no means the greatest teams that ever appeared in a world series.

On the other hand, no world series ever showed two teams more evenly matched — at least on paper.

The latest available batting averages show the Dodgers hitting .276 and the Yanks .273, a difference hardly worth mentioning.

The latest fielding averages give the Yanks .981 and the Dodgers .978.

The Dodgers have staged 156 double plays and the Yanks 142. The Yanks have a slight edge in scoring runs, 760 to 725.

Eight Hits Difference

And over the season's play through Sunday last the Yanks had made 1341 hits and the Dodgers 1333.

You could hardly hope to find two teams more evenly matched than those figures indicate that they are.

And taking them position by position you find them remarkably even throughout the line-up. Take note:

DODGERS			YANKS
Stanky	.252	2b	Stirnweiss	.254
Robinson	.301	1b	McQuinn	.304
Reiser	.308	cf	DiMaggio	.321
Walker	.314	rf	Henrich	.286
Hermanski	.281	lf	Lindell	.286
Jorgensen	.278	3b	Johnson	.294
Edwards	.296	c	Berra or Robinson	.288 .270
Reese	.296	ss	Rizzuto	.275

The Dodgers seem to have an edge on speed and they have the more powerful reserve strength in Vaughn .331, Lavagetto .290 and Miskis .267.

Pitchers May Decide

The Dodgers, of course, have nobody to match Joe Page as a relief pitcher and the Yankee lefthander might very well be the deciding margin in a series which figures to give the pitchers rougher treatment than they usually get in the fall classic.

Pitching always decides these affairs. The club with two men at their peak can win. The White Sox when they were known as the hitless wonders, once trimmed a great Cub team led by Frank Chance, merely on pitching.

The Braves of 1914 took four straight from a great team of Connie Mack's on the pitching of Rudolph, Tyler and James.

In a short series anything can happen. Even one great pitcher can win for his team. As for instance, the year Christy Matthewson of the Giants scored three shutouts against the Athletics.

The Yanks have Reynolds, Newsom, Shea and Reschi to toss at the Dodgers who will counter with Branca, Lombardi, Taylor and Hatten.

Page May Be Difference

Your guess is as good as anybody's as to how well or how poorly any of those pitchers will go on any given day. If they all get their bumps, I'd be inclined to string with the Yanks because of the relief pitching of Joe Page.

On the other hand, the Dodgers are hot right now and I always like to string with a hot team. So without further ado I crawl right out on a limb and pick the Dodgers to win in a knock-down and drag-out series.

Baltimore Selects Sports Arena Site

BALTIMORE, Sept. 16 — (AP) — Mayor D'Alesandro's stadium committee today select ' the site of the present arena at 33rd St. to be the location of Baltimore's new sports arena.

The group earlier had recommended three possible locations to the mayor. In addition to the one chosen today, they included Clifton Park and Herring Run Park.

A loan of $2,500,000 was approved earlier this year for the construction of a municipal stadium.

All-Stars Of Two Loops Play For Leith Benefit

Softball Battle Set For Today At 6 P. M.

All-Star teams of the City and Rocking Chair softball leagues will clash today at 6 p. m. at Community Park in a game being played for the benefit of George Leith, well known Cumberland umpire, who is recuperating at Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, following a recent brain operation.

Four umpires are donating their services and Fort Cumberland Post, American Legion, is donating the use of the park.

Leith umpired in both leagues and his many friends are expected to attend the game to help swell the fund, every cent of which will go toward defraying hospital expenses for the popular arbiter.

The three top pitchers in each league are expected to perform.

Money raised at the game will be presented to Mrs. Annie Leith, wife of the stricken umpire, at the end of the fifth inning, according to John R. Kelly, Jr., secretary of the City Softball League.

The following all-stars of both circuits are eligible to participate:

TWO INDICTED FOR ATTEMPTING TO FIX CHARLES TOWN RACE

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va., Sept. 16 — (AP) — The Jefferson County Grand Jury today indicted Peter Del Pozzo, of Baltimore and New York, and Jockey Patrick Connolly on charges of attempting to fix a horse race at the local track Dec. 18, 1945.

Assistant Prosecutor James F. Mason, III, said warrants for arrest of the two men have been issued. He said Connolly was reported to racing at Narragansett.

The prosecutor said the two accused offered Jockeys Elmer Wright and Webster Snyder $100 to pull their horses in the seventh race. He reported the offer was refused and Snyder's mount copped the race.

Spencer J. Drayton of the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Association announced in New York on March 17 that Del Pozzo had been arrested on a Tampa (Fla.) warrant charging him with attempting to fix a race at Sunshine Park on Feb. 13.

Tampa authorities reported Del Pozzo was acquitted of the charges in criminal court on July 14 and he returned to Brooklyn.

Mason said representatives of the association had assisted in obtaining evidence on which the Jefferson jury based its indictments.

Conviction on the West Virginia charges carries a prison sentence of one to three years and/or $1,000 fine.

Minter To Design Ocean Downs Project

S. Russ Minter, local architect, has returned from a hearing before the Maryland Racing Commission at Baltimore, where he appeared for the Ocean Downs Racing Association, Inc., which has made application for a million-dollar half mile harness racing track, three and one-half miles from Ocean City. The track is to be known as Ocean Downs.

Minter had been engaged to design the track, barns, grandstand and all other buildings and areas in connection with the proposed project. Minter estimates the project will cost $515,950 and that plans for future development are estimated to cost another $500,000.

The project, according to Minter, is to be financed almost entirely by Western Shore capital.

The Dodgers Serve Notice

Where only a miracle, double and redoubled, can keep them away from the pennant, the Dodgers are now in the act of serving a number of notices.

Their opening notice is to be served shortly against the New York Yankees in the world series.

Their second notice will be served later against the seven other teams in the National League, who, at the moment, look to be far away from the Dodgers of 1948, by which date youth and speed and hustle will be further bolstered up by the experience drawn from a great campaign.

Almost every expert I talked with last spring picked the Dodgers to take over the pennant situation in 1948 and later years. They figured the Cardinals had too much stuff for 1947. But as it happened, the Cardinals were on their way over the hill, all summer long.

They still had courage and experience, plus fading skill, but they were an old team getting older, where the fire of the past was fading. One answer is that the Dodgers whipped them five out of the last six games played in St. Louis, and this was the knife in the heart.

What makes the Dodgers? For one thing, in addition to skill and all-around ability, they have sport's most essential quality — a thing known as youth. Youth is a mighty factor in any game where you have to run and throw—where arms and legs always play leading roles.

The Dodgers are a young team. From Ralph Branca at 21 they have very few regulars above 28. Their average age is around 25. It so happens that two of their veterans, Walker and Vaughan, are among the best hitters on the club.

A young ball club is sure to be jittery and inconsistent at times. The young Dodgers drew a big break in getting Barney Shotton who knows how to handle youth, to calm it down, to lift it up, to keep it from sinking. Ask all the young ballplayers who came up under Shotton in other years. Ask Eddie Dyer, one of his pupils.

There were times when his young team was shocked, stunned and almost on its heels, but Shotton never was. Time and again the Cardinals came surging up, only to hit the Dodger reef and fall back. They finally struck and went back at the last series against too much youth.

For all that, it took a game, good ball club to keep this Cardinal squad in check, for while fading out, over the hill, it still had more than a few able ballplayers, ably led. Into the stretch it had nothing left to meet the killing advantage of the Dodgers' younger years.

Only middle age in sport knows what youth, with its mocking memory, once meant.

The Team Above The Star

It is always true that certain outstanding individual stars get the big money in baseball. Bob Feller —Ted Williams—Hal Newhouser—Joe DiMaggio—Hank Greenberg.

But it is the team that wins. Look at Brooklyn's batting averages — most of them have been hitting from .290 to .320. Vaughan, Reiser, Walker and Furillo have been their .300 hitters, with Robinson, Edwards, Reese and Jorgenson not so far away. Stanky, their weakest hitter around .255, makes up for his poor batting in many other ways.

It was Arky Vaughan, the veteran, who told me over two months ago: "It doesn't make much difference what substitutes we throw in — the substitute is generally just as good as the regular. They are all pretty well on a level — but it's a pretty high level."

This was proved when a loud wail arose from Brooklyn homes as Pee Wee Reese was hurt. Stan Rojek took his place and was one of the stars of the league.

Reserves and replacement strength have been a big factor in Brooklyn's biggest year. The Dodgers haven't needed any outstanding stars. At home and on the road they will draw over 3,500,000 spectators this season, without a single standout as a hitter or a pitcher. Again the team stands out over the star.

Jackie Robinson has been voted the best rookie of the year — and this seems to be a sound selection. He has been an all-around performer, far above the average. For a rookie under heavy pressure, the former U.C.L.A. all-star athlete has been a big factor in Brooklyn's success. It is difficult to name any member of the Dodger team above other entries — further proof of team value.

This may make it difficult to pick and Dodger as the most valuable player of the year. We have no idea what this selection will be in the National League—Johnny Mize —Walker Cooper — Ralph Kiner — Ewell Blackwell — Larry Jansen — Harry Walker — Dutch Leonard — what difference does it make since the Dodgers have had many more valuable players than any other team.

And National League teams might think over the matter that in 1948 the Dodgers should be much stronger than they are today — which means a 12 or 15-game advantage, unless other National League teams improve close to 50 per cent. They are not going to be close enough to see Dodger dust, with the material they have on hand today.

Fight Results

Bill Wolfington, 140, St. Mary's A.C., won unanimous decision over Johnny Stafford, 135, Diamond A.C.

Tommy Lynn, 105, St. Mary's A.C., won on technical knockout over Junior Payne, 104, Royale A.C., in 1:36 of the second round. Referee "Red" Bush stopped the fight after Payne had been floored for the count of eight and was in a groggy condition after arising.

Elmer Rothrock, 152, Lewistown (Pa.) A.C., won unanimous decision over Charles Burnett, colored, 155, Keystate A.C., of Central City, Pa.

George Kondas, 124, Windber, Pa., representing the Keystate A.C., of Central City, knocked out Louis Brannon, 124, Lewistown (Pa.) A.C. in 1:02 of the second round.

Roy Rawlings, 147, St. Mary's A.C., won split decision over Jack Klosterman, 147, Diamond A.C.

Brian Holsopple, 146, Windber, representing the Keystate A.C., knocked out Homer Boone, 146, Lewistown (Pa.) A.C. in 1:28 of the third round.

Eddie Marsh, 122, Windber, representing the Keystate A.C., won on technical knockout over Frankie Lisanti, 122, St. Mary's A.C., in 1:04 of second round. Lisanti was overmatched and Referee Jack Rorick stopped the bout and declared Marsh the winner.

Clarence Jenkins, 136, St. Mary's A.C., won unanimous decision over Paul Lepley, 136, Diamond A.C.

Brooklyn Beats Reds 7-3, Branca Scores 21st Win

Bruce Edwards' 3-Run Double Is Big Blow

CINCINNATI, Sept. 16—(INS)—Brooklyn's wondrous Dodgers swept to their fourth straight triumph today in nailing the Reds 7 to 3. Two more Dodger victories and two St. Louis defeats will put the "Atom Bums" into the world series.

In taking their 11th consecutive game from the Redlegs, the Dodgers counted three in the first inning and were never headed thereafter. Bruce Edwards' three-run double was the big blow of the frame.

Gene Hermanski's seventh-inning home run aided Ralph Branca as the big righthander notched his 21st win of the year. Bucky Walters was the loser. Box:

PHILS WHIP PIRATES

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 16—(AP)—The Philadelphia Phils bounced out of the National League cellar today as Blix Donnelly scattered nine Pittsburgh hits to beat the Pirates, 2-1 before 2,568 fans.

An unearned run by Charley Gilbert in the fourth, and another by Del Ennis in the eighth, with the aid of an error and two walks, gave Donnelly his victory.

Mel Queen, who retired the first 10 Phils in order, was charged with the defeat, giving up the winning run when he walked Ennis across the plate. Box:

FRANKIE SINKWICH DECIDES TO RETIRE

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—(AP)—Frank Sinkwich, former All-American back at Georgia, has asked the New York Football Yankees to place him on the voluntary retired list because of a knee injury, Dan Topping, president of the All-America Conference team, said tonight.

The one-time flash of the gridiron conferred with Coach Ray Flaherty after the Yanks defeated the Dons in Los Angeles Friday night and decided to retire at least for the 1947 season

40,000 Expected To See Steelers, Detroit Clash

NFL Teams To Tangle Sunday In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 16—(AP)—If the Pittsburgh Steelers were ever nervous about losing Bullet Bill Dudley to the Detroit Lions, they weren't today upon hearing the news that the 1947 season ticket sale is double that of last year.

Flushed and articulate over the at incoming stream of greenbacks, Joe Carr, the club's ticket manager, declared:

"It's Dr. (Jock) Sutherland's prestige—he's an institution by himself The fans have confidence that he will put a winning club on the field.

"We didn't lose a customer when Bill Dudley quit."

For specific figures, Carr reported the advance sale is 22,000 compared with 9,000 last year.

"And the indications are that every game will be a complete sell-out again this year," he added.

"Some 40,000 spectators are expected to pack Forbes Field Sunday for the Steelers' National opener against the Detroit Lions. Ropes will be put up to keep 7,500 standees off the gridiron.

Incidentally the game will be a bargain bill because the crowd will see both the Steelers and Dudley at once—with the former All-America back doing his best to crack the Sutherland System he showed to such advantage as the star of the Steelers last year.

The wary coach wasn't making any extravagant predictions, as usual, but he did say at the club's Cambridge Springs training camp today that "the boys know my system by now."

As for Johnny Clement, the tall Texan who stepped into Dudley's shoes so ably in exhibition gilts this season, Sutherland said:

"You're going to see a much improved player in Johnny Clement. His passing and running are very good."

Terps To Hold Fall Baseball Practice

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Sept. 16—(AP)—Burton Shipley has been coaching baseball at the University of Maryland for 24 years, but said today he has just realized that perhaps the method of picking his squad has been wrong and so he's trying fall practice.

The veteran mentor has issued a call for all candidates interested in making next year's nine to come out for practice tomorrow.

Shipley explained that last spring was faced with 150 candidates who hadn't touched a ball or glove for nine months. "It wasn't fair to them or to me," he said, since many had to be cut without being able to show their true ability.

Giants Buy Pitcher

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 16—(AP)—The New York Giants today announced the purchase of Mario Picone, right-handed pitcher, and catcher Sal Yvars from their Jersey City farm of the International League. Both players will join the Giants in Chicago tomorrow.

SPORTS TRAIL

Whitney Martin's

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP) — Now that it is assured the Dodgers and Yanks will meet in the world series there will be arguments as to whether Burt Shotton or Bucky Harris should be rated manager of the year. The managers of the teams that don't win the pennants haven't a chance. This year, though, we think Shotton and Harris are logical candidates. Shotton took the Brooks on short notice and without benefit of spring training with them. Harris was deprived of the services of Charley Keller most of the season, and had an injury-riddled club most of the time. Our own nomination for manager of the year is any housewife who can make ends meet with prices as they are.

Holy Cross' guards and tackles are listed as weighing 259, 222, 251 and 240. Any line which moves them out of the way should qualify for the weight-lifting championship. The Brooklyn Football Dodgers still are waiting for their "high line" to come down to find out what happened to it in the 55-7 drubbing at the hands of the Cleveland Browns. It was a case of "You take the high line and I'll take the low line and I'll get the touchdowns before you."

If you wanted to pick one spot where the Cardinals' chances turned from just faint to just ain't you might consider the seventh inning of the third game of the recent "crucial" series with the Dodgers. The score was tied at 2-all and Murry Dickson got the first two Dodgers out easily. Then he walked Dixie Walker, and it was just like getting the first olive out of a bottle. From that point on Dodgers just poured over the plate. That one walk did it, and the Cards never could get back on even terms, although they gave it the old college try. It is conceivable, even probable, that had Dickson disposed of Walker for the third out the Dodgers wouldn't have been able to get started the next inning. Sez he, second guessing.

Headline: "Giants hit 201 home runs; Reds win, 3-2 and 7-4." Let's check those figures again. The changing of the Joe Louis-Joe Walcott bout from 10 to 15 rounds was just a technicality. It won't go 10, unless you're talking about the referee's count. Labeling it a championship fight, though, will justify championship prices. Learn-something-every-day department: The Cincinnati Reds use about four dozen baseballs a game costing about $21.82 a dozen.

Brighter days may be ahead for the Philadelphia Phils. Their farm system produced four pennant winners and 10 first-division clubs. Barney Poole, currently at Mississippi, is starting his sixth year of college football. He'll learn that game yet, by gum. He played as a soph at Ole Miss in '42, with North Carolina as a Marine V-12 student in '43, and with Army the past three years. The Notre Dame football brochure includes a pronunciation dictionary for players' names. Shucks, we didn't need that. Anybody could pronounce Budynkiewicz and Ciechanowicz and Zmijewski. Especially in hay fever time.

Champ Will Fight

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—(AP)—George Gainford, manager of Welterweight Champion Ray Robinson, said today he had agreed to have Robinson defend his title against the winner of the coming Tony Janiro-Tony Pellone fight.

Janiro and Pellone meet in Madison Square Garden Friday night. Managers of the two said they preferred to wait until either December or January before meeting the champion.

New Exchange Will Double Service In Tri-Towns Area

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT — Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company workers are constructing a new exchange at Piedmont which, when completed in four months, will handle twice the number of lines now operating, E. J. Shaver, manager of the Piedmont office, announced yesterday.

Three crews are running 1,200 pairs of cables from the office to Piedmont, Westernport and Luke which will give 2,400 more lines, double the present number. When this work is completed they will be able to take care of over 300 applications for phones now on file and regrade 400 present users for better party line service or provide them with private lines if they desire.

The schedule provides the moving of the operators and their equipment to the first floor from the second story. An additional switch board will be installed and more dial equipment will be placed on the second floor to take care of additional service planned.

Lions To Hold Meeting

The Westernport and Luke, Keyser, Romney and Moorefield Lions clubs will hold a joint meeting tomorrow evening at the Presbyterian School Camp on the South Branch near Romney, W. Va. Cars for the Westernport and Luke Lions Club members will leave Habeeb's corner, Westernport, at 5:30 p. m.

Coketon Miner Is Held For Assault

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va.—A Coketon, W. Va., negro was held in the Tucker County Jail last night following an alleged stabbing incident with a neighbor yesterday over a case of beer.

Tucker County Sheriff D. E. Crosten and State Trooper Charles Burke, of the Thomas Detachment, were called to the mining twon late yesterday afternoon and arrested Ellis Redman, 21. Sheriff Crosten said the man stabbed his next-door neighbor, Roy Ward, 26, also colored, after the two had argued over a case of beer they had purchased jointly.

Redman told the officers that he and Ward live in a double house in Coketon where both of them are employed by the Davis Coal and Coke Company. He said they bought a case of beer yesterday and when he went for his share, Ward refused to give it to him.

Redman then said he wen to a store nearby and purchased a pocket knife and then returned to his home where the incident took place.

The date for the winer, who is charged with malicious assault, has not been set.

Grantsville Man Held

Frank Hamilton, Grantsville, was arrested by City Police early yesterday morning for investigation, and Lt. James E. Van said the arrest was made after Hamilton pulled a screen from a window at Central Y.M.C.A. and entered the building. Lt. Van added that Hamilton was drinking at the time. The arrest was made by Officer H. E. Crawford.

Two Blaine Clubs And Keyser Home Are Raided By Police

Liquor Violations Cause Four Arrests

By MRS. JOSEPH H. TAYLOR

KEYSER, W. Va.—Two clubs in Blaine, W. Va., and a home on Potomac Heights in Keyser, were raided shortly after 1 a. m. yesterday by State and county officers.

The home on Potomac Heights was raided by Sheriff James A. Dixon, State Police Cpl. R. R. Karickhoff and two enforcement agents of the West Virginia Liquor Control Commission. The home was that of Mary Biser, also known as "Peg" Gray, a white woman. Gilmore "Gillie" Taylor, a negro, also living in the house, was arrested on a charge of illegal sale of whisky, and the Gray woman was taken into custody as the owner of the property. When the officers arrived a dice game was in progress and $87 was in play.

The man and woman were both held under $1,000 bond for their appearance at a hearing scheduled for Friday at 4 p. m. in the office of Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle. Each of the five participants in the dice game were fined $5 each by Miss Bazzle this morning.

The Red Men's Club and the Veterans of Foreign Wars Club, in Blaine, W. Va., were both raided earlier in the evening by the same officers. At the Red Men's Club they found two tip boards three partially filled pints of whisky and two full jiggers of whisky. John Lee Hershberger, steward, was arrested, but later was released under $300 bond for his appearance before Miss Bazzle on Friday.

At the Veterans of Foreign Wars Club in Blaine, the officers found two slot machines, six pints of whisky and one part of a pint of whisky. Robert Lyons, steward, was arrested and later released under $300 bond fir his appearance before Miss Bazzle on Friday.

Charged With Assault

John W. Beall was arrested by City Police Monday night after his mother, Mrs. Nellie Barrett, swore out a warrant charging her son with assaulting her on the B. and O. baseball field earlier in the evening. She told the officers her son left home Saturday morning and that she had not seen him until last night. He was in his car at the ball field and she approached him to urge him to return home. She charged that he then knocked her down. A hearing will be held before Justice Madalyn Bazzle later this week.

New Exchange Will Double Service In Tri-Towns Area

By GEORGE W. DADDYSMAN

WESTERNPORT — Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company workers are constructing a new exchange at Piedmont which, when completed in four months, will handle twice the number of lines now operating, E. J. Shaver, manager of the Piedmont office, announced yesterday.

Three crews are running 1,200 pairs of cables from the office to Piedmont, Westernport and Luke which will give 2,400 more lines, double the present number. When this work is completed they will be able to take care of over 300 applications for phones now on file and regrade 400 present users for better party line service or provide them with private lines if they desire.

The schedule provides the moving of the operators and their equipment to the first floor from the second story. An additional switch board will be installed and more dial equipment will be placed on the second floor to take care of additional service planned.

Lions To Hold Meeting

The Westernport and Luke, Keyser, Romney and Moorefield Lions clubs will hold a joint meeting tomorrow evening at the Presbyterian School Camp on the South Branch near Romney, W. Va. Cars for the Westernport and Luke Lions Club members will leave Habeeb's corner, Westernport, at 5:30 p. m.

Coketon Miner Is Held For Assault

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va.—A Coketon, W. Va., negro was held in the Tucker County Jail last night following an alleged stabbing incident with a neighbor yesterday over a case of beer.

Tucker County Sheriff D. E. Crosten and State Trooper Charles Burke, of the Thomas Detachment, were called to the mining twon late yesterday afternoon and arrested Ellis Redman, 21. Sheriff Crosten said the man stabbed his next-door neighbor, Roy Ward, 26, also colored, after the two had argued over a case of beer they had purchased jointly.

Redman told the officers that he and Ward live in a double house in Coketon where both of them are employed by the Davis Coal and Coke Company. He said they bought a case of beer yesterday and when he went for his share, Ward refused to give it to him.

Redman then said he wen to a store nearby and purchased a pocket knife and then returned to his home where the incident took place.

The date for the winer, who is charged with malicious assault, has not been set.

Grantsville Man Held

Frank Hamilton, Grantsville, was arrested by City Police early yesterday morning for investigation, and Lt. James E. Van said the arrest was made after Hamilton pulled a screen from a window at Central Y.M.C.A. and entered the building. Lt. Van added that Hamilton was drinking at the time. The arrest was made by Officer H. E. Crawford.

Two Blaine Clubs And Keyser Home Are Raided By Police

Liquor Violations Cause Four Arrests

By MRS. JOSEPH H. TAYLOR

KEYSER, W. Va.—Two clubs in Blaine, W. Va., and a home on Potomac Heights in Keyser, were raided shortly after 1 a. m. yesterday by State and county officers.

The home on Potomac Heights was raided by Sheriff James A. Dixon, State Police Cpl. R. R. Karickhoff and two enforcement agents of the West Virginia Liquor Control Commission. The home was that of Mary Biser, also known as "Peg" Gray, a white woman. Gilmore "Gillie" Taylor, a negro, also living in the house, was arrested on a charge of illegal sale of whisky, and the Gray woman was taken into custody as the owner of the property. When the officers arrived a dice game was in progress and $87 was in play.

The man and woman were both held under $1,000 bond for their appearance at a hearing scheduled for Friday at 4 p. m. in the office of Justice of the Peace Madalyn Bazzle. Each of the five participants in the dice game were fined $5 each by Miss Bazzle this morning.

The Red Men's Club and the Veterans of Foreign Wars Club, in Blaine, W. Va., were both raided earlier in the evening by the same officers. At the Red Men's Club they found two tip boards three partially filled pints of whisky and two full jiggers of whisky. John Lee Hershberger, steward, was arrested, but later was released under $300 bond for his appearance before Miss Bazzle on Friday.

At the Veterans of Foreign Wars Club in Blaine, the officers found two slot machines, six pints of whisky and one part of a pint of whisky. Robert Lyons, steward, was arrested and later released under $300 bond fir his appearance before Miss Bazzle on Friday.

Charged With Assault

John W. Beall was arrested by City Police Monday night after his mother, Mrs. Nellie Barrett, swore out a warrant charging her son with assaulting her on the B. and O. baseball field earlier in the evening. She told the officers her son left home Saturday morning and that she had not seen him until last night. He was in his car at the ball field and she approached him to urge him to return home. She charged that he then knocked her down. A hearing will be held before Justice Madalyn Bazzle later this week.

Child Receives Burns

Frances Fazzalore, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Fazzalore, North G. KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 16—(INS)—Virginia Grey, who has been referred to so many times as the secret romance in Clark Gable's life, is given a good break as the chief femme attraction in "So This Is New York," Ring Lardner's story.

Virgina Grey

In addition, she has been handed a long-term contract by Enterprise, who chose her after seeing a series of tests.

"So This Is New York" is a comedy satire which stars Henry Morgan, radio comic, and it will be produced by Stanley Kramer and directed by Dick Fleischer.

Greer Garson is extremely happy over the selection of "The Nutmeg Tree" by Marjorie Sharpe as her next movie, and she's especially glad that she and Walter Pidgeon are to be reunited.

Just before Douglas Fairbanks Jr. took off for the United Nations banquet in New York he telephoned to say that he had signed a new deal with William Goetz, and would make his next picture, following "Lady In Ermine" at Universal-International.

"But, I though you belonged at U-I?" I asked.

Then he told me that his first deal was only for one picture, but after Billy saw "The Exile" he liked it so much he asked Doug to stay. So "The O'Flynns," the Justin Hartley McCarthy story, will be a U.I release.

Arbitrary action of Lloyd Binford chairman of the Memphis censor board, in banning Hal Roach's comedy "Durley" because a negro child is shown playing with whiite children ... will not be accepted by either United Artists or the Motion Picture Producers Association without a battle.

They will go to court if necessary.

"Song of the South," which shows an old negro, Uncle Remus, as the central character, and many little negro children frolicking about with Bobby Driscoll and Luana Patton, was first premiered in the south and they loved it.

Certainly Farina, a pickaninny with pigtails, who was the smallest youngster in Hal Roach's "Our Gang" comedies, was never barred. The south loved this funny child.

Chatter in Hollywood: — Lana Turner, who has heard from Ty practically every day, still would like to join him, but she has a date on the MGM lot making "Home Coming" with Clark Gable.

Those who returned recently from Paris say they have seen Annabella dining with a handsome young man who is described as half French and half Russian, so Annabella, who shows no inclination to come back to America, may give Ty that divorce he's been requesting.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: — Bogey and Baby came back to town today to celebrate Baby's birthday. They return to their boat over the weekend.

Another birthday celebrated was Mrs. Edgar Bergen's. Edgar gifted her with diamond ear clips.

Mary Livington Benny has been bedded for almost two weeks with ptomaine poisoning.

If there was any trouble with Hedy Lamarr and Mary Stevens it's all over now. Mark painted her garden furniture over the weekend.

Bobby Molyneaux and Willis Hunt look like an item, and she may be the fourth Mrs. Hunt—or is it the third?

Joe Cook Jr., son of the comedian, will become a father in March.

Kay St. Germaine, Jack Caron's estranged wife, glimpsed lunching in the corner of the Beverly Hils Club with a dark and handsome man.

Vanessa Brown, Ida Lupino, Collier Young and Sam Goldwyn Jr. a happy foursome at that new Swedish restaurant.

Ross Shattuck, whose paintings will be recognized before long, they are so good, is doing some sketches and paintings to be used in "The '49ers." His painting of Virginia City is out of this world and will be exhibited in New York later in the fall in a one-man show.

Xavier Cugat and Lorraine Allen will be married here October 5 instead of in Mexico as they had planned.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 16—(INS)—Virginia Grey, who has been referred to so many times as the secret romance in Clark Gable's life, is given a good break as the chief femme attraction in "So This Is New York," Ring Lardner's story.

In addition, she has been handed a long-term contract by Enterprise, who chose her after seeing a series of tests.

"So This Is New York" is a comedy satire which stars Henry Morgan, radio comic, and it will be produced by Stanley Kramer and directed by Dick Fleischer.

Virginia Grey

Greer Garson is extremely happy over the selection of "The Nutmeg Tree" by Marjorie Sharpe as her next movie, and she's especially glad that she and Walter Pidgeon are to be reunited.

Just before Douglas Fairbanks Jr. took off for the United Nations banquet in New York he telephoned to say that he had signed a new deal with William Goetz, and would make his next picture, following "Lady In Ermine" at Universal-International.

"But, I though you belonged at U-I?" I asked.

Then he told me that his first deal was only for one picture, but after Billy saw "The Exile" he liked it so much he asked Doug to stay. So "The O'Flynns," the Justin Hartley McCarthy story, will be a U.I release.

Arbitrary action of Lloyd Binford chairman of the Memphis censor board, in banning Hal Roach's comedy "Durley" because a negro child is shown playing with whiite children... will not be accepted by either United Artists or the Motion Picture Producers Association without a battle.

They will go to court if necessary.

"Song of the South," which shows an old negro, Uncle Remus, as the central character, and many little negro children frolicking about with Bobby Driscoll and Luana Patton, was first premiered in the south and they loved it.

Certainly Farina, a pickaninny with pigtails, who was the smallest youngster in Hal Roach's "Our Gang" comedies, was never barred. The south loved this funny child.

Chatter in Hollywood: — Lana Turner, who has heard from Ty practically every day, still would like to join him, but she has a date on the MGM lot making "Home Coming" with Clark Gable.

Those who returned recently from Paris say they have seen Annabella dining with a handsome young man who is described as half French and half Russian, so Annabella, who shows no inclination to come back to America, may give Ty that divorce he's been requesting.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: — Bogey and Baby came back to town today to celebrate Baby's birthday. They return to their boat over the weekend.

Another birthday celebrated was Mrs. Edgar Bergen's. Edgar gifted her with diamond ear clips.

Mary Livington Benny has been bedded for almost two weeks with ptomaine poisoning.

If there was any trouble with Hedy Lamarr and Mary Stevens it's all over now. Mark painted her garden furniture over the weekend.

Bobby Molyneaux and Willis Hunt look like an item, and she may be the fourth Mrs. Hunt—or is it the third?

Joe Cook Jr., son of the comedian, will become a father in March.

Kay St. Germaine, Jack Caron's estranged wife, glimpsed lunching in the corner of the Beverly Hills Club with a dark and handsome man.

Vanessa Brown, Ida Lupino, Collier Young and Sam Goldwyn Jr. a happy foursome at that new Swedish restaurant.

Public Places And Schools Closed By Polio Quarantine In Tucker County

Period To Extend Until October 1

PARSONS, W. Va.—All public places, including schools, were closed yesterday in Tucker County for a 14-day polio quarantine period which health officers and school authorities say is a preventative measure as no cases of infantile paralysis have been reported.

According to notices posted in Parsons and St. George, the two main population centers in the county, all schools, theaters, public gatherings, clubs, football games, and shows and exhibits of all kinds are prohibited for a period of 14 days, terminating October 1.

Dr. F. K. Lyons, county health officer, stated the order is effective in the Black Fork District, Parsons and the town of St. George. Children at play are not permitted in groups of more than three, Dr. Lyons said.

Reardon Cuppett, county superintendent of schools, has announced that schools will close for a 14 day period and that the order is effective immediately. No schools will open today, he stated.

All children under the age of 16 are to remain off the streets of St. George and Parsons and Sheriff D. E. Crosten declared that the quarantine will be strictly enforced.

The Tucker County Fair Association announced that the fair will be postponed until after the quarantine is lifted.

Mr. Cuppett said last night that the football games between Parsons High School and Masontown at Parsons, and Thomas High and Petersburg High at Thomas both scheduled for Friday night, have been postponed.

Randolph County Ban May Be Lifted Monday

ELKINS, W. Va., Sept. 16 (AP)—A ban against public gatherings in Randolph County will be lifted next Monday unless a "substantial number" of new infantile paralysis cases are reported, it was announced here tonight.

Dr. Charles L. Leonard, Elkins City Health Officer and the acting health officer for the county, who made the announcement, said that one case of the disease has been reported in Randolph since last Wednesday. That raised the total for the year to 10, with five of the victims now undergoing treatment in a hospital at Milton.

Dr. Leonard added that the Elkins High School-Victory High School football game to be played in Clarksburg Friday night had been postponed. Meanwhile, the Davis and Elkins College gridders have continued practicing because they are quartered in dormitory units on the college campus.

Officials of the college also said today that they were sending out notices to prospective students to report Monday for the beginning of the new school term.

The order closing schools and all public gatherings in Randolph County was placed in effect last Thursday to curb what health officials feared would be a serious polio outbreak.

Wool, the fiber from sheep, lamb, angora or cashmere goat, may also include specialty fibers such as camel, alpaca, llama and vicuna.

Celanese And Union To Continue Talks

Officials of the Celanese Corporation of America and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, will meet Thursday morning to continue negotiations on the distribution of a one-cent wage increase provided in the agreement which ended a four-week's strike June 30.

The preliminary meeting on the issue was held yesterday at the Celanese plant with Wesley Cook, New York, assistant director of the TWUA's rayon division, heading the union group.

The company and the union are meeting to agree on the distribution of the increase which was provided in the settlement for the correction of alleged wage inequalities within the plant.

A company spokesman said no definite agreement was made yesterday, explaining the company and union "reviewed the situation".

Red Cross To Offer Instructor's Course

A 15-hour water safety instructor's training course will be conducted in Cumberland the week of October 13, according to James E. Kelley, Jr., chairman of water safety for Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross.

Kelley said the course will be conducted by Robert Earl, area representative of first aid, water safety and accident prevention, from Red Cross eastern area headquarters in Alexandria, Va.

The place and time of the course will be announced later. Those interested in registering are asked to contact the local Red Cross office in the Postoffice Building.

Two Men Are Fined On Traffic Charges

Two local men were fined $15 each yesterday when charged with motor vehicle law violations at hearings before Justice of the Peace C. A. Jewell in Ridgeley.

They were booked as Arthur Dodrill, Jr., 17 West First Street, this city, charged with failing to keep to the right of the center of the road while passing another car, and James William Skelley, Route 5, this city, failing to keep to the right. They were arrested by Cpl. R. R. Karickhoff, Keyser.

Willis Baldwin, Route 1, Ridgeley, was fined $26 by Justice Jewell on a charge of carrying an uncased gun in the field in the Ridgeley area Sunday. Conservation Officer Hughes, who preferred the charge, said the man was hunting after night, armed with a rifle and a five cell flashlight.

News Briefs

Moses Speert, prominent Baltimore industrialist and civic leader, will be the principal speaker at a preliminary dinner for workers and committee members of the fall campaign of the Jewish Welfare Fund of Western Maryland. The dinner will be held tonight at 6:30 o'clock at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Ellsworth Dewey Skidmore, Westernport, has enlisted in the regular Navy as seaman first class and has been transferred to Washington, D. C., for assignment, according to Chief Torpedoman Edgar L. Schrader, local Navy recruiter. Skidmore served 25 months in the Navy as gunner's mate third class.

A regular membership meeting of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the union hall.

Fort Washington Chapter No. 2 Disabled American Veterans, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the home of the Chapter on Centre Street. Following the meeting the DAV building corporation will meet and a social hour will be held.

County Officials Study Photostat Plan

County officials, including two judges, clerk of court and two deputy clerks, went to Rockville, Montgomery County yesterday to study new photo-methods of recording legal and court documents.

Chief Judge William A. Huster, Clerk of Court Robert Jackson and Associate Judge George Henderson, Deputy Clerks Joseph Boden and G. Walter Fisher made the trip.

A law was enacted at the last session of the General Assembly, legalizing a photostat plan for use in recording various instruments at the Court House here, instead of retyping them into the records. The new system is said to speed up recording work, where it is being used, and to be more economical over a period of time.

The Allegany County Bar Association, some time ago, when recording had fallen behind due to the increase of legal work, recommended that the system be employed here. Many other counties have photostatic machines, and have found them, in most instances, satisfactory.

Hebb Re-elected Head Of South End Republicans

Victor M. Hebb was re-elected president of the South End Republican Club for his third successive year at a meeting last night at the club rooms, 222 Virginia Avenue, attended by approximately 250 persons.

Other officers elected for the ensuing year are Jerry Beeche, vice-president; William Shipley, secretary, and Milton Ryan, treasurer. Beeche was re-elected.

The new officers will be installed at the next regular meeting, to be held October 7.

Two Suits Filed

Navy Mothers Club Work Explained To Marine Reservists

Two members of the Navy Mothers Club of Cumberland were guests of the local Marine Reserve unit at its weekly drill period last night and an invitation was extended to mothers of the members of Company D to join the local volunteer organization.

Mrs. Lacy A. Welsh, past commander of the club, and Mrs. Gladys Menges, matron-at-arms, explained to the reservists that the mothers of members of the Coast Guard, Navy, and Marine Corps and their reserve components are eligible to join the organization.

They stated that the group is not affiliated with another service club and explained that aid is given by the Navy Mothers to veterans in hospitals and to those ex-servicemen who are in need. The next meeting of the Navy Mothers will be held at the Veterans of Foreign Wars home on Union Street Friday, September 26 at 7:30 p. m.

At the drill period, Capt. John T. Fey, company commander, announced that an initial training schedule will be made effective September 23. The drills, lectures and instruction will consist of: Purpose of the organized Marine Corps Reserve; close order drill; instructions on explosives and demolition; history and tradition, and discipline, customs and courtesy of the service.

Six men who applied for duty with Company D last night were Sgt. Joseph C. Green, Cpl. John E. Stowell and Cpl. Francis J. Nolan, all of Mt. Savage; Pvt. Conrad L. Yost, 1002 Lexington Avenue; Pvt. Calvin L. Hudson, 208 New Hampshire Avenue, and Pvt. William W. Hunter, LaVale.

P-TA Outlines Aims For Coming Year

Programs concerning health and education will highlight the meetings of the Columbia Street School Parent-Teacher Association, it was decided at a meeting of the executive committee of the group last night at the school.

Frank Kaplon, president of the association, was chairman of the meeting and announced that the objective of the organization for the 1947-1948 term would deal with securing for each child the highest advantages in physical, mental, social and spiritual education.

Plans were made for the purchase of recreational articles to be used by the children of the school during play periods. It was also decided that the association will endeavor to raise funds for the purchase of a motion picture projector for the school.

The organization will meet five times this school year, on the third Tuesday of October, December, February, April and May.

Officers serving with Kaplon are Walter Bell, vice president; Mrs. Joseph Buday, secretary, and John A. Kreiling, treasurer. The executive committee includes the officers and Miss Sarah Higgins, principal of the school; Mrs. James Conrad and Mrs. O. J. Hale.

BAPTIST WOMEN PLAN QUARTERLY MEETING

The quarterly meeting of the Baptist Western District Women's Mission Union will be held September 25, at Mountain Lake Park, beginning at 11 a. m., with Mrs. Glenmore Rice, superintendent, presiding.

The following state officers from Baltimore will hold conferences during the morning session. They are Mrs. A. E. Whedbee, president; Miss Marjorie Allen, executive secretary; Miss Eunice Hayes, young peoples secretary; and Mrs. H. Otis Mayhew, Stewardship chairman.

During the afternoon session, Mrs. Lysle L. Simmons, state mission study chairman, will teach the book, "Pray Ye."

This district includes the three churches in Cumberland; two in Frostburg; one each in Eckhart, Westernport, Mountain Lake Park, Ferndale and Deep Creek.

Forms For Pollution Complaints Available

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 16—(AP)—Official forms for complaints on polluted water conditions are ready for public use, Paul M. McKee, executive secretary of the Maryland Water Pollution Control Commission, announced today.

"We wish to encourage public requests for the information forms, so that they may be distributed as widely as possible throughout the state," he said.

The forms have been sent already to regional game wardens, supervising inspectors, two district supervisors of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission and 16 yacht clubs. Others are being mailed to 75 sportsmen's clubs.

Girl Scout Council Appoints Deputy And Delegates

Mrs. Lester Millenson was appointed second deputy commissioner of the Cumberland Council of Girl Scouts, at a meeting of the Council yesterday afternoon at Girl Scout Headquarters.

Mrs. Millenson succeeds Mrs. William Somerville, who was advanced to first deputy commissioner when Mrs. Gordon Mitchell was appointed commissioner.

Mrs. Althea Correll, executive director, and Miss Mary Shriver were appointed delegates to the National Girl Scout Convention, which will be held next month in Long Beach, Calif.

Mrs. Millenson and Mrs. J. Henry Holzshu, co-chairmen of the camp committee, gave a report on the first session of camping at the newly acquired established camp. They reported that 14 girls attended the camp for one week this summer and that the camp was successful.

Mrs. Seth Bowen reported that 100 persons, including Brownie, Intermediate and Senior Girl Scouts and counsellors, attended day camp held two weeks at Kiwanis Sunshine Camp.

Mrs. Correll announced that a basic training course in Girl Scout Leadership will be held this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the headquarters. A similar course will be held Friday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Local WCTU Names Year's Chairmen

Chairmen for the year were appointed by Mrs. E. W. Yates at the meeting of the Cumberland Unit of Women's Christian Temperance Union, yesterday at Central YMCA. They are Mrs. F. F. Fleming, Union Signal chairman; Mrs. Grace Storer, White Ribbon Herald; Mrs. John S. Cook, Light Line chairman; Mrs. Nellie Kesecker, Health and Mental Temperance chairman; Mrs. Don Miller, Sailors and Soldiers; Mrs. Walter Trout, Flowers and Missions; Mrs. Edward Walker, Child Welfare and Mrs. Carl Perdew, Music director.

The program opened with group singing, led by Mrs. Perdew, who also sang a solo, "The Days That Lie Before," with Mrs. Yates at the piano. Mrs. Charles Montgomery led the devotionals on the topic, "The Word, the Value and How It Is Used and Regarded." Mrs. Yates gave a talk on the "Dangers of Marihuana."

During the business session reports were given by Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Elizabeth Zilch and Mrs. John Biller, who also displayed an afghan which she made to send to convalescents at Walter Reed Hospital. She also appealed for more yarn for other afghans.

Girls' Central Will Adopt Uniforms Here

Students of Catholic Girls' Central High School will adopt uniforms for the current school term, it was announced here yesterday.

Although there has not yet been a decision on the style, the uniforms will consist of green skirts, white blouses and green caps and sweaters.

DEATHS

BERNARD GILES RITES

A funeral service for Bernard E. Giles, 66, who died suddenly of a heart attack at his home, 417 Pine Place, yesterday morning at 9:15 o'clock, will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Stein Funeral Home.

Rev. James A. Richards, pastor of First Methodist Church, will officiate and burial will be in Zion Memorial Cemetery.

Mr. Giles, who operated a cigar and magazine stand at 122 North Mechanic Street, was a native of Paw Paw, W. Va., a son of the late William and Martha Larkin Giles.

His father was at one time superintendent of the United States Tannery here. His wife, Mrs. Mollie Deetz Giles, did last December.

Mr. Giles was a member of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, F. O. Eagles.

Surviving are three sons, Dubois and Orville F. Giles, both of this city, and Bernard E. Giles, Jr., Hagerstown; one daughter, Mrs. Martha Jane Crumbine, Hagerstown; a brother, Dubois Giles, Middleburg, Ky., and a sister, Mrs. Marion Wolf, this city.

JOHN ANDREW KELLY

John Andrew Kelly, 80, a former resident of Ellerslie, died yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Fuller Barkley, Hyndman, Pa.

Mr. Kelly was a resident of Ellerslie until he became ill about three months ago and went to make his home with his daughter. He was formerly employe as a laborer in the Ellerslie brickyards.

Mr. Kelly was born August 19, 1867, in Cooks Mill, Pa., a son of the late Henry and Mary Ellen Emerick. His wife, the former Laura Jane Oster, died February 5, 1942.

He was a member of Ellerslie Reformed Church and the Woodmen of the World of this city.

Also surviving are another daughter, Mrs. Wilmer Null, this city; one brother, Harry Kelly, this city, and two sisters, Mrs. Nora Tempke, Hyndman, Mrs. Margaret Bowser, Madley, Pa. Seven grandchildren and six great grandchildren also survive.

A funeral service will be conducted Friday at 2 p. m. in the Zeigler Funeral Home, Hyndman, by Rev. John Bucher, pastor of Ellerslie Reformed Church. Burial will be in Lybarger Cemetery, Madley.

KARL M. MAUKERT

Karl Maximillion Maukert, principal and vice-president of Duff's Business College, Pittsburgh, Pa., died early yesterday in a Pittsburgh hospital, according to word received here by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Marie Frankfort, 104 Maple Street.

Mr. Maukert was a graduate and former instructor at Catherman's Business School here and was a graduate of Herman College, Herman, Pa.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Patrick Morgan and Miss Janet Maukert, both at home, and two aunts, the Misses Anna and Emily Hammersmith, Greene Street.

The body will be brought here for a funeral service and burial.

GEORGE E. HADLEY

George E. Hadley, 49, a Marine veteran of World War I and husband of Mrs. Mary Holmes Hadley, 514 Bedford Street, died Monday night in the Veterans Hospital at Kecoughtan, Va., where he had been a patient since June 27.

Born in Lonaconing, where he was formerly employed as a coal miner, Mr. Hadley was a son of Mrs. Lottie Brown Hadley, Lonaconing, and the late Henry Hadley. During World War I he served in Haiti for 17 months with the Marine Corps.

Besides his mother and widow, Mr. Hadley is survived by nine children, Mrs. Charles Starkey, Frostburg; Sgt. Edward Hadley, serving with the Army in Italy; Pvt. John T. Hadley, stationed at Camp Lee, Va.; Mrs. and Earl, Helena, Hilda, George, Jr., Carl Burton and Douglas Hadley, all at home.

Also surviving are three brothers, Jacob, Casper and Harry Hadley, Lonaconing; four sisters, Mrs. John B. Elliott and Mrs. William Keating, Lonaconing; Mrs. Verl Ash, Midland, and Mrs. William Neff, Hagerstown; and three grandchildren.

The body will be taken to the Eichhorn Funeral Home in Lonaconing.

Conner Appointed To B. & O. Post

Appointment of J. J. Conner, 628 Frederick Street, as assistant road foreman of engines on the west end of the Cumberland Division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, was announced yesterday by H. F. Wyatt, Cumberland Division superintendent.

The appointment of Conner, who has been an engineer, was effective yesterday. He succeds R. B. Wisegerber, Connellsville, Pa., who retired August 1.

Conner is a son-in-law of the late A. H. Bennett, former superintendent of the back shop here.

The west end of the Cumberland Division extends from Cumberland to Grafton, W. Va.

Liquor Board Rejects Three Applications

Three applications for beer licenses were rejected yesterday by the Allegany County Liquor Control Board. Two were refused because applicant's places of business are in areas where less than 500 persons live in a mile radius, as prescribed by law. The third was rejected because of the Board's policy to prevent the sale of beer or other intoxicants at bowling alleys, skating rinks, or places where minors assemble.

The applicants included John F. Diehl, whose place is about 300 yards from the Pennsylvania line on the Wellersburg Road above Barrellville; and Joseph Gardine, whose place is on the McCoole-Westernport Road.

Richard Young, who made application for a license at Crystal Park, where minors frequent, was the third rejection.

No new licenses were issued yesterday by the Board, and several complaints were taken under advisement.

National Guard Recruiting Drive Gets Underway

500 Men Wanted In This County

Two men were enlisted in Company C, First Battalion, 115th Infantry, Maryland National Guard here, as the national recruiting drive got underway this week, according to Lt. Col. Randolph Millholland. Gilbert D. Stevens, North Centre Street, and Howard R. Brenneman, Main Street, Westernport, each signed for three years.

The Guard has adopted the following slogan for the recruiting campaign for nearly 90,000 enlistments in all states: "Your National Guard Helps Guard the Peace."

In a proclamation, President Truman has asked the press, radio, veterans organizations, civic and service groups, to encourage enlistment in the National Guard, to help bring the nation's active Army Reserve to needed strength.

Annual pay rates for enlisted men, based on 48 drill periods and 15 days of summer field training, have been announced as follows: private, $157.50; private first class, $167.16; corporal, $189; sergeant, $210.84; staff sergeant, $231.34, technical sergeant, $283.50; master sergeant, $346.50; and first sergeant, $346.50.

There are three companies of National Guard in Allegany county, with a potential strength of about 600 men and officers, Millholland said. Two are located in Cumberland and one is being formed in Frostburg. If these units can be enlisted to full strength, it will mean nearly $100,000 additional annual payroll in the county, he explained, and men who enlist will be given training in technical fields, which will prove beneficial in their civilian activity, as well as provide the Armed Forces with a strong trained reserve for use in emergencies.

Wilson Gets 90 Days

Clyde Wilson, of near Oldtown, was sentenced to 90 days in the Allegany County Jail yesterday, by Magistrate Thomas Stakem, when arraigned in Juvenile Court on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of his minor children.

Public Places And Schools Closed By Polio Quarantine In Tucker County

Period To Extend Until October 1

PARSONS, W. Va.,—All public places, including schools, were closed yesterday in Tucker County for a 14-day polio quarantine period which health officers and school authorities say is a preventative measure as no cases of infantile paralysis have been reported.

According to notices posted in Parsons and St. George, the two main population centers in the county, all schools, theaters, public gatherings, clubs, football games, and shows and exhibits of all kinds are prohibited for a period of 14 days, terminating October 1.

Dr. F. K. Lyons, county health officer, stated the order is effective in the Black Fork District, Parsons and the town of St. George. Children at play are not permitted in groups of more than three, Dr. Lyons said.

Reardon Cuppett, county superintendent of schools, has announced that schools will close for a 14 day period and that the order is effective immediately. No schools will open today, he stated.

All children under the age of 16 are to remain off the streets of St. George and Parsons and Sheriff D. E. Crosten declared that the quarantine will be strictly enforced.

The Tucker County Fair Association announced that the fair will be postponed until after the quarantine is lifted.

Mr. Cuppett said last night that the football games between Parsons High School and Masontown at Parsons, and Thomas High and Petersburg High at Thomas both scheduled for Friday night, have been postponed.

Randolph County Ban May Be Lifted Monday

ELKINS, W. Va., Sept. 16 (AP)—A ban against public gatherings in Randolph County will be lifted next Monday unless a "substantial number" of new infantile paralysis cases are reported, it was announced here tonight.

Dr. Charles L. Leonard, Elkins City Health Officer and the acting health officer for the county, who made the announcement, said that one case of the disease has been reported in Randolph since last Wednesday. That raised the total for the year to 10, with five of the victims now undergoing treatment in a hospital at Milton.

Dr. Leonard added that the Elkins High School-Victory High School football game to be played in Clarksburg Friday night had been postponed. Meanwhile, the Davis and Elkins College gridders have continued practicing because they are quartered in dormitory units on the college campus.

Officials of the college also said today that they were sending out notices to prospective students to report Monday for the beginning of the new school term.

The order closing schools and all public gatherings in Randolph County was placed in effect last Thursday to curb what health officials feared would be a serious polio outbreak.

Wool, the fiber from sheep, lamb, angora or cashmere goat, may also include specialty fibers such as camel, alpaca, llama and vicuna.

Celanese And Union To Continue Talks

Officials of the Celanese Corporation of America and Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, will meet Thursday morning to continue negotiations on the distribution of a one-cent wage increase provided in the agreement which ended a four-week's strike June 30.

The preliminary meeting on the issue was held yesterday at the Celanese plant with Wesley Cook, New York, assistant director of the TWUA's rayon division, heading the union group.

The company and the union are meeting to agree on the distribution of the increase which was provided in the settlement for the correction of alleged wage inequalities within the plant.

A company spokesman said no definite agreement was made yesterday, explaining the company and union "reviewed the situation".

Red Cross To Offer Instructor's Course

A 15-hour water safety instructor's training course will be conducted in Cumberland the week of October 13, according to James E. Kelley, Jr., chairman of water safety for Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross.

Kelley said the course will be conducted by Robert Earl, area representative of first aid, water safety and accident prevention, from Red Cross eastern area headquarters in Alexandria, Va.

The place and time of the course will be announced later. Those interested in registering are asked to contact the local Red Cross office in the Postoffice Building.

Two Men Are Fined On Traffic Charges

Two local men were fined $15 each yesterday when charged with motor vehicle law violations at hearings before Justice of the Peace C. A. Jewell in Ridgeley.

They were booked as Arthur Dodrill, Jr., 17 West First Street, this city, charged with failing to keep to the right of the center of the road while passing another car, and James William Skelley, Route 5, this city, failing to keep to the right. They were arrested by Cpl. R. R. Karickhoff, Keyser.

Willis Baldwin, Route 1, Ridgeley, was fined $26 by Justice Jewell on a charge of carrying an uncased gun in the field in the Ridgeley area Sunday. Conservation Officer Hughes, who preferred the charge, said the man was hunting after night, armed with a rifle and a five cell flashlight.

News Briefs

Moses Speert, prominent Baltimore industrialist and civic leader, will be the principal speaker at a preliminary dinner for workers and committee members of the fall campaign of the Jewish Welfare Fund of Western Maryland. The dinner will be held tonight at 6:30 o'clock at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Ellsworth Dewey Skidmore, Westernport, has enlisted in the regular Navy as seaman first class and has been transferred to Washington, D. C., for assignment, according to Chief Torpedoman Edgar L. Schrader, local Navy recruiter. Skidmore served 25 months in the Navy as gunner's mate third class.

A regular membership meeting of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, CIO, will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the union hall.

Fort Washington Chapter No. 2 Disabled American Veterans, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the home of the Chapter on Centre Street. Following the meeting the DAV building corporation will meet and a social hour will be held.

County Officials Study Photostat Plan

County officials, including two judges, clerk of court and two deputy clerks, went to Rockville, Montgomery County yesterday to study new photo-methods of recording legal and court documents.

Chief Judge William A. Huster, Clerk of Court Robert Jackson and Associate Judge George Henderson, Deputy Clerks Joseph Boden and G. Walter Fisher made the trip.

A law was enacted at the last session of the General Assembly, legalizing a photostat plan for use in recording various instruments at the Court House here, instead of retyping them into the records. The new system is said to speed up recording work, where it is being used, and to be more economical over a period of time.

The Allegany County Bar Association, some time ago, when recording had fallen behind due to the increase of legal work, recommended that the system be employed here. Many other counties have photostatic machines, and have found them, in most instances, satisfactory.

Hebb Re-elected Head Of South End Republicans

Victor M. Hebb was re-elected president of the South End Republican Club for his third successive year at a meeting last night at the club rooms, 222 Virginia Avenue, attended by approximately 250 persons.

Other officers elected for the ensuing year are Jerry Beeche, vice-president; William Shipley, secretary, and Milton Ryan, treasurer. Beeche was re-elected.

The new officers will be installed at the next regular meeting, to be held October 7.

Two Suits Filed

Navy Mothers Club Work Explained To Marine Reservists

Two members of the Navy Mothers Club of Cumberland were guests of the local Marine Reserve unit at its weekly drill period last night and an invitation was extended to mothers of the members of Company D to join the local volunteer organization.

Mrs. Lacy A. Welsh, past commander of the club, and Mrs. Gladys Menges, matron-at-arms, explained to the reservists that the mothers of members of the Coast Guard, Navy, and Marine Corps and their reserve components are eligible to join the organization.

They stated that the group is not affiliated with another service club and explained that aid is given by the Navy Mothers to veterans in hospitals and to those ex-servicemen who are in need. The next meeting of the Navy Mothers will be held at the Veterans of Foreign Wars home on Union Street Friday, September 26 at 7:30 p. m.

At the drill period, Capt. John T. Fey, company commander, announced that an initial training schedule will be made effective September 23. The drills, lectures and instruction will consist of: Purpose of the organized Marine Corps Reserve; close order drill; instructions on explosives and demolition; history and tradition, and discipline, customs and courtesy of the service.

Six men who applied for duty with Company D last night were Sgt. Joseph C. Green, Cpl. John E. Stowell and Cpl. Francis J. Nolan, all of Mt. Savage; Pvt. Conrad L. Yost, 1002 Lexington Avenue; Pvt. Calvin L. Hudson, 208 New Hampshire Avenue, and Pvt. William W. Hunter, LaVale.

P-TA Outlines Aims For Coming Year

Programs concerning health and education will highlight the meetings of the Columbia Street School Parent-Teacher Association, it was decided at a meeting of the executive committee of the group last night at the school.

Frank Kaplon, president of the association, was chairman of the meeting and announced that the objective of the organization for the 1947-1948 term would deal with securing for each child the highest advantages in physical, mental, social and spiritual education.

Plans were made for the purchase of recreational articles to be used by the children of the school during play periods. It was also decided that the association will endeavor to raise funds for the purchase of a motion picture projector for the school.

The organization will meet five times this school year, on the third Tuesday of October, December, February, April and May.

Officers serving with Kaplon are Walter Bell, vice president; Mrs. Joseph Buday, secretary, and John A. Kreiling, treasurer. The executive committee includes the officers and Miss Sarah Higgins, principal of the school; Mrs. James Conrad and Mrs. O. J. Hale.

BAPTIST WOMEN PLAN QUARTERLY MEETING

The quarterly meeting of the Baptist Western District Women's Mission Union will be held September 25, at Mountain Lake Park, beginning at 11 a. m., with Mrs. Glenmore Rice, superintendent, presiding.

The following state officers from Baltimore will hold conferences during the morning session. They are Mrs. A. E. Whedbee, president; Miss Marjorie Allen, executive secretary; Miss Eunice Hayes, young peoples secretary; and Mrs. H. Otis Mayhew, Stewardship chairman.

During the afternoon session, Mrs. Lysle L. Simmons, state mission study chairman, will teach the book, "Pray Ye."

This district includes the three churches in Cumberland; two in Frostburg; one each in Eckhart, Westernport, Mountain Lake Park, Ferndale and Deep Creek.

Forms For Pollution Complaints Available

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 16—(AP)—Official forms for complaints on polluted water conditions are ready for public use, Paul M. McKee, executive secretary of the Maryland Water Pollution Control Commission, announced today.

"We wish to encourage public requests for the information forms, so that they may be distributed as widely as possible throughout the state," he said.

The forms have been sent already to regional game wardens, supervising inspectors, two district supervisors of the Tidewater Fisheries Commission and 16 yacht clubs. Others are being mailed to 75 sportsmen's clubs.

Girl Scout Council Appoints Deputy And Delegates

Mrs. Lester Millenson was appointed second deputy commissioner of the Cumberland Council of Girl Scouts, at a meeting of the Council yesterday afternoon at Girl Scout Headquarters.

Mrs. Millenson succeeds Mrs. William Somerville, who was advanced to first deputy commissioner when Mrs. Gordon Mitchell was appointed commissioner.

Mrs. Althea Correll, executive director, and Miss Mary Shriver were appointed delegates to the National Girl Scout Convention, which will be held next month in Long Beach, Calif.

Mrs. Millenson and Mrs. J. Henry Holzshu, co-chairmen of the camp committee, gave a report on the first session of camping at the newly acquired established camp. They reported that 14 girls attended the camp for one week this summer and that the camp was successful.

Mrs. Seth Bowen reported that 100 persons, including Brownie, Intermediate and Senior Girl Scouts and counsellors, attended day camp held two weeks at Kiwanis Sunshine Camp.

Mrs. Correll announced that a basic training course in Girl Scout Leadership will be held this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the headquarters. A similar course will be held Friday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Local WCTU Names Year's Chairmen

Chairmen for the year were appointed by Mrs. E. W. Yates at the meeting of the Cumberland Unit of Women's Christian Temperance Union, yesterday at Central YMCA. They are Mrs. F. F. Fleming, Union Signal chairman; Mrs. Grace Storer, White Ribbon Herald; Mrs. John S. Cook, Light Line chairman; Mrs. Nellie Kesecker, Health and Mental Temperance chairman; Mrs. Don Miller, Sailors and Soldiers; Mrs. Walter Trout, Flowers and Missions; Mrs. Edward Walker, Child Welfare and Mrs. Carl Perdew, Music director.

The program opened with group singing, led by Mrs. Perdew, who also sang a solo, "The Days That Lie Before," with Mrs. Yates at the piano. Mrs. Charles Montgomery led the devotionals on the topic, "The Word, the Value and How It Is Used and Regarded." Mrs. Yates gave a talk on the "Dangers of Marihuana."

During the business session reports were given by Mrs. Cook, Mrs. Elizabeth Zilch and Mrs. John Biller, who also displayed an afghan which she made to send to convalescents at Walter Reed Hospital. She also appealed for more yarn for other afghans.

Girls' Central Will Adopt Uniforms Here

Students of Catholic Girls' Central High School will adopt uniforms for the current school term, it was announced here yesterday.

Although there has not yet been a decision on the style, the uniforms will consist of green skirts, white blouses and green caps and sweaters.

DEATHS

BERNARD GILES RITES

A funeral service for Bernard E. Giles, 66, who died suddenly of a heart attack at his home, 417 Pine Place, yesterday morning at 9:15 o'clock, will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Stein Funeral Home.

Rev. James A. Richards, pastor of First Methodist Church, will officiate and burial will be in Zion Memorial Cemetery.

Mr. Giles, who operated a cigar and magazine stand at 122 North Mechanic Street, was a native of Paw Paw, W. Va., a son of the late William and Martha Larkin Giles.

His father was at one time superintendent of the United States Tannery here. His wife, Mrs. Mollie Deetz Giles, did last December.

Mr. Giles was a member of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, F. O. Eagles.

Surviving are three sons, Dubois and Orville F. Giles, both of this city, and Bernard E. Giles, Jr., Hagerstown; one daughter, Mrs. Martha Jane Crumbine, Hagerstown; a brother, Dubois Giles, Middleburg, Ky., and a sister, Mrs. Marion Wolf, this city.

JOHN ANDREW KELLY

John Andrew Kelly, 80, a former resident of Ellerslie, died yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Fuller Barkley, Hyndman, Pa.

Mr. Kelly was a resident of Ellerslie until he became ill about three months ago and went to make his home with his daughter. He was formerly employe as a laborer in the Ellerslie brickyards.

Mr. Kelly was born August 19, 1867, in Cooks Mill, Pa., a son of the late Henry and Mary Ellen Emerick. His wife, the former Laura Jane Oster, died February 5, 1942.

He was a member of Ellerslie Reformed Church and the Woodmen of the World of this city.

Also surviving are another daughter, Mrs. Wilmer Null, this city; one brother, Harry Kelly, this city, and two sisters, Mrs. Nora Tempke, Hyndman, Mrs. Margaret Bowser, Madley, Pa. Seven grandchildren and six great grandchildren also survive.

A funeral service will be conducted Friday at 2 p. m. in the Zeigler Funeral Home, Hyndman, by Rev. John Bucher, pastor of Ellerslie Reformed Church. Burial will be in Lybarger Cemetery, Madley.

KARL M. MAUKERT

Karl Maximillion Maukert, principal and vice-president of Duff's Business College, Pittsburgh, Pa., died early yesterday in a Pittsburgh hospital, according to word received here by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Marie Frankfort, 104 Maple Street.

Mr. Maukert was a graduate and former instructor at Catherman's Business School here and was a graduate of Herman College, Herman, Pa.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Patrick Morgan and Miss Janet Maukert, both at home, and two aunts, the Misses Anna and Emily Hammersmith, Greene Street.

The body will be brought here for a funeral service and burial.

GEORGE E. HADLEY

George E. Hadley, 49, a Marine veteran of World War I and husband of Mrs. Mary Holmes Hadley, 514 Bedford Street, died Monday night in the Veterans Hospital at Kecoughtan, Va., where he had been a patient since June 27.

Born in Lonaconing, where he was formerly employed as a coal miner, Mr. Hadley was a son of Mrs. Lottie Brown Hadley, Lonaconing, and the late Henry Hadley. During World War I he served in Haiti for 17 months with the Marine Corps.

Besides his mother and widow, Mr. Hadley is survived by nine children, Mrs. Charles Starkey, Frostburg; Sgt. Edward Hadley, serving with the Army in Italy; Pvt. John T. Hadley, stationed at Camp Lee, Va.; and Earl, Helena, Hilda, George, Jr., Carl Burton and Douglas Hadley, all at home.

Also surviving are three brothers, Jacob, Casper and Harry Hadley, Lonaconing; four sisters, Mrs. John B. Elliott and Mrs. William Keating, Lonaconing; Mrs. Verl Ash, Midland, and Mrs. William Neff, Hagerstown; and three grandchildren.

The body will be taken to the Eichhorn Funeral Home in Lonaconing.

Conner Appointed To B. & O. Post

Appointment of J. J. Conner, 628 Frederick Street, as assistant road foreman of engines on the west end of the Cumberland Division of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, was announced yesterday by H. F. Wyatt, Cumberland Division superintendent.

The appointment of Conner, who has been an engineer, was effective yesterday. He succeds R. B. Wisegerber, Connellsville, Pa., who retired August 1.

Conner is a son-in-law of the late A. H. Bennett, former superintendent of the back shop here.

The west end of the Cumberland Division extends from Cumberland to Grafton, W. Va.

Liquor Board Rejects Three Applications

Three applications for beer licenses were rejected yesterday by the Allegany County Liquor Control Board. Two were refused because applicant's places of business are in areas where less than 500 persons live in a mile radius, as prescribed by law. The third was rejected because of the Board's policy to prevent the sale of beer or other intoxicants at bowling alleys, skating rinks, or places where minors assemble.

The applicants included John F. Diehl, whose place is about 300 yards from the Pennsylvania line on the Wellersburg Road above Barrellville; and Joseph Gardine, whose place is on the McCoole-Westernport Road.

Richard Young, who made application for a license at Crystal Park, where minors frequent, was the third rejection.

No new licenses were issued yesterday by the Board, and several complaints were taken under advisement.

Radio in Review

By JOHN CROSBY

Robt. McCormick

CHICAGO — Colonel Robert Rutherford McCormick has always insisted that WGN is primarily a public service station and though he frequently gets the public interest confused with his own, in many way it is. One WGN stunt which started as a memorable public service and ended as a colossal nuisance was the broadcast of police calls in 1929, the forerunner of the present day radio-equipped squad cars. WGN equipped fifteen police cars with radio sets and interrupted all its programs to broadcast emergency police calls. In the middle of a string quartet, a bell would clang twice and an announcer would gabble excitedly: "Squad fifty-eight proceed to the corner of State and Monroe. A man has been stabbed." By the time the cops arrived, the scene of the crime was usually mobbed by thrill-seeking WGN listeners and the police would have to fight their way in.

The thrill wore off in a hurry. Since Chicago has some sort of police action every five or ten minutes, WGN listeners were driven to distraction by the clanging bell. Complaints began to pour in from listeners and also from sponsors. One WGN program at the time was sponsored by Elcar, an automobile anufacturer. Repeatedly during the Elcar program, the police would break in to announce that thieves were seen heading south on Michigan in a blue Buick. Criminals perversely committed their depredation in every make of auto except Elcar, whose brand name got lost in the shuffle.

However, Colonel McCormick studbbornly decreed that Chicago's law and order came above all other considerations and ordered the police gong to remain. No program was sacred. One of President Hoover's infrequent broadcasts was interrupted to bring Chicago police the news that small boys were breaking into a candy store on the south side. But one day the police gong went too far. It interrupted one of McCormick's talks over WGN. A short time later the police calls were abruptly abandoned.

While McCormick doesn't meddle often in station management, WGN is expected to do its part to stir up public interest in any of the colonel's pet projects. Recently the colonel got interested in artificial rain-making by sowing clouds with dry ice. A plane was hired and rain was distributed through the courtesy of Colonel McCormick over a small sector of Illinois. Though the rain-making experiments were months old and the Colonel was virtually last in the field, WGN vered the event as if it were invented by "The Chicago Tribune."

When WGN gets really stirred up over a special event, it covers every inch of it including the dust on the floor. Some of these broadcasts were masterpieces of trivia. In 1940, WGN plunged wholeheartedly into publicizing the notification ceremonies for Wendell Wilkie at Elwood, Indiana, which was both a Republican and a mid-Western event and consequently of towering importance to Colonel McCormick. Six weeks before the notification ceremonies, Quin Ryan, manager of WGN and its chief announcer, was dispatched to Elwood to deliver special broadcasts. Ryan ran through everything of interest in Elwood in a few days and had a terrible time finding anything to talk about.

However, when WGN concentrated on news instead of "Tribune" promotion it was a lively station. Its boast was that it went farther afield for news than any other station could broadcast. In 1926, it broadcast the World Court debate in the Senate for Chicago ears alone. Every year it brought its listeners seven hours of the Memorial Day race at Indianapolis. WGN broadcast all the home games of the Cubs and the White Sox. In the fall it broadcast football games of interest to Mid-Westerners no matter how far away. In 1925, the station cheerfully pair line charges to Philadelphia so Chicagoans could hear about Red Grange running wild over Pennsylvania. WGN went to Houston, Texas, in 1928 to broadcast the Democratic National Convention there and to Kansas City for the Republican convention the same year. The station inaugurated what may be the first radio debate when Quin Ryan persuaded Clarence Darrow and Wayne B. Wheeler to argue the relative merits of prohibition on the air in 1925.

This sort of imaginative broadcasting is all pretty well in the past. WGN rarely ventures out of Chicago any more and depends on the Mutual Broadcasting System for its special events of importance. It doesn't carry nearly as many as it once did and it no longer broadcasts any ball games. Its afternoon daytime programing is now largely commercial and some of the programs are little horrors of commercialism. (Two-ton Baker, a pianist and zany comedian, has one half-hour program with six transcribed commercials.) The spirit of adventure had departed and with it much of WGN's early vigor.

City Receives Map Of London

Mayor Thomas S. Post has received a pictorial map of the City of London, presented to Cumberland by the Lord Mayor of London and drawn by Kerry Lee for the Travel Association of Great Britain and Northern Ireland.

The map carries a quotation from a broadcast made by Winston Churchill in 1940, "We would rather see London in ruins and ashes than it should be tamely and abjectly enslaved."

The president of Perú and two vice presidents are elected by direct suffrage for a period of six years, and are barred from re-election.

Description Of Freedom Train To Be Radioed Today

Eastern Standard (For Daylight add one hour except ABC times, which fit either Daylight or Standard)

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—Description of the Freedom Train is the announced purpose of an MBS special for 3:45 p. m. Wednesday. It will come from Philadelphia shortly before it starts on a nationwide tour. It is planned, also, to include some interviews.

Continuing its U Nweek broadcasts at 12 noon, NBC has listed these speakers: Thomas J. Watson,Canadian Ambassador Humphrey Hume Wrong, Tor Gjesdel of UN and Leon E. Golden of Rotary International. Half of the program will originate at Rockerfeller Plaza in New York City and the other half from Tarrytown, N. Y.

Vic Damone of the Saturday Serenade on CBS is to sing again in the Paul Whiteman Assembly program on ABC at 8:30. This show is on behalf of the National Guard recruiting campaign.

Chamber music by Tschaikowsky is on the list for the Invitation of Music for CBS at 10:30 as Bernard Herrmann again occupies the podium . . . The Red Barber Sports series on CBS at 5:30 Mondays through Fridays this week is giving its attention to surveys, on a regional basis, of football prospects.

Quiet Please, which uses the voice of Ernest Chappell for the narration as well as acting purposes, puts on its second MBS-er at the new time of 7:30.

Robert L. Walsh, vs. Betty Catherine Walsh. No. 20297 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.
ORDER OF PUBLICATION
The object of this suit is to procure a decree of absolute divorce of the complainant from the defendant.
The bill states that the parties were married September, 15th, 1945 in Oakland, Maryland, and no children were born of the marriage. That the defendant deserted and abandoned the complainant on March 1st, 1946, and that such desertion has been continuous for more than eighteen months. That the maiden name of the defendant was Betty Dean; that the complainant is a resident of the State of Maryland and the defendant a non resident of said State.
IT IS THEREUPON, this 16 day of September, 1947, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in equity, ordered that the Complainant by causing a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper, once in each of four successive weeks before the 17th day of October, 1947, giving notice to the said absent defendant of the object and purpose of this suit and warning her to be and appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 3rd day of November, 1947, and show cause, if any she has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.
ROBERT JACKSON,
Clerk.

MORTGAGE SALE
Of Valuable Property Located in Barrelville, Allegany County, Maryland.
Under and by virtue of a power of sale contained in a mortgage dated August 23, 1946, and recorded among the Mortgage Records of Allegany County, Maryland, in Liber No. 185, folio 469, default having occurred in the covenants, terms and conditions of said mortgage, the undersigned, attorney named in said mortgage, will offer for sale at public auction at the corner of South Liberty and Baltimore Streets, by the side of the Second National Bank, Cumberland, Maryland, on WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 1st, 1947
at 10 o'clock A. M.
the following described real estate, being the property by said mortgage conveyed:
All that lot or parcel of ground situated in the Northeast end of Barrelville, Allegany County, State of Maryland, said parcel contains Dwelling Number (54) formerly owned by the Cumberland Company, and more particularly described as follows, to-wit:
BEGINNING for the same at an iron pipe stake standing 230 55/100 feet on the Eighth (8) line of the 8th parcel of ground conveyed from the Cumberland Company to the Investors Realty Corporation of Cumberland, Maryland, by deed dated the 20th day of September, 1940, and recorded in Liber No. 188, folio 13, one of the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, and running thence (with vernier readings reduced to Magnetic Bearings as of February 1931, and with horizontal measurements) cutting across said 8th parcel, North 53 degrees and 36 minutes West 90 5/10 feet to an iron pipe stake standing at the end of the fourth line of the 8th parcel of the aforementioned deed, thence with the fifth line of said 8th parcel, South 52 degrees and 50 minutes West 75 3/10 feet to an iron pipe stake, thence cutting across the said 8th parcel, South 45 degrees and 49 minutes East 102 9/10 feet to an iron pipe stake standing on the 8th line of the said 8th parcel, thence with part of said 8th line, North 42 degrees and forty minutes East 89 9/10 feet to the beginning, containing 18/100 acres more or less.
It being the same property conveyed to Colin M. Bowers and Ida Bowers, his wife, by Orpha J. Hockenberry, widow, by deed dated August 23, 1946, and recorded among the Land Records of Allegany County, Maryland, in Liber No. 210, folio 695.
The above lot is improved by a two-story frame dwelling, containing 6 rooms, and equipped with electricity and water, and is in good state of repair.
Taxes and all other assessments levied against said property will be adjusted to date of sale.
TERMS OF SALE: One-third cash on day of sale and the balance on delivery of deed.
MORRIS BARON,
Attorney Named in Mortgage.

Stock Market, Led By Industrials, Stages Its Best Rally Of Month

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—(AP)—Industrial shares led the stock market today in a speedy finish that produced the best rally of the month.

The flurry of demand for steels, rubbers, motors and some oils and specialties shook dealings out of the sluggish course they followed most of the day.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite climbed .5 of a point to 64.4 for its best advance since August 29. Of 938 issues registering 526 were higher and 198 retreated.

Closing a point or more higher were United States Steel at 70, Bethlehem at 87, Republic Steel at 26¾, General Motors at 58, United States Rubber at 43⅝, Goodrich at 53, Standard Oil (N.J.) at 76¼, Warren Petroleum at 40½, American Smelting at 60, Schenley at 31½, United States Smelting and Refining at 49, Western Union at 25¼, and Colgate-Palmolive-Peet at 46¾.

On an increased dividend Gotham Hosiery spurted 1¾ to close at 20¼. Rails moved ahead fractionally with better gains registered by New York Central, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Northern Pacific and Baltimore and Ohio.

Curb leaders on the advance included Cities Service, Root Petroleum, West Virginia Coal and Coke, Brown-Forman Distillers, New Jersey Zinc and Electric Bond and Share.

Corporates closing lower included A.T. and T. 2⅝s of '75 at 99¾, Northern Western 4½s at 65⅜, New Haven 4s of '47 at 49¾, Cottonbelt refunding 5s at 85¼, and Wabash 3¼s at 96½.

Higher were B. and O. stamped convertibles at 47⅝, St. Paul convertibles at 55, Rock Island refunding 4s at 51¼, Rio Grande Western incomes at 48¾, International Great Northern adjustment 6s at 24½, and New York Central consolidated 4s at 66¾.

United States government issues in the over-the-cunter market moved narrowly, with the 2½s of December 1967-72 up 1-32 of a point at 102 26-32 bid.

ORDINANCE NO. 1826

AN ORDINANCE OF THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF CUMBERLAND, MARYLAND, ENTITLED, "AN ORDINANCE TO PROVIDE FOR SAFEGUARDING PERSONS AND PROPERTY AND PROMOTING THE WELFARE OF THE PUBLIC BY ESTABLISHING STANDARDS FOR LIQUEFIED PETROLEUM GAS EQUIPMENT."

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF CUMBERLAND, MARYLAND, AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. Definition of Liquefied Petroleum Gas. The term "liquefied Petroleum gas" as used in this ordinance, shall mean and include any material which is composed predominantly of any of the following hydrocarbons, or mixtures of them; propane, propylene, butanes (normal butane or isobutane) and butylenes.

SECTION 2. Application of Provisions of this Ordinance.

(a) The term "liquefied petroleum gas equipment" as herein referred to shall be construed to embrace all devices, piping and equipment pertinent to the use of liquefied petroleum gas, except gas-burning appliances.

(b) The term "appliances" as herein referred to shall be construed to embrace all gas-burning appliances intended for use with liquefied petroleum gas.

SECTION 3. Standards For Liquefied Petroleum Gas Equipment And Its Installation. All installation of liquefied petroleum gas equipment shall be in comformity with the provisions of this ordinance, with the statutes of the State of Maryland and with any orders, rules or regulation issued by authority thereof and with generally recognized standards for safety to persons and property. Where no specific standards are prescribed by this ordinance or by the statutes of the State of Maryland or by any orders, rules or regulations issued by authority thereof, conformity with the Standards of the National Board of Fire Underwriters for the Design, Installation and Construction of Containers and Pertinent Equipment for the Storage and Handling of Liquefied Petroleum Gases as recommended by the National Fire Protection Association (Pamphlet No. 58) shall be prima facie evidence of conformity with generally recognized standards for safety to persons and property.

SECTION 4. Record of Installations. Every person, firm or corporation installing liquefied petroleum gas equipment, other than gas-burning appliances and replacing of portable cylinders in Cumberland shall keep a record of each installation, showing the name and address of the customer at whose place the liquefied petroleum gas equipment has been installed and the date of the installation, and shall disclose such record to the Fire Inspector at any time, upon his request, during regular business hours.

SECTION 5. Inspection Of Installations. The Fire Inspector shall inspect all installations of liquefied petroleum gas equipment.

SECTION 6. Plants Devoted To Filling Containers. In addition to the foregoing provision, plants devoted to filling liquefied petroleum gas containers shall comply with the following requirements, except office buildings and other buildings or structures on the same property which are not used for filling containers or other similar operations;

(a) In no case shall any plant storage tank be located closer than 50 ft. from any building not physically connected with the plant, or to any line of adjoining property which may be built upon.

(b) Artificial lighting shall be restricted to electricity. In buildings or portions of buildings containing liquefied petroleum gas storage containers, and in buildings or portions of buildings where cylinders or tank trucks are filled, all electrical equipment for light and power shall be in compliance with the requirements of the National Electrical Code for Class I, Group D, Hazardous locations; heating shall be by steam, hot water, or hot air with heating units located in a separate building provided for this purpose, or in a separate room cut off from all other portions of the building by vaper-tight fire resistant walls and with entrance from the outside.

SECTION 7. Tank Trucks. Tank trucks used in the distribution of liquefied petroleum gas shall conform to provisions set out in Section 3 of this ordinance.

SECTION 8. Penalties. Any person, firm or corporation who shall violate any of the provisions of this ordinance and who, after notice from the Fire Inspector shall fail to correct any incorrect installations within twenty (20) days after receiving such notice, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) nor more than One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) for each offense, and in default thereof by imprisonment for not less than five (5) days nor more than thirty (30) days.

SECTION 9. Validity. If any section, sub-section, sentence, clause or phrase of this ordinance is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this ordinance. The City of Cumberland hereby declares that it would have passed this ordinance and each section, sub-section, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared unconstitutional.

SECTION 10. Repeal of Conflicting Ordinances. All ordinances or parts of ordinances conflicting with the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed.

SECTION 11. AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, That this ordinance are hereby repealed.

SECTION 11. AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, That this ordinance are hereby repealed.

SECTION 11. AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, That this ordinance shall take effect three (3) days after its passage and publication.

Passed this 15th day of September, 1947.
THOMAS S. POST,
Mayor.
Attest:
S. E. GRIMINGER,
City Clerk.

SUSIE Q. SMITH — By Linda and Jerry Walter

"Yes, Mrs. White . . . I was just getting them to bed . . .!!"

received the highest honor the Salvation Army can bestow when she was presented with the Order of the Founder on September 1 for her work among the mountain people.

The local girl serves as private secretary to Major Brown and assists in the publication of the Mountain Circle News, a mimeographed letter which gives news of the Maple Springs Community Center and the eight mission centers the group conducts in Hayward and Madison Counties.

Her other activities include playing the accordion and piano for meetings and instructing a class of eight students in the piano. She is also in charge of the Maple Springs Corps and assists in the general mission work of the project.

Hold Song Fest

One of the great events of the year at the center is the annual singing convention held in Maple Springs September 3. More than 1,000 persons, chiefly mountain people, attended the all-day meeting, she said.

Most of the music used in the song fest, she said, is religious music set to mountain tunes and accompanied by guitars, fiddles, accordions and harps.

The work in the Great Smoky Mountains is recognized as one of the finest missionary projects in the United States. A similar project is conducted by the Salvation Army in Mexico.

Major Brown, who is herself a native of the Great Smoky Mountains, entered the Salvation Army in Asheville, N. C., following her conversion, and chose to aid her own people as her life's work.

Plan Medical Center

Since the nearest hospital is over 25 miles from the center, Major Brown's latest plans call for establishment of a medical clinic at the community center. In cases of serious accidets now, patients must be given first aid and then transported down the mountain trails in one of the vehicles the center uses. A few years ago all travel was by horseback.

All of the furniture used in the community center and homes of the project are hand made and Major Brown has fostered the native arts through the operation of hand made looms to make rugs and much of the cloth used in the community.

Proof that the work among the mountain people is reaping a harvest is the fact that two of Miss Wall's classmates in the training college, Lt. Zeta Flemming and Lt. Mildred Kirby, were both natives of the Great Smoky Mountains. Both of them were assigned to assist Major Brown in the work among their people.

Although the center hopes to get electricity soon and now has several motor vehicles, it is an active life since members of the staff hold services in each of the eight missions at least once a month.

Jockeys Escape Injury In Marlboro Mishaps

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., Sept. 16 (AP)—Two jockeys were shaken up here today, but escaped serious injury when they were thrown by their mounts.

Benjamin Brady was tossed into the infield off Teddy Smart in the second race, and Eddie Hopkins fell with Pickworth in the seventh. Brady, from Bowie, Md., was carried into the infield when his mount suddenly jumped the rail. He rode his first winner at the recent Cumberland meeting.

Poat Beats Cards

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 16—(AP)—With all thoughts of overtaking the pennant bound Brooklyn Dodgers practically gone now, the fast fading St. Louis Cardinals were faced with the prospect of losing second place today as the New York Giants handed them their third straight licking 7-2.

Rookie Ray Poat went all the way for the New Yorkers, limiting the defending champions to seven hits for his fourth victory against one defeat. Harry Brecheen was the loser, dropping his 11th game against 15 wins. Box:

Robert L. Walsh, vs. Betty Catherine Walsh. No. 20297 Equity in the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Maryland.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

The bill states that the parties were married September, 15th, 1945 in Oakland, Maryland, and no children were born of the marriage. That the defendant deserted and abandoned the complainant on March 1st, 1946, and that such desertion has been continuous for more than eighteen months. That the maiden name of the defendant was Betty Dean; that the complainant is a resident of the State of Maryland and the defendant a non resident of said State.

IT IS THEREUPON, this 16 day of September, 1947, by the Circuit Court for Allegany County, in equity, ordered that the Complainant by causing a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper, once in each of four successive weeks before the 17th day of October, 1947, giving notice to the said absent defendant of the object and purpose of this suit and warning her to be and appear in this Court in person or by Solicitor, on or before the 3rd day of November, 1947, and show cause, if any she has, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

Stock Market, Led By Industrials, Stages Its Best Rally Of Month

NEW YORK, Sept. 16—(AP)—Industrial shares led the stock market today in a speedy finish that produced the best rally of the month.

The flurry of demand for steels, rubbers, motors and some oils and specialties shook dealings out of the sluggish course they followed most of the day.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite climbed .5 of a point to 64.4 for its best advance since August 29. Of 938 issues registering 526 were higher and 198 retreated.

Closing a point or more higher were United States Steel at 70, Bethlehem at 87, Republic Steel at 26¾, General Motors at 58, United States Rubber at 43⅝, Goodrich at 53, Standard Oil (N.J.) at 76¼, Warren Petroleum at 40½, American Smelting at 60, Schenley at 31½, United States Smelting and Refining at 49, Western Union at 25¼, and Colgate-Palmolive-Peet at 46¾.

On an increased dividend Gotham Hosiery spurted 1¾ to close at 20¼. Rails moved ahead fractionally with better gains registered by New York Central, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Northern Pacific and Baltimore and Ohio.

Curb leaders on the advance included Cities Service, Root Petroleum, West Virginia Coal and Coke, Brown-Forman Distillers, New Jersey Zinc and Electric Bond and Share.

Corporates closing lower included A.T. and T. 2¾s of '75 at 99¾, Northern Western 4½s at 65¾, New Haven 4s of '47 at 49¾, Cottonbelt refunding 5s at 85¼, and Wabash 3¼s at 96½.

Higher were B. and O. stamped convertibles at 47⅝, St. Paul convertibles at 55, Rock Island refunding 4s at 51¼, Rio Grande Western incomes at 48¾, International Great Northern adjustment 6s at 24½, and New York Central consolidated 4s at 66¾.

United States government issues in the over-the-cunter market moved narrowly, with the 2½s of December 1967-72 up 1-32 of a point at 102 26-32 bid.

ORDINANCE NO. 1826

AN ORDINANCE OF THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF CUMBERLAND, MARYLAND, ENTITLED, "AN ORDINANCE TO PROVIDE FOR SAFEGUARDING PERSONS AND PROPERTY AND PROMOTING THE WELFARE OF THE PUBLIC BY ESTABLISHING STANDARDS FOR LIQUEFIED PETROLEUM GAS EQUIPMENT."

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE MAYOR AND CITY COUNCIL OF CUMBERLAND, MARYLAND, AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. Definition of Liquefied Petroleum Gas. The term "liquefied Petroleum gas" as used in this ordinance, shall mean and include any material which is composed predominantly of any of the following hydrocarbons, or mixtures of them; propane, propylene, butanes (normal butane or isobutane) and butylenes.

SECTION 2. Application of Provisions of this Ordinance.

(a) The term "liquefied petroleum gas equipment" as herein referred to shall be construed to embrace all devices, piping and equipment pertinent to the use of liquefied petroleum gas, except gas-burning appliances.

(b) The term "appliances" as herein referred to shall be construed to embrace all gas-burning appliances intended for use with liquefied petroleum gas.

SECTION 3. Standards For Liquefied Petroleum Gas Equipment And Its Installation. All installation of liquefied petroleum gas equipment shall be in conformity with the provisions of this ordinance, with the statutes of the State of Maryland and with any orders, rules or regulation issued by authority thereof and with generally recognized standards for safety to persons and property. Where no specific standards are prescribed by this ordinance or by the statutes of the State of Maryland or by any orders, rules or regulations issued by authority thereof, conformity with the Standards of the National Board of Fire Underwriters for the Design, Installation and Construction of Containers and Pertinent Equipment for the Storage and Handling of Liquefied Petroleum Gases as recommended by the National Fire Protection Association (Pamphlet No. 58) shall be prima facie evidence of conformity with generally recognized standards for safety to persons and property.

SECTION 4. Record of Installations. Every person, firm or corporation installing liquefied petroleum gas equipment, other than gas-burning appliances and replacing of portable cylinders in Cumberland shall keep a record of each installation, showing the name and address of the customer at whose place the liquefied petroleum gas equipment has been installed and the date of the installation, and shall disclose such record to the Fire Inspector at any time, upon his request, during regular business hours.

SECTION 5. Inspection Of Installations. The Fire Inspector shall inspect all installations of liquefied petroleum gas equipment.

SECTION 6. Plants Devoted To Filling Containers. In addition to the foregoing provision, plants devoted to filling liquefied petroleum gas containers shall comply with the following requirements, except office buildings and other buildings or structures on the same property which are not used for filling containers or other similar operations;

(a) In no case shall any plant storage tank be located closer than 50 ft. from any building not physically connected with the plant, or to any line of adjoining property which may be built upon.

(b) Artificial lighting shall be restricted to electricity. In buildings or portions of buildings containing liquefied petroleum gas storage containers, and in buildings or portions of buildings where cylinders or tank trucks are filled, all electrical equipment for light and power shall be in compliance with the requirements of the National Electrical Code for Class I, Group D, Hazardous locations; heating shall be by steam, hot water, or hot air with heating units located in a separate building provided for this purpose, or in a separate room cut off from all other portions of the building by vaper-tight fire resistant walls and with entrance from the outside.

SECTION 7. Tank Trucks. Tank trucks used in the distribution of liquefied petroleum gas shall conform to provisions set out in Section 3 of this ordinance.

SECTION 8. Penalties. Any person, firm or corporation who shall violate any of the provisions of this ordinance and who, after notice from the Fire Inspector shall fail to correct any incorrect installations within twenty (20) days after receiving such notice, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) nor more than One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) for each offense, and in default thereof by imprisonment for not less than five (5) days nor more than thirty (30) days.

SECTION 9. Validity. If any section, sub-section, sentence, clause or phrase of this ordinance is for any reason held to be unconstitutional, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this ordinance. The City of Cumberland hereby declares that it would have passed this ordinance and each section, sub-section, sentence, clause or phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, sub-sections, sentences, clauses or phrases re declared unconstitutional.

SECTION 10. Repeal of Conflicting Ordinances. All ordinances or parts of ordinances conflicting with the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed.

SECTION 11. AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, That this ordinance are hereby repealed.

SECTION 11. AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, That this ordinance are hereby repealed.

SECTION 11. AND BE IT FURTHER ORDAINED, That this ordinance shall take effect three (3) days after its passage and publication.

Passed this 15th day of September, 1947.

THOMAS S. POST,
Mayor.

received the highest honor the Salvation Army can bestow when she was presented with the Order of the Founder on September 1 for her work among the mountain people.

The local girl serves as private secretary to Major Brown and assists in the publication of the Mountain Circle News, a mimeographed letter which gives news of the Maple Springs Community Center and the eight mission centers the group conducts in Hayward and Madison Counties.

Her other activities include playing the accordion and piano for meetings and instructing a class of eight students in the piano. She is also in charge of the Maple Springs Corps and assists in the general mission work of the project.

Hold Song Fest

One of the great events of the year at the center is the annual singing convention held in Maple Springs September 3. More than 1,000 persons, chiefly mountain people, attended the all-day meeting, she said.

Most of the music used in the song fest, she said, is religious music set to mountain tunes and accompanied by guitars, fiddles, accordions and harps.

The work in the Great Smoky Mountains is recognized as one of the finest missionary projects in the United States. A similar project is conducted by the Salvation Army in Mexico.

Major Brown, who is herself a native of the Great Smoky Mountains, entered the Salvation Army in Asheville, N. C., following her conversion, and chose to aid her own people as her life's work.

Plan Medical Center

Since the nearest hospital is over 25 miles from the center, Major Brown's latest plans call for establishment of a medical clinic at the community center. In cases of serious accidets now, patients must be given first aid and then transported down the mountain trails in one of the vehicles the center uses. A few years ago all travel was by horseback.

All of the furniture used in the community center and homes of the project are hand made and Major Brown has fostered the native arts through the operation of hand made looms to make rugs and much of the cloth used in the community.

Proof that the work among the mountain people is reaping a harvest is the fact that two of Miss Wall's classmates in the training college, Lt. Zeta Flemming and Lt. Mildred Kirby, were both natives of the Great Smoky Mountains. Both of them were assigned to assist Major Brown in the work among their people.

Although the center hopes to get electricity soon and now has several motor vehicles, it is an active life since members of the staff hold services in each of the eight missions at least once a month.

Jockeys Escape Injury In Marlboro Mishaps

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., Sept. 16 (AP)—Two jockeys were shaken up here today, but escaped serious injury when they were thrown by their mounts.

Benjamin Brady was tossed into the infield off Teddy Smart in the second race, and Eddie Hopkins fell with Pickworth in the seventh. Brady, from Bowie, Md., was carried into the infield when his mount suddenly jumped the rail. He rode his first winner at the recent Cumberland meeting.

Poat Beats Cards

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 16—(AP)—With all thoughts of overtaking the pennant bound Brooklyn Dodgers practically gone now, the fast fading St. Louis Cardinals were faced with the prospect of losing second place today as the New York Giants handed them their third straight licking 7-2.

Rookie Ray Poat went all the way for the New Yorkers, limiting the defending champions to seven hits for his fourth victory against one defeat. Harry Brecheen was the loser, dropping his 11th game against 15 wins. Box:

Centralized Parking Area Proposed At Conference

Possible Locations May Be Considered

Representatives of 10 North Mechanic Street business establishments, meeting with Police Department officials yesterday, agreed to initiate a general movement among Cumberland merchants to work toward the goal of a centralized parking area, with the co-operation of city officials.

The conference, held in the office of Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan, was requested by members of the North Mechanic Street Merchants Association in connection with proposed traffic and parking regulations on North Mechanic, Liberty, Centre and Baltimore Streets.

The merchants suggested that a survey of possible sites for the centralized parking area be made by the Police Department, adding that a general meeting of merchants with city officials could be called to discuss the proposal.

Loading Time Extended

Experimental regulations now in temporary effect on North Mechanic Street include abolition of parking between Bedford and Baltimore Streets, with three-lane traffic to avoid congestion. Similar experimental parking regulations were put into effect yesterday on North Liberty Street between Frederick and Baltimore Streets.

At the suggestion of the merchants attending the conference, Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn agreed to permit loading and unloading of trucks on North Mechanic Street between the hours of 6 a. m. and 4 p. m., extending the former time limit from 1 p. m.

Chief Flynn said the extended time limit will remain in effect for the remainder of this week, and that the Police Department will check the traffic situation to see how the plan works out. He urged that truck loading and unloading be carried on in the morning hours as far as possible, however.

The chief also agreed to permit brief stops in the restricted area on North Mechanic for delivery or picking up packages and for "momentary business" in stores in that area.

Commenting on the merchants' suggestion that 15-minute meter parking be permitted, Chief Flynn said most persons parking outside stores do not intend to shop there but merely take the first parking space available.

Shoppers Avoid City

Keegan pointed out that the experimental regulations are not designed to hurt business places but will help them because traffic conditions will be improved and more shoppers will drive to the downtown district.

He said many persons who formerly shopped in Cumberland have been going to Frostburg, Clarksburg, W. Va., or Bedford, Pa., as well as other nearby points, because of traffic conditions here.

The commissioner added that some out-of-town shoppers have been parking at some distance from the downtown district and asking stores to deliver articles to their cars because they are unwilling to drive through Baltimore Street traffic.

Keegan agreed to a suggestion of the merchants that they could pay the salary of an extra policeman to patrol North Mechanic Street and prevent violations of the parking restrictions if the city puts them into effect permanently.

"City traffic must be regulated so that local and out-of-town shoppers can come to town and find adequate parking space off the main streets," Keegan declared.

Opposes Viaduct Plan

Following the conference, Keegan stated that an overhead traffic bridge such as the one proposed for the city would have a tendency to create slums and lower the value of adjoining real estate.

He said a crosstown viaduct would only help through traffic and would not aid local businessmen, adding that the experiences of other cities bear out his belief.

Other representatives of the Police Department at the conference were B. Frank Gaffney, assistant chief of police; and Detective Edwin R. Lilya.

Firms represented were the Queen City Paint and Glass Company, B. Beneman and Sons furniture store, Maytag Sales and Service, Martz Cafe, Club Bowling Alleys, City Furniture Company, Habeeb Flower Shop, Wilson Hardware Store, Cumberland Laundry Company, and Karp Brothers.

Eagles To Honor Member-Veterans At Picnic Sunday

Affair To Be Held At Fairgrounds

A picnic for and in honor of veterans of World War II, who are members of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will be held at Fairgo Sunday, according to C. William H. Baer, worthy president.

The organization has several hundred veterans of World War II, and the membership and trustees have decided that a special event in their honor should be held.

Veterans, in good standing, will be permitted to bring their children, wives and parents as guests. Families of deceased member-veterans will receive special invitations from the order.

A five hour program has been arranged beginning at 12:30 p. m., and continuing until 5:30 p. m. Buses will leave the Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street, at noon, 1 p. m., 2 p. m., 3 p. m., 4 p. m. and 5 p. m., returning at hourly intervals on the half hour.

The committee has arranged a program of games and contests with prizes for boys and girls. Featured will be a potato race, candle race, bubble gum contest, cracker eating contest, tonic bottle race, shoe race, hop race, wheel race, peanut race and balloon bursting contest.

Prizes will be awarded to veterans in the following classes: oldest, youngest, heaviest, lightest and the veteran who was in the service the longest period of time. Refreshments will be provided for all who attend.

The picnic is limited to member-veterans, and their families. Those attending will be asked to identify themselves as veterans and members of Cumberland Aerie.

President Baer said last night, "it is appropriate that Cumberland Eagles should take this means of expressing their appreciation to their members who served in the Armed Forces and who rendered to our country and our fraternity, their faithful service."

Trustees of the lodge, John H. Hager, Francis H. Schultz, and Raymond R. Johnston, have charge of the affair.

Suicide Verdict Issued For Victim Of Gunshot Wound

Victor Emmanuel Mastrodomenico, 21-year-old Celanese worker, who police said shot himself between the eyes with a .22 caliber rifle early Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jackson, with whom he had boarded for the past month, died yesterday morning at 4:30 o'clock in Allegany Hospital.

A verdict of suicide was issued yesterday by Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, acting deputy medical examiner. The medical examiner's report showed the bullet fractured Mastrodomenico's skull and caused an inter-cranial hemorrhage.

An attempt was made to relieve the pressure on the brain but it was hopeless from the start, the examiner said. The youth died without regaining consciousness, attendants said.

The youth, a former resident of McCoole, was found lying across the bed with the rifle at his side by Mr. and Mrs. Jackson when they returned to their home Sunday at 1 a. m.

City Detective Edwin R. Lilya said Mastrodomenico scribbled "Tell Dad I said goodbye" on a rifle advertising pamphlet before he shot himself, apparently, by resting the rifle butt on the floor and pushing the trigger as he sat on the side of the bed.

Before coming to Cumberland, he had resided with his father, Antonio Mastrodomenico in McCoole. He was born in McCoole May 5, 1926, a son of Antonio and Pauline Scarponi Mastrodomenico.

Besides his parents, he is survived by five brothers, Frank, Armond, Joseph, John, McCoole, and Rudolph, of the U. S. Navy, and now home on leave; five sisters, Mrs. Ellen Chassi and Mrs. Mary Gatto, New York City, Mrs. Anna Mastro, McCoole, and the Misses Virginia and Eula, at home.

Burial will be in St. Thomas Cemetery, Keyser.

Davis Will Probated

The will of Amos Middleton Davis, this city, who died April 25, was probated yesterday in Orphans' Court.

7-Year-Old Boy Is Injured When Struck By Auto

Arnold French Suffers Possible Head Injuries

A 7-year-old local boy was admitted to Memorial Hospital early last night for treatment of possible head injuries suffered when he was struck by a car in South Cumberland.

The lad, Arnold Lee French, son of E. W. French, 623 Laing Avenue, a B. and O. conductor, was reported in fair condition, suffering from a possible head injury and abrasions on the arms and legs.

Detective Thomas J. See, who investigated, said the boy was injured in front of 136 Humbird Street, when he ran from between two parked cars and against the right front fender of a westbound car driven by Joseph C. Peer, Wiley Ford, W. Va.

He said the driver took the boy to the hospital where he was admitted at 6:45 p. m. No charge was preferred against the driver.

Geoffrey Jewell, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jewell, Route 3, Bedford, Pa., was treated in Memorial Hospital last night after he swallowed some kerosene at his home.

Gerald Lowery, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lowery, 360 Frederick Street, was treated in Memorial last night for a laceration on the right hand after his hand was caught in the wringer of a washing machine.

Frank W. Lindner, who gave his address as Fort Ashby, W. Va., was treated in Allegany Hospital Monday night for a laceration on the back of the neck and on the lip. He said he was injured at the Mayflower Tavern, Front Street.

Second Police Class Is Scheduled Today

The second of six classes for City Policemen will be held in City Hall auditorium this morning when an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation discusses laws pertaining to arrests and reports.

The school, instituted by Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn, got underway yesterday morning with Detectives Edwin R. Lilya and Thomas J. See as instructors.

Lilya described the history of city police departments, of civil service and police schools and also discussed the inter-relationship of various levels of public authorities and their overlapping jurisdictions. See gave a written quiz on policemen's duties.

Chief Flynn expressed satisfaction yesterday afternoon with the way members of the force responded to the school, and Police Commissioner William V. Keegan expressed satisfaction with increased initiative shown by members of the police force. He said effort on the part of an officer will be recognized by his superiors.

Each school session is scheduled as a three-hour period each Tuesday and Wednesday morning through October 1.

Route 4 Man Improves

James R. Piper, 23, Route 4, who was admitted to Memorial Hospital in a semi-conscious condition, was reported improving last night. State Trooper William F. Baker said Piper was found on Oldtown Road and said he believed the man suffered a heart attack.

Temperature Reading

The maximum temperature of 72 in Cumberland yesterday was 22 degrees lower than Monday's high of 94, according to the official weather observer. By 9:30 last night the mercury had dropped to 55 degrees, just one higher than yesterday's overnight low of 54. Indications pointed to the temperature dropping to as 50 degrees by this morning.

County's GI-Trainees To Help Disabled Veteran Rebuild Bridge

Volunteer To Work On Private Span

There's a veteran living near Gilmore, who lost both his legs in World War II, who has a problem which has troubled him for sometime. He lives across a little stream from the town, and a 15-foot bridge which spans the stream is unsafe for his automobile.

The young man has petitioned the County Commissioners to repair the bridge, and again yesterday a letter was received by the Board, from Midland Post No. 169 American Legion, asking the county to repair, or assist in making repairs to the bridge.

The bridge in question is not county property, but is a privately constructed span. It has never been taken over by the county as it is not a county road. Members of the County Board yesterday discussed the matter for the second or third time, at length, in an effort to find some way to help the legless veteran, and still comply with laws governing the expenditures of county funds.

Last night Paye said he had conferred with 10 veterans of the county engineer's and county roads crews, who are training under the GI Training program. He told the veterans of the plight of their fellow-veteran at Gilmore, and a plan was worked out by which the bridge can be repaired.

The veterans agreed that if Paye will volunteer his time to supervise the rebuilding of the span, they will do the work, without expense to the County.

When told the Gilmore veteran had been attempting to repair the bridge himself, the GI's employed by the county expressed the unanimous opinion that "it's a shame he has to even try to do that."

Paye said he knows where there are several old beams, taken from repaired county bridges and other material which can be moved to the site. A couple bags of cement and a small amount of additional material which the county will furnish.

The veterans on the GI training program will do the work, and Paye will supervise and borrow whatever equipment is needed. So the disabled veteran will soon have a new bridge to his home, because some of his former comrades believe in helping each other.

SCIENCE TEACHER—Charles Calhoun Brice, Oakdale, Pa., a teacher in North Fayette Township, Pa., High School for 10 years, on Monday started teaching junior high school general science at Fort Hill High School.

Science Instructor Named At Fort Hill

Appointment of Charles Calhoun Brice, Oakdale, Pa., as science instructor at Fort Hill High School was announced yesterday by Dr. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools.

Brice started teaching junior high school general science at Fort Hill on Monday.

He received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Pittsburg in 1937 and in 1940 received the degree of master of education from the same institution. He taught for 10 years at North Fayette Township, Pa., High School and while there coached the high school baseball team.

Brice was in active military service from June 1941 until November 1945 and served most of that time in the European Theater.

He is married and the father of two children.

Model Railroad Club Will Meet Tonight

The Cumberland Model Railroad Club will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at Central YMCA to discuss possible locations for a permanent club home, according to Chief Quartermaster Charles C. Drinkwater, local Navy recruiter, who is one of the sponsors of the club.

Charter membership will remain open for the time being for the benefit of persons interested in joining the group.

Night Blooming Cereus Blossoms In Ridgeley

Mrs. William Foster, Ridgeley, reported last night that three blossoms appeared on a night blooming cereus at her home. The plant is nine years old and has been owned for the last two by Mrs. Foster. It was formerly the property of the late Mrs. T. A. Luteman, Ridgeley.

County Insists On $5,000 Bonds For Magistrates

Attorney General Says $1,000 Enough

Lewis M. Wilson, attorney to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, was instructed yesterday to contact the office of the Attorney General regarding bonds of 10 trial magistrates of this county.

The bonds were returned to the County Board by the State Comptroller's office, with the report that they were not give approval by the Attorney General.

Wilson said the Attorney General has ruled that trial magistrates are justices of the peace and that their bonds should be $1,000 instead of $5,000 as arranged several months ago.

Premiums on the bonds are paid by the county and the Board is of the opinion that the higher bond here is proper. Wilson said that Section 100 of Article 3 in Volume 3 of the Maryland Annotated Code refers to trial magistrates.

Board members declared that when the old Peoples Court was established here, magistrates were not bonded, as they did not handle any funds received from fines and costs. These records and collections were in the hands of constables and bailiffs.

Under the present Trial Magistrate Court system, the magistrate handles and makes his report to the state each month. County Commissioners believe therefore, the bond of $1,000 is insufficient and requested Wilson to explain the matter fully to the office of the Attorney General.

The payroll for the first half of September was approved and checks signed yesterday. President of the Board, Charles N. Wilkinson, also spent most of yesterday afternoon signing the bonds for the new county infirmary which were sold two weeks ago, and also signing deeds transferring properties on Holland Street, sold to veterans.

Moose Film Available For Local Showing

A feature length motion picture entitled "The Child City", which describes the miniature city of Mooseheart, Ill., operated by the Loyal Order of Moose for the care, welfare and training of orphans, is available for local service clubs, according to William G. Beier, governor of Lodge No. 271, LOOM.

The 16 mm. film and a projector will be available for the next 30 days, and any local organization interested in showing the film at its meetings is asked to contact Beier.

Survey Shows Jap Beetle Grub Destroying Lawns

Farm Agent Urges Immediate Treatment

An inspection of a number of blighted lawns in the North End, was made yesterday by Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent, and he definitely determined that the pest which is killing lawn grass in this area, is the Japanese beetle grub.

McHenry said yesterday all residents should cooperate immediately in attacking the pests and destroying them, since they will spread rapidly. He declared that all persons who have grass which is dying should begin working on the grubs at once. Proper treatment now will last several years, and will assure good lawns next year, he explained.

The best method of killing the grubs, McHenry explained, is to treat the lawns infested with lead arsenate, 10 pounds to every 1,000 square feet of lawn. The arsenate can be applied as a spray, put on with pressure, or mixed with damp sand and applied dry and washed in with a garden hose.

For spraying foliage to kill Japanese beetles, DDT is effective, McHenry stated. Fifty percent wettable DDT should be used, on a basis of about one ounce to each two gallons of water. But the spraying should be repeated at frequent intervals, for best results.

Use Arsenate Of Lead

McHenry said he would recommend lead arsenate for treating lawns, because it has been determined it is more effective, and one treatment, properly applied lasts several years. In applying in water, lead arsenate should be mixed one pound to each two gallons of water. If applied in a dry state, it should be mixed on a basis of one pound of lead arsenate to 10 pounds of moist sand or soil. It can be spread by hand over the turf, and then washed down with a fine spray from a garden hose.

Talking about the Japanese beetle, McHenry said, some people do not know of its destructive power in the larvae stage.

The bettle is a comparatively new insect in Maryland, and was first discovered in the United States in 1916 near Riverton, N. J. It is generally conceded it was introduced into America on the roots of nursery stock from Japan.

Adult Japanese beetles have been known to feed on more than 200 different plants, while the larvae or grub injures and destroys lawns, golf courses and pastures, as well as many other economic crops such as strawberries and spinach, by feeding on the root of the plants just below the surface of the ground.

Japanese beetles begin to emerge from the ground the second week in June and the early part of August. Then they decrease until October, when they disappear altogether. Shortly after they emerge from the ground, mating occurs and the females enter the ground at night to lay eggs.

Deposit Many Eggs

Each female lays from one to four eggs, then reappears to feed for a day or two, before returning to the soil to deposit another batch of eggs. This continues until each female has deposited from 40 to 60 eggs.

In about two weeks, the eggs hatch into larvae or grubs. These grubs feed on the roots of grass throughout late summer and early fall. During the winter the grubs do not feed. They go deeper into the ground as temperature falls, and return towards the surface as the soil warms in the spring, and ultimately begin feeding again. About the third week in May the grubs complete their growth and transform in the soil into a resting stage known as pupae. The adults develop from the pupae about the second week in June, thus completing the cycle.

The increasing reports of infested lawns in this city and area, indicate that many Japanese beetles can be expected next summer when they emerge after full development, unless steps are taken now to kill the grubs. McHenry said all persons who have large or small areas of lawn which appear to be dying, should treat with lead arsenate without delay.

Maryland VFW To Drive To Double State Enrollment

Vice Commander Visits Local Post

Membership of the Maryland Department Veterans of Foreign Wars now totals 13,670, and the goal of the new administration is to double this number during the current fiscal year, George E. Ridenour, of Hagerstown, junior vice commander of the state, told members of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, last night.

Accompanying Vice Commander Ridenour here for the regular meeting of the local post were seven other members of William D. Byron Post, No. 1936 of Hagerstown; Harry Hurd, Woodrow Semler, Charles Schiller, Harold Nunemaker, Ralph Hamburg, Glen Andrews, and Richard Alder.

Ridenour also spoke on the activities at the National Encampment in Cleveland, O., this month, and declared the veterans settled down to serious business with practically no rowdyism such as has marked some veteran conventions in the past. Co-operation of posts, of individual veterans, and of the VFW with other veteran groups was the keynote of his talk.

James E. Stemple, past commander, called a meeting of the district degree team for tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The degree team will go to Hagerstown to perform a ceremony Sunday, leaving the post home here by bus at 10 a. m.

District Commander George Banzhoff, Past Commander Raymond Reynolds, Adjutant Thomas K. Whalley and Raymond Whitehair reported they attended a meeting of the Administration Council of VFW in Baltimore last Sunday.

Seven new members were admitted to post membership, and it was reported that three members are patients in Memorial Hospital. They are Robert Long, Homer Drake and James Shoemaker.

Report was also made that George Koontz, past commander and first commander of Old Rail Post, Mt. Savage, underwent a serious operation this week at Memorial Hospital, and his condition is reported fair. He is a former member of the post here.

Roy Howells To Speak At Food Dealers' Banquet

Roy G. Howells, Philadelphia, a noted humorist, will be featured on the program of the annual banquet of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland, to be held Wednesday, October 22, at St. Mary's recreation hall.

This was announced at the first fall meeting of the association, held last night at the LaVale Fire Hall.

Approximately 700 persons are expected to attend the banquet. The deadline for reservations will be October 15.

Dinner music will be furnished by Mary Donegan Howe, a piano accordionist of Fayetteville, Pa. Group singing will be led by F. Lee Fresh.

Among the honor guests will be W. Lee Elgin, Baltimore, state commissioner of motor vehicles.

At last night's meeting, Luther Hutter, state vice president, who attended a meeting of the state executive board in Baltimore Sunday, reported that the next state convention will be held in Ocean City, Md., in May.

Windish presented the association with a gavel.

Walters To Speak

Lectures on preaching qualifications will be given at two public meetings to be held Tuesday, September 23, and Tuesday, September 30, at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall auditorium.

The speaker will be Walter R. Walters, 134 Virginia Avenue, former president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, and former chairman of the engineering department at the Celanese plant.

Permits Granted To Build Two Garages

Orville S. Plummer, 135 New Hampshire Avenue, was granted a permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to build a two-car garage at the rear of 133 New Hampshire Avenue, at an estimated cost of $800.

The second floor of the building will not be finished or used at present, according to the application. The 24 by 22-foot structure will have a concrete foundation, tile walls and a ruberoid roof. Work will be done by the owner.

C. W. Brady, 433 Laing Avenue, secured a permit to build a one-story garage at the rear of his home. The 12 by 20-foot building will have frame walls covered with brick siding, and a composition roof. Cost is estimated at $100.

Cumberland Odd Fellows To Attend Sovereign Grand Master's Reception

Baltimore Doctor's Installation Today

Cumberland Odd Fellows are making plans to attend a public reception and banquet in Baltimore October 24 in honor of Dr. Arthur Charles Tiemeyer, Baltimore, who will be installed today in Winnepeg, Manitoba, Canada, as sovereign grand master of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, covering 26 nations of the world.

Installation of Dr. Tiemeyer today will take place at the 121st annual session of the order and marks the first time in 61 years that the honor has come to the birthplace of Odd Fellowship, which was instituted in Baltimore 128 years ago.

Charles A. Roeder, this city, has been named chairman of a committee to arrange for members of

Possible Locations May Be Considered

Representatives of 10 North Mechanic Street business establishments, meeting with Police Department officials yesterday, agreed to initiate a general movement among Cumberland merchants to work toward the goal of a centralized parking area, with the co-operation of city officials.

The conference, held in the office of Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan, was requested by members of the North Mechanic Street Merchants Association in connection with proposed traffic and parking regulations on North Mechanic, Liberty, Centre and Baltimore Streets.

The merchants suggested that a survey of possible sites for the centralized parking area be made by the Police Department, adding that a general meeting of merchants with city officials could be called to discuss the proposal.

Loading Time Extended

Experimental regulations now in temporary effect on North Mechanic Street include abolition of parking between Bedford and Baltimore Streets, with three-lane traffic to avoid congestion. Similar experimental parking regulations were put into effect yesterday on North Liberty Street between Frederick and Baltimore Streets.

At the suggestion of the merchants attending the conference, Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn agreed to permit loading and unloading of trucks on North Mechanic Street between the hours of 6 a. m. and 4 p. m., extending the former time limit from 1 p. m.

Chief Flynn said the extended time limit will remain in effect for the remainder of this week, and that the Police Department will check the traffic situation to see how the plan works out. He urged that truck loading and unloading be carried on in the morning hours as far as possible, however.

The chief also agreed to permit brief stops in the restricted area on North Mechanic for delivery or picking up packages and for "momentary business" in stores in that area.

Commenting on the merchants' suggestion that 15-minute meter parking be permitted, Chief Flynn said most persons parking outside stores do not intend to shop there but merely take the first parking space available.

Shoppers Avoid City

Keegan pointed out that the experimental regulations are not designed to hurt business places but will help them because traffic conditions will be improved and more shoppers will drive to the downtown district.

He said many persons who formerly shopped in Cumberland have been going to Frostburg, Clarksburg, W. Va., or Bedford, Pa., as well as other nearby points, because of traffic conditions here.

The commissioner added that some out-of-town shoppers have been parking at some distance from the downtown district and asking stores to deliver articles to their cars because they are unwilling to drive through Baltimore Street traffic.

Keegan agreed to a suggestion of the merchants that they could pay the salary of an extra policeman to patrol North Mechanic Street and prevent violations of the parking restrictions if the city puts them into effect permanently.

"City traffic must be regulated so that local and out-of-town shoppers can come to town and find adequate parking space off the main streets," Keegan declared.

Opposes Viaduct Plan

Following the conference, Keegan stated that an overhead traffic bridge such as the one proposed for the city would have a tendency to create slums and lower the value of adjoining real estate.

He said a crosstown viaduct would only help through traffic and would not aid local businessmen, adding that the experiences of other cities bear out his belief.

Other representatives of the Police Department at the conference were B. Frank Gaffney, assistant chief of police; and Detective Edwin R. Lilya.

Firms represented were the Queen City Paint and Glass Company, B. Beneman and Sons furniture store, Maytag Sales and Service, Martz Cafe, Club Bowling Alleys, City Furniture Company, Habeeb Flower Shop, Wilson Hardware Store, Cumberland Laundry Company, and Karp Brothers.

Davis Will Probated

The will of Amos Middleton Davis, this city, who died April 25, was probated yesterday in Orphans' Court.

The estate is left to his daughters, Alpha May and Olive Sathoff; Lillian Bean, a stepdaughter and George Rummer, a stepson. Alpha May and Olive Sathoff were named executors.

Eagles To Honor Member-Veterans At Picnic Sunday

Affair To Be Held At Fairgrounds

A picnic for and in honor of veterans of World War II, who are members of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will be held at Fairgo Sunday, according to C. William H. Baer, worthy president.

The organization has several hundred veterans of World War II, and the membership and trustees have decided that a special event in their honor should be held.

Veterans, in good standing, will be permitted to bring their children, wives and parents as guests. Families of deceased member-veterans will receive special invitations from the order.

A five hour program has been arranged beginning at 12:30 p. m., and continuing until 5:30 p. m. Buses will leave the Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street, at noon, 1 p. m., 2 p. m., 3 p. m., 4 p. m. and 5 p. m., returning at hourly intervals on the half hour.

The committee has arranged a program of games and contests with prizes for boys and girls. Featured will be a potato race, candle race, bubble gum contest, cracker eating contest, tonic bottle race, shoe race, hop race, wheel race, peanut race and balloon bursting contest.

Prizes will be awarded to veterans in the following classes: oldest, youngest, heaviest, lightest and the veteran who was in the service the longest period of time. Refreshments will be provided for all who attend.

The picnic is limited to member-veterans, and their families. Those attending will be asked to identify themselves as veterans and members of Cumberland Aerie.

President Baer said last night, "it is appropriate that Cumberland Eagles should take this means of expressing their appreciation to their members who served in the Armed Forces and who rendered to our country and our fraternity, their faithful service."

Trustees of the lodge, John H. Hager, Francis H. Schultz, and Raymond R. Johnston, have charge of the affair.

Suicide Verdict Issued For Victim Of Gunshot Wound

Victor Emmanuel Mastrodomenico, 21-year-old Celanese worker, who police said shot himself between the eyes with a .22 caliber rifle early Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jackson, with whom he had boarded for the past month, died yesterday morning at 4:30 o'clock in Allegany Hospital.

A verdict of suicide was issued yesterday by Dr. Benedict Skitarelic, acting deputy medical examiner. The medical examiner's report showed the bullet fractured Mastrodomenico's skull and caused an inter-cranial hemorrhage.

An attempt was made to relieve the pressure on the brain but it was hopeless from the start, the examiner said. The youth died without regaining consciousness, attendants said.

The youth, a former resident of McCoole, was found lying across the bed with the rifle at his side by Mr. and Mrs. Jackson when they returned to their home Sunday at 1 a. m.

City Detective Edwin R. Lilya said Mastrodomenico scribbled "Tell Dad I said goodbye" on a rifle advertising pamphlet before he shot himself, apparently, by resting the rifle butt on the floor and pushing the trigger as he sat on the side of the bed.

Police said the shot entered the head above the eyes and about an inch above the bridge of the nose.

Before coming to Cumberland, he had resided with his father, Antonio Mastrodomenico in McCoole. He was born in McCoole May 5, 1926, a son of Antonio and Pauline Scarponi Mastrodomenico.

Besides his parents, he is survived by five brothers, Frank, Armond, Joseph, John, McCoole, and Rudolph, of the U. S. Navy, and now home on leave; five sisters, Mrs. Ellen Chassi and Mrs. Mary Gatto, New York City, Mrs. Anna Mastro, McCoole, and the Misses Virginia and Eula, at home.

Burial will be in St. Thomas Cemetery, Keyser.

7-Year-Old Boy Is Injured When Struck By Auto

Arnold French Suffers Possible Head Injuries

A 7-year-old local boy was admitted to Memorial Hospital early last night for treatment of possible head injuries suffered when he was struck by a car in South Cumberland.

The lad, Arnold Lee French, son of E. W. French, 623 Laing Avenue, a B. and O. conductor, was reported in fair condition, suffering from a possible head injury and abrasions on the arms and legs.

Detective Thomas J. See, who investigated, said the boy was injured in front of 136 Humbird Street, when he ran from between two parked cars and against the right front fender of a westbound car driven by Joseph C. Peer, Wiley Ford, W. Va.

He said the driver took the boy to the hospital where he was admitted at 6:45 p. m. No charge was preferred against the driver.

Geoffrey Jewell, 2-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Jewell, Route 3, Bedford, Pa., was treated in Memorial Hospital last night after he swallowed some kerosene at his home.

Gerald Lowery, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lowery, 360 Frederick Street, was treated in Memorial last night for a laceration on the right hand after his hand was caught in the wringer of a washing machine.

Frank W. Lindner, who gave his address as Fort Ashby, W. Va., was treated in Allegany Hospital Monday night for a laceration on the back of the neck and on the lip. He said he was injured at the Mayflower Tavern, Front Street.

Second Police Class Is Scheduled Today

The second of six classes for City Policemen will be held in City Hall auditorium this morning when an agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation discusses laws pertaining to arrests and reports.

The school, instituted by Chief of Police R. Emmett Flynn, got underway yesterday morning with Detectives Edwin R. Lilya and Thomas J. See as instructors.

Lilya described the history of city police departments, of civil service and police schools and also discussed the inter-relationship of various levels of public authorities and their overlapping jurisdictions. See gave a written quiz on policemen's duties.

Chief Flynn expressed satisfaction yesterday afternoon with the way members of the force responded to the school, and Police Commissioner William V. Keegan expressed satisfaction with increased initiative shown by members of the police force. He said effort on the part of an officer will be recognized by his superiors.

Each school session is scheduled as a three-hour period each Tuesday and Wednesday morning through October 1.

Route 4 Man Improves

James R. Piper, 23, Route 4, who was admitted to Memorial Hospital in a semi-conscious condition, was reported improving last night. State Trooper William F. Baker said Piper was found on Oldtown Road and said he believed the man suffered a heart attack.

Temperature Reading

The maximum temperature of 72 in Cumberland yesterday was 22 degrees lower than Monday's high of 94, according to the official weather observer. By 9:30 last night the mercury had dropped to 55 degrees, just one higher than yesterday's overnight low of 54. Indications pointed to the temperature dropping to as 50 degrees by this morning.

County's GI-Trainees To Help Disabled Veteran Rebuild Bridge

Volunteer To Work On Private Span

There's a veteran living near Gilmore, who lost both his legs in World War II, who has a problem which has troubled him for sometime. He lives across a little stream from the town, and a 15-foot bridge which spans the stream is unsafe for his automobile.

The young man has petitioned the County Commissioners to repair the bridge, and again yesterday a letter was received by the Board, from Midland Post No. 169 American Legion, asking the county to repair, or assist in making repairs to the bridge.

The bridge in question is not county property, but is a privately constructed span. It has never been taken over by the county as it is not a county road. Members of the County Board yesterday discussed the matter for the second or third time, at length, in an effort to find some way to help the legless veteran, and still comply with laws governing the expenditures of county funds.

The matter was referred to Albert S. Paye, county engineer for consideration.

Last night Paye said he had conferred with 10 veterans of the county engineer's and county roads crews, who are training under the GI Training program. He told the veterans of the plight of their fellow-veteran at Gilmore, and a plan was worked out by which the bridge can be repaired.

The veterans agreed that if Paye will volunteer his time to supervise the rebuilding of the span, they will do the work, without expense to the County.

When told the Gilmore veteran had been attempting to repair the bridge himself, the GI's employed by the county expressed the unanimous opinion that "it's a shame he has to even try to do that."

Paye said he knows where there are several old beams, taken from repaired county bridges and other material which can be moved to the site. A couple bags of cement and a small amount of additional material which the county will furnish.

The veterans on the GI training program will do the work, and Paye will supervise and borrow whatever equipment is needed. So the disabled veteran will soon have a new bridge to his home, because some of his former comrades believe in helping each other.

Night Blooming Cereus Blossoms In Ridgeley

Mrs. William Foster, Ridgeley, reported last night that three blossoms appeared on a night blooming cereus at her home. The plant is nine years old and has been owned for the last two by Mrs. Foster. It was formerly the property of the late Mrs. T. A. Luteman, Ridgeley.

SCIENCE TEACHER—Charles Calhoun Brice, Oakdale, Pa., a teacher in North Fayette Township, Pa., High School for 10 years, on Monday started teaching junior high school general science at Fort Hill High School.

Science Instructor Named At Fort Hill

Appointment of Charles Calhoun Brice, Oakdale, Pa., as science instructor at Fort Hill High School was announced yesterday by Dr. Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools.

Brice started teaching junior high school general science at Fort Hill on Monday.

He received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Pittsburg in 1937 and in 1940 received the degree of master of education from the same institution. He taught for 10 years at North Fayette Township, Pa., High School and while there coached the high school baseball team.

Brice was in active military service from June 1941 until November 1945 and served most of that time in the European Theater.

He is married and the father of two children.

Model Railroad Club Will Meet Tonight

The Cumberland Model Railroad Club will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at Central YMCA to discuss possible locations for a permanent club home, according to Chief Quartermaster Charles C. Drinkwater, local Navy recruiter, who is one of the sponsors of the club.

Charter membership will remain open for the time being for the benefit of persons interested in joining the group.

County Insists On $5,000 Bonds For Magistrates

Attorney General Says $1,000 Enough

Lewis M. Wilson, attorney to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, was instructed yesterday to contact the office of the Attorney General regarding bonds of 10 trial magistrates of this county.

The bonds were returned to the County Board by the State Comptroller's office, with the report that they were not give approval by the Attorney General.

Wilson said the Attorney General has ruled that trial magistrates are justices of the peace and that their bonds should be $1,000 instead of $5,000 as arranged several months ago.

Premiums on the bonds are paid by the county and the Board is of the opinion that the higher bond here is proper. Wilson said that Section 100 of Article 3 in Volume 3 of the Maryland Annotated Code refers to trial magistrates.

The Orphans Court magistrate is covered by a separate law and his bond is fixed at $5,000.

Board members declared that when the old Peoples Court was established here, magistrates were not bonded, as they did not handle any funds received from fines and costs. These records and collections were in the hands of constables and bailiffs.

Under the present Trial Magistrate Court system, the magistrate handles and makes his report to the state each month. County Commissioners believe therefore, the bond of $1,000 is insufficient and requested Wilson to explain the matter fully to the office of the Attorney General.

The payroll for the first half of September was approved and checks signed yesterday. President of the Board, Charles N. Wilkinson, also spent most of yesterday afternoon signing the bonds for the new county infirmary which were sold two weeks ago, and also signing deeds transferring properties on Holland Street, sold to veterans.

Moose Film Available For Local Showing

A feature length motion picture entitled "The Child City", which describes the miniature city of Mooseheart, Ill., operated by the Loyal Order of Moose for the care, welfare and training of orphans, is available for local service clubs, according to William G. Beier, governor of Lodge No. 271, LOOM.

The 16 mm. film and a projector will be available for the next 30 days, and any local organization interested in showing the film at its meetings is asked to contact Beier.

Survey Shows Jap Beetle Grub Destroying Lawns

Farm Agent Urges Immediate Treatment

An inspection of a number of blighted lawns in the North End, was made yesterday by Ralph F. McHenry, county farm agent, and he definitely determined that the pest which is killing lawn grass in this area, is the Japanese beetle grub.

McHenry said yesterday all residents should cooperate immediately in attacking the pests and destroying them, since they will spread rapidly. He declared that all persons who have grass which is dying should begin working on the grubs at once. Proper treatment now will last several years, and will assure good lawns next year, he explained.

The best method of killing the grubs, McHenry explained, is to treat the lawns infested with lead arsenate, 10 pounds to every 1,000 square feet of lawn. The arsenate can be applied as a spray, put on with pressure, or mixed with damp sand and applied dry and washed in with a garden hose.

For spraying foliage to kill Japanese beetles, DDT is effective, McHenry stated. Fifty percent wettable DDT should be used, on a basis of about one ounce to each two gallons of water. But the spraying should be repeated at frequent intervals, for best results.

Use Arsenate Of Lead

McHenry said he would recommend lead arsenate for treating lawns, because it has been determined it is more effective, and one treatment, properly applied lasts several years. In applying in water, lead arsenate should be mixed one pound to each two gallons of water. If applied in a dry state, it should be mixed on a basis of one pound of lead arsenate to 10 pounds of moist sand or soil. It can be spread by hand over the turf, and then washed down with a fine spray from a garden hose.

Talking about the Japanese beetle, McHenry said, some people do not know of its destructive power in the larvae stage.

The bettle is a comparatively new insect in Maryland, and was first discovered in the United States in 1916 near Riverton, N. J. It is generally conceded it was introduced into America on the roots of nursery stock from Japan.

Adult Japanese beetles have been known to feed on more than 200 different plants, while the larvae or grub injures and destroys lawns, golf courses and pastures, as well as many other economic crops such as strawberries and spinach, by feeding on the root of the plants just below the surface of the ground.

Japanese beetles begin to emerge from the ground the second week in June and the early part of August. Then they decrease until October, when they disappear altogether. Shortly after they emerge from the ground, mating occurs and the females enter the ground at night to lay eggs.

Deposit Many Eggs

Each female lays from one to four eggs, then reappears to feed for a day or two, before returning to the soil to deposit another batch of eggs. This continues until each female has deposited from 40 to 60 eggs.

In about two weeks, the eggs hatch into larvae or grubs. These grubs feed on the roots of grass throughout late summer and early fall. During the winter the grubs do not feed. They go deeper into the ground as temperature falls, and return towards the surface as the soil warms in the spring, and ultimately begin feeding again. About the third week in May the grubs complete their growth and transform in the soil into a resting stage known as pupae. The adults develop from the pupae about the second week in June, thus completing the cycle.

The increasing reports of infested lawns in this city and area, indicate that many Japanese beetles can be expected next summer when they emerge after full development, unless steps are taken now to kill the grubs. McHenry said all persons who have large or small areas of lawn which appear to be dying, should treat with lead arsenate without delay.

Maryland VFW To Drive To Double State Enrollment

Vice Commander Visits Local Post

Membership of the Maryland Department Veterans of Foreign Wars now totals 13,670, and the goal of the new administration is to double this number during the current fiscal year, George E. Ridenour, of Hagerstown, junior vice commander of the state, told members of Henry Hart Post No. 1411, last night.

Accompanying Vice Commander Ridenour here for the regular meeting of the local post were seven other members of William D. Byron Post, No. 1936 of Hagerstown; Harry Hurd, Woodrow Semler, Charles Schiller, Harold Nunemaker, Ralph Hamburg, Glen Andrews, and Richard Alder.

Ridenour also spoke on the activities at the National Encampment in Cleveland, O., this month, and declared the veterans settled down to serious business with practically no rowdyism such as has marked some veteran conventions in the past. Co-operation of posts, of individual veterans, and of the VFW with other veteran groups was the keynote of his talk.

Victor Shaffer, who represented the local post at the convention also delivered a report.

James E. Stemple, past commander, called a meeting of the district degree team for tonight at 7:30 o'clock. The degree team will go to Hagerstown to perform a ceremony Sunday, leaving the post home here by bus at 10 a. m.

District Commander George Banzhoff, Past Commander Raymond Reynolds, Adjutant Thomas K. Whalley and Raymond Whitehair reported they attended a meeting of the Administration Council of VFW in Baltimore last Sunday.

The post drum corps reported it will go to Lonaconing Friday for a parade, leaving the post home at 5:30 p. m. by bus.

Seven new members were admitted to post membership, and it was reported that three members are patients in Memorial Hospital. They are Robert Long, Homer Drake and James Shoemaker.

Report was also made that George Koontz, past commander and first commander of Old Rail Post, Mt. Savage, underwent a serious operation this week at Memorial Hospital, and his condition is reported fair. He is a former member of the post here.

Roy Howells To Speak At Food Dealers' Banquet

Roy G. Howells, Philadelphia, a noted humorist, will be featured on the program of the annual banquet of the Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland, to be held Wednesday, October 22, at St. Mary's recreation hall.

Approximately 700 persons are expected to attend the banquet. The deadline for reservations will be October 15.

Dinner music will be furnished by Mary Donegan Howe, a piano accordionist of Fayetteville, Pa. Group singing will be led by F. Lee Fresh.

Among the honor guests will be W. Lee Elgin, Baltimore, state commissioner of motor vehicles.

Albert E. Windish, association president, is general chairman in charge of arrangements, and Ralph W. Rice is chairman of the banquet committee.

At last night's meeting, Luther Hutter, state vice president, who attended a meeting of the state executive board in Baltimore Sunday, reported that the next state convention will be held in Ocean City, Md., in May.

Walters To Speak

Lectures on preaching qualifications will be given at two public meetings to be held Tuesday, September 23, and Tuesday, September 30, at 7:30 p. m. in City Hall auditorium.

The speaker will be Walter R. Walters, 134 Virginia Avenue, former president of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America, and former chairman of the engineering department at the Celanese plant.

Permits Granted To Build Two Garages

Orville S. Plummer, 135 New Hampshire Avenue, was granted a permit in the city engineer's office yesterday to build a two-car garage at the rear of 133 New Hampshire Avenue, at an estimated cost of $800.

The second floor of the building will not be finished or used at present, according to the application. The 24 by 22-foot structure will have a concrete foundation, tile walls and a ruberoid roof. Work will be done by the owner.

C. W. Brady, 433 Laing Avenue, secured a permit to build a one-story garage at the rear of his home. The 12 by 20-foot building will have frame walls covered with brick siding, and a composition roof. Cost is estimated at $100.

Cumberland Odd Fellows To Attend Sovereign Grand Master's Reception

Baltimore Doctor's Installation Today

Cumberland Odd Fellows are making plans to attend a public reception and banquet in Baltimore October 24 in honor of Dr. Arthur Charles Tiemeyer, Baltimore, who will be installed today in Winnepeg, Manitoba, Canada, as sovereign grand master of the Sovereign Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, covering 26 nations of the world.

Installation of Dr. Tiemeyer today will take place at the 121st annual session of the order and marks the first time in 61 years that the honor has come to the birthplace of Odd Fellowship, which was instituted in Baltimore 128 years ago.
